The Brown Granite Company of Lyndhurst is Planning an Extensive Expansion.

Gananoque Reporter.
 In a trip through the north country this week a representative paid a visit to the quarry of the A. C. Brown Granite Company Limited, situated about five miles west of the village of Lyndhurst, in the 9th concession of Leeds.

Several years ago Mr. Alex. C. Brown, investigated this quarry, and convinced that it had a profitable future acquired the property and has operated it successfully since. The property comprises about seven acres of the best granite in the world, according to experts, and although Mr. Brown, since commencing operations, has taken out 200 carloads, he has but "scratched the surface," and in the same ratio of excavation the supply is good for a thousand years.

The quarry is well equipped with derricks for handling large blocks and loading them on trucks for transportation to the railway. A 20 h.p. engine supplies power to operate the $8 compressor which furnishes air for the drills, and there is a blacksmith shop and other buildings. So far Mr. Brown was under the handicap of having to ship the rough blocks to Toronto or elsewhere to be polished, and last year he decided in order to overcome this handicap and obtain the best results, the business would have to be extended and a polishing plant installed. Application was therefore made to the Ontario government for a charter for a joint stock company. The charter was granted and the company organized and capitalized at $75,000.

The next move was to provide for the necessary expansion, and a splendid opportunity was afforded in the property of the late Geo. E. Roddick in the village of Lyndhurst, which was placed in the market. This property was acquired and negotiations are now under way for the erection of a polishing plant 30x90 feet equipped with a travelling crane between the building and 50 feet beyond, and the latest and best in the way of machinery.

The Roddick property comprises modern machinery and tools for the manufacture of every form of moulding, sash, doors, etc., and in addition there is a gristmill, sawmill and electric light plant, all in operation. At present the light plant supplies current for the villages of Lyndhurst and Delta, producing a revenue of $2,500, and the residents of Seeley's Bay as well as the farmers in the surrounding district are anxious to be served, so that this unit promises excellent results as a revenue-producer. The close proximity of raw material in the form of endless quantities of timber, also affords great possibilities for the wood-working plants, which, we were informed, would shortly include a box making factory for the supply of packing cases.

Included with the Roddick property is water power of 220 h.p., affording the cheapest power possible to obtain, and which will enable the company to operate its polishing plant at a fraction of the cost to competitors in the cities, who are not only faced with high power costs, but of high taxes and investment charges.

Altogether the prospects of the new company are exceedingly bright for a largely expanding and profitable career. And these varied industries in active operation will mean a great deal to those residing in and near the village of Lyndhurst. It will also mean increased population, as expert men will have to be brought in to do the polishing. In the village is a standing advertisement of the quality of granite obtained from the quarry in the monument erected at the east end of the bridge to the memory of those who paid the supreme price in the late great war.

A limited amount of stock in the company is now being offered, the sale being in the hands of Mr. T. E. Brooks, of Brantford.

The stock is being rapidly taken up by people in the vicinity of Lyndhurst.

The directors of the company are: Alexander C. Brown, Joseph T. Moorhead, Hilliard Allan Earl, Tallman C. Robb, Lyndhurst, J. Arthur Jackson, Gananoque.

Gordon White, who sold $800 worth of advertising to Belleville business men who were to have had their businesses displayed on a classy theatre curtain at the Belle theatre for a two-year term, and who fled the place, has been arrested in Toronto.

Alexander Ward, son of the late Mrs. Christina Ward, Stirling, attempted to break her last will. Judge Willis, Belleville, who heard the case, declared the will valid. An appeal will be taken.

Frank D. Brough, C.P.R. brakeman, injured a week ago, died in the Brockville hospital on Monday, aged thirty-five years.

Leo Smith, Belleville, charged with the theft of a suitcase, and clothing amounting to $90, was apprehended in Toronto.
