Some More Moss Covered News Given In the Kingston Daily Standard

The Kingston Daily Standard has been rehearsing some more moss covered news.

In the Kingston Whig of Saturday July 26th, appeared the following:

It was learned to-day that Provincial Constable Roy Clarke of this city, recovered a car valued at $2,600 at Gananoque on Friday evening, which it is alleged, was stolen by Arthur Benson, now under arrest in Toronto.

It is stated that a resident of Gananoque purchased the car from Benson in Toronto, in good faith, about a week or ten days ago.

Constable Clark has the car in his possession here in Kingston. It was secured by the provincial police working through Toronto, Ottawa and Kingston.

In the Kingston Daily Standard of Tuesday, July 23rd, appeared the following:

Provincial Constable Roy Clarke was instrumental in recovering at Gananoque an automobile valued at $2,600, which was stolen in Toronto.

It was learned that the car, after being stolen, was advertised for sale, and a Kingston citizen, seeing a good bargain in the ad, answered it, and subsequently purchased the car for $1,500. It had not been learned that the car was stolen.

Moral: Read the Whig and get the news while it is fresh.

WHY THE PLACE IS CALLED ROEBUCK

The Name Is Associated With Men of Very High Distinction.

Brockville Recorder and Times.

The name "Roebuck" is inseparably associated with the county of Grenville because of the fact that the boyhood of the great Right hon. John Arthur Roebuck, Q.C. (1801-1879), who represented both Bath and Sheffield at Westminster during a long and active parliamentary career, was spent within its confines. It was at the Grammar School conducted near Matland by the Reverend John Bethune, afterwards Dean of Montreal, and his brother, Rev. A. N. Bethune, subsequently Bishop of Toronto, that Roebuck, who had been born in Madras, India, and brought to this country in childhood, gained his early training, and it was his life in August not long after the close of the War of 1812 that, according to statements made in his autobiography, left an indelible impression upon my memory and gave whatever mental power I have possessed in life. "The effect of the new life, the wild forests, the broad rivers, the roaming and almost wandering habits that were then contracted," he wrote, "all worked upon my imagination and made me bold and daring."

Roebuck obtained his first training in public speaking by addressing imaginary audiences from the topmost rail of his stepfather's fence. He skated upon the frozen surface of the St. Lawrence, descended it upon rafts of timber and, in general, led an adventurous and care-free life, at the same time quietly preparing himself for his subsequent career in public life. The vehemence of the attacks which he made in the House upon all who differed from him earned for him the nick-name of "Teardrop" Roebuck and he fought at least one duel as the outcome of a verbal passage. By a relative it is explained that his acerbity in later years was induced by an illness from which he suffered.

The Dictionary of National Biography records that Roebuck was "short in stature, vehement in speech, bold in opinion. He addressed popular audiences with easy assurance and great effect. His indifference to party ties was appreciated by the multitude who regarded him as a politician of stern integrity. He was buried in the churchyard at Bushby, Herts, where there is a monument to his memory bearing the following inscription:

"As a sincere tribute to his tried patriotism, his brilliant eloquence, his unshaken integrity, his independence uncorrupted by party, this monument is erected by his attached friends and constituents in the Borough of Sheffield."

It was not, however, to those gentlemen, but to one of his nephews that the village of Roebuck, in the rear of the township of Augusta, owes its name. John Simpson Roebuck was a son of Henry Warren Roebuck, of Coteau du Lac, one of the earliest and principal pilots engaged in running steamers down the Coteau and Cedar Rapids. During the troubles of 1837 he was a guide for H.M. forces along the St. Lawrence and it is recorded that his remarkable judgment in running the rapids was only equalled by his coolness and fearlessness. As a raftsmen in perilous circumstances he was unsurpassed.

John S. Roebuck became manager of the Prescott branch of the Commercial Bank of Canada, and in St. Peter's church, Brockville, in 1860, was married to Emily Bowes, third daughter of James Jessup. When the post office of Roebuck was established not long after Confederation, the name was conferred upon it in honor of the Prescott man, who was a warm friend of the then sitting members for the county, Walter Shanly and Macneill Clarke.

Underwent Operation.

Further word received by J. W. Bradshaw regarding his grandson, Lyell Cameron, of Tichborne, who was injured on Sunday, while diving near Midland, stated that the Toronto specialist had operated but the full result of the accident would not be known for a week.

Black Caps and Red Raspberries Now in full swing and prices are low. Large lots expected Thursday and Friday at Carnovsky's.

Mrs. Iris Morris may leave the county jail on Thursday enroute to Scotland.

OBITUARY

The Late Miss Behan.

On Tuesday death claimed one of the most respected residents of the city, in the person of Miss Mary Jane Behan, who entered into rest at the Hotel Dieu Hospital after a lengthy illness. The late Miss Behan was a sister of the late John J. Behan, one of Kingston's most prominent citizens. Since the death of her brother, she had lived a retired life. A host of friends will receive the news of her passing with sincere sorrow. The funeral will take place from her late residence, 229 Brock street, on Thursday morning, to St. Mary's Cathedral in charge of the James Reid firm. Interment will be made in St. Mary's Cemetery.

REMANDED FOR SENTENCE.

Hugh Carr Before Judge Lavell Wednesday Morning.

Hugh Carr was remanded till Thursday morning for sentence by Judge Lavell, who heard his case on Wednesday forenoon. The prisoner, who is on ticket-of-leave from the Portsmouth penitentiary, where he was serving thirteen years for theft, is charged with an indecent assault on a nine-year-old boy while employed by the boy's mother at Bellrock last March.

The boy, Dr. Genge of Verona, two neighbors, Inspector Black and the boy's mother, gave evidence for the prosecution. This went to show that a few days after the assault the boy developed a contagious disease, from which the accused was suffering.

Dr. C. H. Elliott, jail surgeon, and the accused, gave evidence for the prosecution. The accused admitted having the disease last winter and had been receiving treatment at the General Hospital up to March 1st, but claimed he was cured before going to Bellrock. He denied the boy's story.

J. Hickey conducted the prosecution. A. I. Revell appeared for the defense.

Hiscock-Moyse Wedding.

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Monday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Moyse, Ottawa, when their daughter, Lorraine Elizabeth, became the bride of Howard Wales, only son of Mrs. Joseph Hiscock, Kingston. The bride was given in marriage by her father and entered the drawing room to Lohengrin's wedding march played by Miss Grace Lander. The bride was becomingly gowned in mauve Elizabeth crepe, combined with lace, and carried cream Ophelia roses. Only the immediate families were present. Rev. F. J. Maxwell officiated. After the wedding luncheon the bridal party left on a boat trip to Montreal. The bride travelled in a French sport suit with hat and blouse to match.

An Independent Surveyor For Dispute Over a Fence

Rev. J. D. Boyd applied to Judge Lavell on Tuesday afternoon for an injunction to prevent John H. Roach from building a fence at Eastview Park. Mr. Boyd claimed that the fence was being laid diagonally across a road so as to obstruct it. Both parties agreed to submit the matter to an independent surveyor and an adjournment was made.

Was Heavily Fined.

Earl Griffin, a resident of Alexandria Bay, was arrested in the township of Escott by Inspector F. B. Taber on a charge of having liquor in an unlawful place, was fined $300 and $11.46 costs in Brockville police court. Griffin had in his possession, when arrested, a bottle of beer and about one-third bottle of Scotch whiskey.

Passed Examinations.

The students at Queen's numbering thirty-five, who are taking the cadet instructors course, tried their written and practical examinations on Tuesday. All passed the practical part and the results of the written will be known in about a month.

Queen's thermometers went up to 79 degrees on Tuesday. Many people thought it the hottest day of the season but Kingston has had warmer days previously.

The Contrasts

That Cause Thousands To Shop At Laidlaw's

Kingston's Busiest Department Store

They are not the contrasts of cheapness or extravagance. No — because Laidlaw's never go to these extremes. They are the contrasts of refined moderation and inexpensiveness, thus fulfilling the desires of many thousands of people—yet always safely within the bounds of good taste.

But that isn't all. For while the great bulk of Laidlaw's service to this city-full of people lies between the extremes which these few contrasts represent, there are still lower and higher limits to which one may go in satisfying her needs at this store.

Between the highest and the lowest prices, which are to be found at Laidlaw's, there is a gradual succession of other prices, downward and upward, to a popular meeting point. Thus Laidlaw's is a store for everybody.
