Piccalilli: This is perhaps the most popular pickle in the world! And justly so; almost nothing tastes better with cold sliced meats, hash, and baked beans. To make it, chop fine one peck of green tomatoes, then add to them one-half pint of salt. Let stand over-night and in the morning drain off the juices which have accumulated. Put through your food chopper the following vegetables: six small peeled onions, and one large bunch of celery with leaves removed. Add these two chopped vegetables to the tomatoes in the preserving kettle. Mix together two heaping cups of brown sugar, two teaspoons of white pepper, one tablespoon each of ground cinnamon and allspice, one teaspoon of dry mustard (more if liked) and add this dry mixture also to the preserving kettle, with two quarts of cider vinegar. Cook slowly all day—or till the tomatoes are very soft. (Sliced or grated horseradish may also be added, in the proportion liked, if desired.) Turn while hot into hot, sterilized glass jars and seal airtight at once.

Bon Ami

Keeps white shoes looking like new!

For all kinds of white shoes—except kid—Bon Ami works wonders.

Put it on with a wet brush—let it dry—then wipe it off with a dry cloth. You'll find that all the dirt, dust and grass stains have disappeared. Just the fresh original whiteness remains—without any pasty, chalky streaks.

When the original whiteness finally has worn off your shoes, clean them first with Bon Ami, then apply a good white dressing. This avoids the ugly, grimy, clogged-up appearance.

Bon Ami also cleans windows, mirrors, white woodwork, aluminium, kitchenware, bathtubs, etc.—in fact, it has scores of uses throughout the house.
