SANG POPULAR SONGS IN THE POLICE CELLS

Clinton Youth Not at All Downhearted Over Two-Year Term in Prison.

Found guilty on a charge of stealing a horse, a young man who was sentenced at Clinton to two years in the Portsmouth penitentiary, was brought down to Kingston on Tuesday and spent the night in the police cells, and on Wednesday morning was taken out to the Portsmouth penitentiary.

The accused did not appear to be worrying at all over his sentence. He had a good sleep and was awake early on Wednesday morning and put in his time prior to leaving for the big prison in singing popular songs. He was taken to Portsmouth in a taxi and was not handcuffed, and, had he so desired, could have made some excitement while on his way from the police station to the taxi by making a bolt for liberty. However, with such a short term ahead of him, and with the promise of this being cut down with good conduct, he evidently came to the conclusion that it was not worth while making an attempt to escape and the officer who had him in charge no doubt had the situation sized up well and did not think he was taking any great chances when he allowed him to make the trip to the penitentiary minus handcuffs.

THE CHAUTAUQUA.

The Concluding Programme Is On Wednesday Evening.

The second lecture on the Chautauqua programme, given Tuesday, was a bright and valuable address entitled "The Four-Square Builder," delivered by Capt. T. Dinsmore Upton. Capt. Upton, known as "The Big Brother to a Hundred Thousand Kids," is an enthusiast in boys' work and his talk was an appeal for a bigger interest in the welfare of the growing youth. Recreation, he argued, will go a long way towards keeping the boy out of trouble. First offenders in the penitentiaries were generally young men entering manhood. Wholesome sport went farther than this and developed a better citizen. He is a supporter of the municipal playground idea.

The Werno ladies' quartette, the entertainers of the afternoon, also contributed to Tuesday evening's programme with vocal and instrumental numbers which were much enjoyed.

The Chautauqua concludes in Kingston Wednesday evening. The special attraction for the afternoon and evening is the celebrated company, Vierra's Hawaiians. Albert Vierra, the director, first acquainted people with Hawaiian music at the San Francisco Exposition and these musicians from the southern isle, in quaint native costumes, give a vivid portrayal of the charming music and romantic customs of their native land. At the afternoon concert Virginia Slade, a clever character impersonator, delighted her hearers with readings from plays and novels.

The closing concert will be given by Vierra's Hawaiians, presenting "An Evening in Hawaii," an original musical production with special lighting and scenic effects and costumes.

Capt. H. E. Law, who was appointed chief supervisor of the civic playgrounds at the opening of the season, has tendered his resignation which came before the members of the parks committee, at a meeting held on Tuesday afternoon and which was accepted. It was stated that the position would not be filled and that the entire work would be carried on for the balance of the season by the two male and two female supervisors.

A sub-committee was given power to purchase some lawn tennis apparatus required at the playgrounds. It was reported that the attendance at the playgrounds in Victoria and Frontenac parks has been quite large and that the "kiddies" have been enjoying themselves to the limit.

Bolton, Elizabethtown, Mrs. Frank Moore, Brockville and Miss Sophia, Glen Buell.

Comstock Hall Sold.

The ratepayers of Morristown, N.Y., approved a proposition to purchase Comstock Hall in that village for use as a town hall. A tight vote was cast and the resolution was carried by about ten majority. The original cost of the building was $15,000, but the price to the town is about one-fourth that figure. The exterior walls are of sheet iron and the interior finished off in pine.

Splendid Band Concert.

A splendid concert was given in Frontenac park on Tuesday evening by the P.W.O.R. band, and was enjoyed by a large crowd of citizens. Bandmaster W. J. Christmas had arranged a programme of pleasing variety and it was well presented.

Out Out the Speed.
