A TAMWORTH FISH STORY.
 Scales Were Not Large Enough to Weigh This Pike.
 Tamworth, Aug. 1.—A. Hunter and Mr. McGee caught a very large pike in Beaver Lake. It took the two men to handle it, but they finally got it in the boat. After they got it home, they tried to weigh it but the house scales were not large enough, so they took it to one of the stores and found it was too long for the scales. So they cut it in two and finally weighed it. Mr. Hunter is very proud of his big catch. As he is retiring from business he may go into the fishing and sporting industry.

SENTENCE COMMUTED
 Proletarian Origin Saved Thieving Railway Officials From Death.
 Roston-on-Don, Russia, July 31.—Five officials of the North Caucasian State Railway were condemned yesterday to be shot.
 They were convicted of the theft of 240 carloads of fuel oil and 37 carloads of wood, which they recorded as having been consumed on the railway, when in reality they sold the fuel and appropriated the proceeds to their personal uses.
 In view of the "proletarian origin" of the culprits, however, the court commuted the death sentences to imprisonment for ten years in strict isolation in Moscow.

LADY ASTOR'S PICTURE.
 Canvas Hung in British House Raised a Lively Storm.
 London, July 31.—Quite a little storm has been raised in the House of Commons by hanging on a wall of one of the staircases of a picture, commissioned by Lord Astor, representing his wife being introduced to the House by the Earl of Balfour and Mr. Lloyd George when she took her seat in 1919.
 Though the picture was hung after consultation with the Speaker, several members of all the parties are offended because the sanction of the House was not obtained. None, however, avows hostility to Lady Astor personally.
 A large number of the members now have signed a round robin asking the premier to prevent the display in the House of portraits of any living persons unless the assent of Parliament is first obtained.
 Ptomaine Poisoning.
 Ogdensburg, N.Y., July 31.—Five in the family of Thomas Black of Brasier Corners were taken suddenly ill and a doctor who was called pronounced it ptomaine poisoning caused by eating meat or breakfast food. Black ate a different kind of cereal and was not made ill. The family is in a serious condition. Dr. Lewis, Hammond, is in charge and reports it the worst case of ptomaine poisoning he ever attended.
