DELIGHTS OF THE CIVIC PLAYGROUNDS

The Children Have Very Happy Hours at the Supervised Places.

At almost every hour in the morning and afternoon, groups of Kingston's young athletes, both boys and girls, may be seen enjoying exciting games of baseball here and there on the civic playgrounds. Not even the extreme heat is a strong enough factor to drive them away, so interested are they in preparing a strong team for their next game against the other playground.

Those who are not interested in baseball find very little time to sit idle, for there are very few children who do not enjoy a nice swing, and they have plenty of opportunity to have that enjoyment on the playgrounds. All get their turn, as can be readily understood when the children are heard saying, "27, 28, 29—there I've had my 30," and off they jump to give up their swing, and then wait their turn for another 30.

Cries of "Please push me" are heard from children of all ages, young and old, for in one section of the playgrounds, in Victoria Park, are baby swings, where all children under six years of age, may have a happy time in perfect safety. Here mothers come with little babies, some even six months of age, to put them in these swings, supported at both back and front by strong bars. Other little tots are put in the swings by brothers and sisters, who, after giving them a starting push, run off to the big swings, or, in the case of the smaller ones, to the sand, where they are well provided with pails and shovels. This affords entertainment for two or three hours at a time and many many times is the supervisor called to see a castle, house or warship, well constructed by the happy children in their play.

Another place of great interest is the section in which the slides are placed. Here at times the children are lined up behind the steps awaiting their turn, while the older brothers and sisters wait at the bottom to catch the tiny ones, and then they themselves run up the steps to have their turn. Tiring of this, the teeter-totters prove to be a never-failing entertainment for big and little. Scarcely can they be torn away at times, to play games or listen to stories by the supervisor, for, during these activities, the apparatus is always in use by some of the children.

No one but the parents of children can realize what a blessing these supervised playgrounds are. One man, engaged at night work, was heard to remark, early in July, that he had had his first whole afternoon's sleep, which his wife explained was due to the fact that his large family of children were all away at the playgrounds for the afternoon. In this and in many other ways the playgrounds are of great benefit, especially for those children who have no place to play but the hot and dusty streets.

Phillips-McGoff Nuptials. St. Luke's Anglican church was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Monday, when Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. M. McGoff, York street, became the bride of Leo Seymour Phillips, second son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Phillips, Pine street. The church was prettily decorated and beautiful flowers adorned the altar. Rev. De Pencier Wright, M.A., B.D., performed the ceremony.

The bride, who was given away by her cousin, Mr. John England, Alfred street, looked charming in her wedding dress of white crepe de chine and carrying a bouquet of sweetest roses and lilies-of-the-valley. Immediately following the ceremony a delightful wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's parents, about thirty guests being present. Both bride and groom were the recipients of many beautiful and costly gifts.

Later in the day, Mr. and Mrs. Phillips left on a motor trip to Toronto and Niagara Falls, the bride travelling in a navy taffeta dress with coat of navy and white veiling, and hat to match. On their return they will reside in Kingston.

Don't Miss This Opportunity. Demonstrators of the famous "Velvetex" rugs, made by Canada Rug Co., London, Ontario, from customers' old carpets, will call at your house and show samples without obligation. Phone No. 243 for motor truck to call. It is a pleasure to demonstrate.

Townships Playing Safe. The St. Thomas Times-Journal says: "When Captain Ponsford, warden of the Portsmouth penitentiary, blew into town the first thing that John Farrell, vice-president of the Home Coming Association, did was to pin an honorary vice-president's badge on him. There's nothing like playing safe with the head of Canada's Sing-Sing."

Take Dip in St. Lawrence. While at Brockville this week, some of the British scientists took a dip in the St. Lawrence from the Rowing Club dock. "The best bath I have ever had," declared Sir Henry Fowler, general manager of the Midland Railway Company, after his plunge.

Again Wins Plowing Prize. John Hunter Storms, son of J. W. Storms of the Pruyn farm, Emerson, Manitoba, again won first prize with his five-horse team, in the plowing match on the farm of Willard Storms at Emerson Junction.

ABOUT MORRISBURG.

How the Pleasant Little Village Got Its Name.

Lieut.-Col. the Hon. James Morris (1798-1865) was rather a noted public man in pre-Confederation days and when the inhabitants of the hamlet of "West Williamsburg" had arisen at the foot of the Rapide du Plat during the improvement of the St. Lawrence canals turned their attention to the selection of a more distinctive title for it, they decided to incorporate in their choice the name of the man who had been a commissioner for furthering the canal work and who had also occupied a commanding position in public life for many years.

Hon. Mr. Morris was born in Paisley, Scotland, and as an infant accompanied his parents to Canada. In 1803 they settled at Elizabethtown (Brockville), where Mr. Morris subsequently engaged in business with his brothers, Alexander and William, and amassed considerable wealth. His residence was situated where Court Terrace now stands. As a Reformer he represented Leeds in Parliament from 1837 to 1844 when he was called to the Legislative Council. On three occasions he was a member of the Executive Council, first as Postmaster-General (the first to occupy that portfolio after the transfer of the department from Imperial control), and afterwards as Receiver-General. When Postmaster-General he inaugurated the postal treaty with the United States and reduced the Canadian rate from an average of 15 cents to one of five cents. He was also Speaker of the Legislative Council, a member of the Board of Railway Commissioners, a government director of the Grand Trunk Railway Company, a lieutenant-colonel in the militia, first president of the Johnston District Building Society, a director of the Brockville Library and Mechanics' Institute, etc.

Mrs. Morris (1805-1866) was Emily Rosamund, daughter of Henry Murney, Kingston, and their family consisted of four sons and four daughters. The sons were James H. Morris, Q.C., Toronto; Alexander R. Morris, barrister-at-law, Kingston, Edmund Morris, of the Ontario bank, and William, drowned off Ventnor, Isle of Wight; one daughter died in infancy and the others were married respectively to W. H. Merritt, barrister, Dr. E. W. Sprague and G. F. Harman.

"Mr. Morris," an obituary notice read, "was possessed of great shrewdness, tact, and knowledge of affairs. He was kind and conciliatory in his manner and in all his public actions was animated by an anxious desire to serve his country."

In 1864 Mr. Morris presented Morrisburg with the sum of $100 and this was devoted to the purchase of a bell, which, it is understood, is still in use in a school-house.

Rotary Club Activities.

A rare treat is in store for the members of the Kingston Rotary Club, at their weekly luncheon at the British-American hotel at 13.30 (noon) on Friday, Rotarian J. L. Challinor, Chatham, who is attending Queen's summer school, and who has been attending the luncheons of the club since the school opened, has arranged for a musical programme, to be given by several members of the summer school.

Another big event on Friday night will be the club's moonlight excursion to be held to Gananoque, on the steamer Waubic. The street parade, in connection with the old boys' celebration at Gananoque, will take place on the arrival of the steamer from Kingston, and a big time is anticipated.

The Ottawa Rotary club is holding an inter-city field day on Aug. 27th and have extended an invitation to the Kingston Rotarians to attend.

The celebrated Welsh choir will appear in Grant Hall on Sept. 9th, under the auspices of the Rotary Club.

MUSTFINISH TERM IN THE PENITENTIARY

Edward Halton, Who Was Out on Parole, Had Trouble in London.

Edward Halton, who was allowed out on parole from the Portsmouth penitentiary, pleaded guilty at London, Ont., to stealing fowl, but Magistrate Gladman exercised leniency. The court blamed bad companions for Halton's downfall and advised him, for the sake of his parents, to turn over a new leaf at the expiration of his term at Portsmouth. He will be confined to the county jail for one month and then must complete his term at the penitentiary, which will be up at the end of the year.

It appears that Halton had intended to go west on a harvesters' excursion but had fallen in with bad companions, taken too much liquor, and wound up by stealing poultry. "With the new year I hope you will turn over a new leaf and lead an honest life in future," was the parting advice given the prisoner by the court, as the case was finally disposed of.

Lowden's Eye Healing.

Alexandria Bay, N.Y., Aug. 7.—The condition of Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, who arrived at his summer home, Castle Reef, early last week and who has been suffering from a minor infection of the eye, continues to improve and he is expected to be up and about within the next few days. His eye has been causing him considerable pain and has proved somewhat stubborn in healing, but it is now believed the upper hand has been gained and that he will experience no further inconvenience from it.

Governor Lowden had planned to spend the summer in playing golf and fishing, but to date has not been able to leave his home. However, it is believed by members of his family that he will visit the country club, near his summer home, later this week.

Prof. M. B. Baker was one of the speakers at a reunion of former students of the Collegiate Institute, Stratford, where an Old Boys' celebration is being held.

Enoch Burtch, of this city, has been bereaved by the death of his brother, Charles Burtch, Jones Falls, aged eighty-two years.

There was a very short session of the police court on Thursday morning. A drunk on remand was fined $10 and costs.
