HOW TO BUILD A CRYSTAL AMPLIFIER AND CLEAR UP LOCAL CONCERTS

(By Israel Klein.)
 Those radio fans who have found all the fun they want in long distance reception and are ready to settle down to a clear programme of more or less local music may be interested in the crystal amplifier to be described here.
 It is not intended for distance. But it is one way to clear up the noises that come with the use of vacuum tubes. Clarity of tone and volume are the advantages of the crystal amplifier.
 But it should be remembered that nothing more than loud speaker use on stations within 50 miles or so may be expected with this use of the crystals.
 To construct this form of amplifier, the following parts are needed:
 Two crystals, mounted on Woods metal, D1 and D2.
 Two audio-frequency transformers, the first, T1, of 10 to 1 ratio; the second, T2, about 4 to 1.
 Two fixed condensers, C1 and C2, each of .001 mfd capacity.
 Six binding posts.
 Wire for connections.
 The entire amplifier can be mounted on a 7-inch by 5-inch panel, and a 7-inch by 6-inch base.
Care Essential.
 Special care should be taken in wiring this circuit. Especially important is the connection following the first amplifying crystal. The wire coming from the secondary, G, of the first transformer, and through the crystal, D1, must go to the secondary, G, of the second transformer, or the battery would ruin the sensitivity of the first crystal, and the amplifier would not work.
 Connections to the crystal may be reversed in seeking the best volume.
 The best kind of wire for connecting the parts is the soft drawn copper wire. Bus wire has low surface conductivity, and since the least possible losses must be maintained in this hook-up, the round soft copper wire will work best.
How to Operate.
 The B battery of 22½ volts should be connected with extreme care, as every bit of energy is needed to make amplification successful. To operate the amplifier, in connection with a crystal detector, connect the ends marked "phones" at the left, to the phone terminals of the detector unit. Then manipulate the first amplifier crystals for greatest volume, with the terminals of the phone receivers across the primary of the first transformer.
 When greatest possible volume is heard through this crystal, plug the phones into the jack, or connect them to the phone terminals if no jack is used, and manipulate the second crystal for greatest volume.
 After a little practice, both crystals can be worked together.

DISTRICT CAMP MEETING.

Being Held by Holiness Movement Church at Delta.
 Delta, Sept. 5.—The Holiness Movement church is holding its annual district camp meeting at Delta on the branch railway line between Brockville and Westport. These meetings opened Aug. 24th and four and five meetings have been held daily. Meetings will be continued over next Sunday, Sept. 7th. There has been a good attendance from the beginning. Eighteen small and two large dwelling tents are used by those camping on the grounds, and others motor to the meetings from their homes. The meetings on the two Sundays already passed were largely attended and a larger crowd is anticipated on the coming Sabbath. These meetings are considered by many the best held in the district for a number of years, both in attendance and definite spiritual help received. Ten or twelve preachers and evangelists have been present throughout, beside special singers. The preaching has been on Bible lines. The H. M. church accepts and preaches the simple Bible truths and believes in getting their people into experiences where it is lived out in their daily lives.

LOVE'S PHILOSOPHY

The fountains mingle with the river,
 And the rivers with the ocean,
 The winds of heaven mix for ever
 With a sweet emotion;
 Nothing in the world is single;
 All things by a law divine
 In one another's being mingle—
 Why not I with thine?
 See the mountain kiss high heaven,
 And the waves clasp one another,
 No sister flower would be forgiven
 If it disdained its brother.
 And the sunlight clasps the earth,
 And the moonbeams kiss the sea;—
 What are all these kissings worth,
 If thou kiss not me?
 —Percy Bysshe Shelley.
