Light Hurts Some Eyes

Some eyes are extremely sensitive to light. For such patients we supply special lenses that prevent the harmful rays of light from entering the eyes.

If the movies, bright lights, travelling on the water or by auto bothers your eyes, let me fit you out with a pair of these lenses.

MAXSON FOXHALL JUDREZ VERSES AND REVERSES.

By Samuel Hoffenstein
Our cat he keeps, while mortals fuss,

Peperual tryst with Morph—e—us;
While we perspire and labor, he Stretches in feline luxury,
Troubling no whit his furry head
About the uses of his bed.

I've seen him, and subdued my curses,

Loll lazily upon my verses,
Proving, a mind that's analytic
Is not essential to a critic—
Well, anyhow, his pleasant time
Imperially o'erlops my rhyme;
He knows, as mortal men do not,
The uses of a sunny spot,
Where I have seen him brush his dome

With his own natural cat-a-comb,
Nor seem to give a catty care
Who rules the ocean or the air,
Nevertheless, I argue that I do not want to be a cat
Hunt mice, and paw an empty head,
And die nine times before I'm dead.

No Rest.

"Now that you have inherited all that money, I presume you will take life easy."

"I'm afraid not. My wife wants to get into society."
—Isaac Anderson.

The Whip Hand.

"That is a bright boy of your, old man."
"He's all of that. I wish I could manage his mother half as well as he can."
—Robert H. Witt.

Out of Stock.

Grace: "Bertha seems to have a very poor color, to-day." Stella: "Yes, poor dear. You can't imagine the trouble she's having trying to get her favorite rouge."
—Gertrude Heller.

A Musical Party.

Sarcasm?

Mrs. Hale: "Henry, dear, I'm going to the beauty specialist's this afternoon. Could you let me have twenty dollars?"
Hale: "Hmm! Twenty dollars!
Do you think that will be enough?"

He's Earned It.

"Young man," roared the boss angrily, "you're fired. Your infernal carelessness in drawing up our contract with the Smith-Jones Company has cost this firm ten thousand dollars."
"Would you mind giving me a signed statement to that effect, Sir?" asked the culprit timidly.
"What do you want a signed statement for?"
"I'm going to see if I can't collect a commission from the Smith-Jones people."
—Felix F. Felist.

All of us are as lazy as our circumstances will permit.

Wild Willies.

Willie, with Pa's golfing sticks,
Practiced several wicked licks.
"These are much too long," said he,
So he shortened two or three.

Etiquette.

If you find an open letter
Which you think is not for you,
Still, it may be, so its better
To make sure and read it through.
—George S. Chappell.

The Brute!

A woman's voice, shrill and high pitched, rent the quiet night air.
It was a cry for help; and it acted on me like an electric shock. Quickly, yet silently, I jumped over the garden gate.
Again the cry, this time more piercing; I glanced back, apprehensively, toward the house. Then I increased my stride in the opposite direction, toward town and the movies!
This was one time my wife would have to entertain her unexpected lady callers without me!
—Edward Ross.

The Jingle-Jangle Counter.
Silver's melted into bars;
Ropes are made into cigars.
—Harry Benedict.

Don't cry, little lot, don't cry,
You'll be a filling station, by and by.
—Hazel Brown.
