Light Hurts Some Eyes

Some eyes are extremely sensitive to light. For such patients we supply special lenses that prevent the harmful rays of light from entering the eyes.

If the movies, bright lights, travelling on the water or by auto bothers your eyes, let me fit you out with a pair of these lenses.

 MAXSON FULLAL JUDGES
 The Lowbrow.
 By Wallace M. Bayliss.

The Lowbrow came, with rakish air,
 And whisked the maiden off afar,
 Sans chaperone, for he, as yet,
 Had read no books on etiquette.

Before they knew it, midnight came,
 And then this "boso" took his
 "dame"

Into a white-tiled eating place
 And told the girl to "feed her face."

For talking he would never get hung,—
 He let his arm work for his tongue;
 But what few words he used were wise,
 Like, "Girl, you're easy on the eyes."

Although they swear they think it's rough,
 How girls do love this low-brow
 stuff!

A Practical Rule.
 Math. Professor: "What is 'the rule of three?'"
 Fresh student: "Shake the odd one or pick up another one and make it two couples."
 —E. H. Hepler.

A Man Of His Word.
 Mrs. Howard: "It's only six o'clock and I told you to come after supper."
 He: "That's what I came after."
 —Helen Riordan.

The Sole Deterrant.
 Shocked Visitor: "My, my! I didn't think a little boy like you could swear like that."
 The Little Boy: "Shucks, I can swear better'n Pa but Ma won't let me."
 —L. B. Birdsall.

When Helen tells her parents that her sweetheart is going home
 "any minute," Ma and Pa discover that A.M. stands for "any minute."

When Adam awoke from his sleep,
 He felt his ribs with a groan,
 Then uttered this classic remark,
 "Somebody pulled a bone."
 —Speed Reid.

A Midnight Thriller.
 In the deathly, silent, depths of night I awoke, made fully conscious by a call that was as vague as it was impelling.

Quietly I slipped from my bed, fearful lest I disturb my wife. No need to alarm her, poor, tired woman that she was.

I descended the stairs, slowly and softly, my heart in my mouth lest a board creak and shriek out my presence. To the end of the steps, through another door, I felt my uncertain way. At last I stood before a box, a case wherein lay the most valuable of plate, I knelt, I fumbled with the knobs, I reached in.

Thank Heaven it was still there!
 I just knew that the cold pork hadn't all been eaten.
 —K. K. Friedel.

Fully Supplied.
 "Can I interest you in the subject of accident insurance?"
 "Go away, I'm carrying so much accident insurance now that it makes me jealous every time I hear of anybody being injured."
 —Isaac Anderson.

Aggravatin' Papa.

Triumph of Matter Over Mind.
 Lady: "What's the matter, sonny,
 what are you crying about?"
 Bobby: "M-m-m mother spanked
 me."
 Lady: "Well, never mind."
 Bobby: "Gee, that's what I got spanked for."
 —Pat Opperman.

Going Some.
 Of music he does not know much,
 However simple it may be,
 And yet the man's concert is such,
 He blows his own horn constantly.
 —L. M. N.

Bird Dealer: "Do you ever keep her in the garage?"
 Patron: "Frequently."
 Bird Dealer: "I thought so. Remove her at once to the nursery."
 —Mrs. Henry Solomon.

Imagination.
 Interne: "That patient of mine
 imagines he has appendicitis."
 Doctor: "And what do you imagine it is?"
 —Mrs. Benjamin Rand.

A Cutting Remark.
 Katherine (to May, who is sewing): "My goodness May! Are you cutting that thread with your teeth?"
 May (sarcastically): "No, with my tongue."
 Katherine: "Well, your tongue is pretty sharp."
 —Carey Mae Hunter.

 tine of married life often comes with the smashing of the dishes.

Giving Herself Away.
 Mrs. Juddings: "My father was a remarkably well-preserved man. He was eighty-seven years old and never lost his teeth."
 Absent-minded Spinster: "Laws
 above, and I'm always misplacing mine!"
 —C. S. Valentine.

The Jingle-Jangle Counter.
 Men in crowds are ne'er at ease;
 Lemons do not mind a squeeze.
 —Gertrude Heller.

There's no use in being blue;
 Straws are glad to tickle you.
 Florence Margoles.

A man was standing all alone;
 An auto hit him in the safety zone.
 —Mrs. Edith O'Brien.

Though a tailor be quite healthy, he still may have a "fit," Though a butcher be a "cut-up," he may not be a wit.
 —Gertrude A. Follows.

Punished.
 Stella: "They tell me that walking is good for the complexion." Della: "Nonsense! While walking to Millie's house the other night I lost my vanity case."
 —Mrs. Bruce Koehler.

Inadequate.
 Motherly woman: "What is the matter with your little brother?"
 Boy: "He ate too many green apples."
 Motherly woman: "Well, here, let him lay his head in my lap." Boy: "Aw, it ain't his head that hurts."

Readers are requested to contrib-

It is estimated that 10 per cent. of the attendance at the Canadian National Exhibition this year will be from the United States. This means, if the prediction that the attendance will reach 1,500,000 is realized, that at least 150,000 United Statesers will witness the Annual World's Fair in 1924.

GANANOQUE

(From Our Own Correspondent)
 Aug. 3.—We had been told to expect something exceptionally good for "Children's Day" in Old Home
 Week, and no one was disappointed.
 It would be a difficult matter to select the best feature of the evening's programme, as each succeeding number seemed better than the last, and though the great assemblage had practically all to stand throughout the lengthy programme interest never lagged and the crowd seemed to grow rather than diminish in numbers. Last Monday we felt we had seen the last word in parades, but the kiddies' efforts were fully up to that high standard with entirely new ideas carried out. The floats were very beautiful and "The Landing of Cartier" which carried off the prize was certainly a work of art and reflects high credit on the Sisters of St. John's School who were responsible for this magnificent representation of the pioneer days of Canada. At the park the maypoles, highland fling, folk dances, pantomimes, club swinging, community singing, etc., were revelations and showed the excellent training the children of Gananoque schools have had during the past few months. One of the best features of the evening was the clever dancing of little Miss Marjorie Coates, grand-daughter of Mr. and Mrs. A. E. Bishop, King street, and a resident of Brockville, who lent
 her assistance to Wednesday's programme. The teachers of the public and separate schools, and the committee in charge of "Children's Day"—Mrs. W. J. Wilson, Mrs. G.
 H. Hurd, Miss O'Neill, Mrs. James Bell and Mrs. W. Butler—are to be congratulated upon the success of Wednesday's programme. In the morning the baseball game between the separate and public school teams was won by the public school by quite a large score.

Mrs. Robert Graham, Kingston, is the guest of her mother, Mrs. Hurd, for the week.

Miss Genevieve C. Doherty, Brooklyn, N.Y., is expected to arrive today to spend the next few weeks here on the river. Her brother, Leo V. Doherty, who usually spends his holidays in this vicinity, is one of the Republican nominees for state senator and will not accompany his sister as usual but will probably come up later on for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Byers, Toronto, are the guests of the former's mother, Mrs. W. H. Byers, Church street, for the Old Home Week doings.

Among the visitors here this week
 was Mrs. W. W. Cook, Smith's Falls, who motored in with her husband,
 children and parents, Mr. and Mrs.
 William Fitzpatrick for Linklater
 Day.

Ben Spicer, Gananoque East, had the misfortune to break his arm
 Wednesday when cranking his car.
 This is a double misfortune as it happens just in the middle of haying time.

Mrs. May Bowen-Sears, Toronto,
 and daughter, are the guests of Mrs.
 Ernest Spencer during the Old Home
 Week festivities.

Mrs. W. C. Gould, King street east, announces the engagement of her only daughter, Jessie Mabel, to Mr. Granville S. Tompkins, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Tompkins, of Oceanside, Long Island, N. Y.
