Romance

Grandfather leaned over the garden wall
Where fell the moonlight dim.
Grandmother blushed on the other side,
Modest, and simple and prim,
He gave an old-fashioned kiss to her,
And she gave her heart to him.

Grandfather's grandson calls at the door,
Waits with a chauffeur prim,
And grandmother's grand-daughter appears
Tailored and modern and trim.
He gives her the same old-fashioned kiss,
And she gives her heart to him.

(But he also gives her a dozen roses, seven pounds of chocolates and glazed fruits, theatre tickets, twelve books, a quart of perfume, a pearl necklace, a jewelled wrist watch, a house in the country, and a car.)
—Elizabeth Evelyn Moore.

No Gertrude; just because you used to make such wonderful mud pies, it doesn't follow that cooking his meals will come naturally.

Then Why Hike Them?

Six-year-old Ada was watching her grandmother dress.
"Why, Grandma," she asked, "what are you putting on two petticoats for?"
"So that people can't see my legs," primly replied her grandmother.
The modern little miss looked pained and lowering her voice, she inquired anxiously: "Grandma, what's the matter with your legs?"

Corn Pone.

I like the tender, juicy corn,
It hits the spot, my dears;
But can't someone contrive it so
That spot won't be my ears?
—Josephine Hemphill.

The Jingle-Jangle Counter.

Guns are set off in saluting;
Pains are very often shooting.
—W. A. Faimer.

Vacation days, dreamy skies,
Tender romance, same old lies.
—W. Harrison.

Girls were made for men to pet,
Then to marry and forget.
—Sylvia B. Friedman.

His hair was combed, his boots were blacked;
A pretty girl was all he lacked.
—L. M. M.

Sugar is sweet, and so is honey,
I love my girl, and she loves my money.
—Mildred Ruth Fritch.

Little brooks are full of fish
That would make a toothsome dish.
—Cheldon McKean.

This prohibition makes me sick,
The nearer the beer, the farther the kick.
—George Redfield.

Last week daddy had to go without a shave,
Because mother used the money for a permanent wave.
—Stanley Quinn.

The talk and babble that fills the air
Is all of calories and bobbed hair.
—Seahawk.

"Kiss me, you fool," she bid;
Was he a fool? He was. He did.
—E. Buckley.

Cats have tails and so have dogs,
Dogs have bark and so have logs.
—Annie Ruth Brown.

The Frozen Horror.

He gazed at his wife in horror,
For a long time he had been searching for her—only to find her like this!

"Gloria!" he cried, "Gloria! Can't you answer me!"
Her face was like marble, and was of an unearthly color. Mutely she shook her head. Her face seemed frozen—paralyzed—only her eyes seemed alive.

Her husband shuddered, and buried his face in his hands. His fingers closed over a hammer. He raised it and eyed it in horror, yet it seemed to be the only thing to do. It was only after a dozen heavy, sickening blows with the hammer that he could remove the beauty clay from his wife's face.

Top Dat!

Little Mary was five years old. One evening her tummy ached and put her in misery.

She slapped it vigorously, saying at the same time: "Be still, tummy, You've had your dinner."
—Mrs. M. H. Scadutt.

The man who says that he has never deceived his wife is telling the truth—but he thinks he is lying.

An Achievement.
I think I'm quite a poet,
And often, just for fun,
I sit and rhyme such words as this:
"Paralleloipson."
—Tennyson J. Draft.

His Desire.

"Old Riley Rippey got to saying tuther day," related Gap Johnson, of Rumpus Ridge, "that he was eighty-three years old and hadn't never seed a moving picture yet, but had just about made up his mind that he'd like to sorter see how they look."

"So he rid into town with me last Friday and attended the Oriental Grotto Picture Palace. He set right through three performances and was starting in on the fourth when the manager of the show asked him if he didn't think he was acting kinda funny, seeing the same thing over and over.

"That might be and then ag'in it moughtn't," says the old man. "Such cuttin'-up as have been going on yur may be an old story to you town folks but they ain't to me, and I want to see the outcome of 'em. That there lady's husband hain't ketch'd that there infernal dude fooling around her yet, but I figger that the dude'll be a little slow the next time and the husband will show up in time to nail him. And if he does I want to be right yur when it happens."

GANANOQUE

Sept. 6.—Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Bishop announce the engagement of their daughter, Rita Madeline to Frederick Leslie Bamford, son of Mrs. Alexander Bamford, the marriage to take place late in September.

Miss Carrie Allison, Brooklyn, N.Y., is visiting Miss Lena Dorey, River street.

The Gananoque Inn was host on Friday to a party of 125 consisting of the "Pioneers" of the Bell Telephone Company and their wives. These gentlemen are in convention at Brockville and came to Gananoque by yacht. After lunch a pleasant trip was taken among the islands, and the party later returned to Brockville.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Beatty motored from St. Catharines and are staying a few days with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Stewart, First street, who will accompany them back and remain for the winter.

Mrs. Fred Buell and children returned home on Thursday having spent a week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lake, Elgin.

Mrs. A. C. Hudspeth and children, who have been summering at McDonald Island, returned to their home in Westmount, yesterday.

Miss Lena Sullivan and Mr. Bedard of Windsor returned by motor, and were accompanied by Miss Victoria Sullivan who will spend a short holiday there.

Mrs. W. S. Seymour and children of Clayton are in town with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Parker.

Mrs. D. Donovan and children, Prescott are visiting Mr. and Mrs. William McDonald, Garden street.

Eric Warwick and Gerald Boucher are spending ten days in Toronto. Mr. and Mrs. William Bulloch and Miss Dora Bulloch left yesterday by motor for Toronto.

Owing to the popularity of last week's game, the two ladies' soft ball team have decided to play to-day at the town park.

Ted, Roedhouse, who has been holidaying in Toronto the past two weeks, returned to town.

Mr. and Mrs. Osborne Cairnes of Kingston spent a few days with Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Harris this week.

The dance at the Gananoque Canoe Club Thursday evening was well attended, and as it was the last on the summer schedule an hour's extra dancing was given. Quite a number of visitors were present as usual.

Miss Amanda O'Regan arrives in town to-day for a short holiday among the islands.

Miss Hazel Ashley, New York, Miss Harriet Ashley, Kingston, and Mr. Layman of New York are guests for a few days of Mr. and Mrs. S. A. McKean.

Additions to the Gananoque high school staff are Miss MacLellan of Claremont and Miss Stapleford of Toronto.

ATHENS NEWS BUDGET

Rev. Dr. Giles, East Orange, N.J., Addresses W.M.S.—High School Proceeds.

Athens, Sept. 5.—Almost annually for thirty-nine years, Rev. W. W. Giles, D.D., East Orange, N. Y., has occupied the pulpit of the Athens Methodist church prior to his departure from his summer home, Charleston Lake. Born in the republic at the south, he loves the land of his forebears, and the ties of affection are the more strongly cemented as year by year he enjoys his vacation among friends and acquaintances in the Land of the Maple.

In the evening of Aug. 31st, the usual appreciative congregation gathered and listened with interest to this gifted divine. In his inimitable style, Dr. Giles read as a Scripture lesson St. Luke 15: 11-24, the story of the prodigal son. His text was chosen from Acts 14:2, his subject being "Why are people antagonistic to Christ?" He said it was because their minds were evil, affected by prejudice which always pre-judged. It may be small but it produces tremendous pervasions. Bring to the quest of truth an open mind. Some reject Christ because prejudiced against the church—this is as unreasonable as to reject democracy because of the failure of a few degenerate. Christianity is not churchianity! They are as different as a sunlit observatory and a root-cellar. Let us have an alert mind, alive imagination, a sensitive heart, and accept salvation as a free gift, for it is as impossible to bring it as it is to pick up a sunbeam with automobile pliers. Jesus said things true in laboratory, and did things divine in laboratory—hear Him, not some one else. Hear Him regarding God, regarding man; regarding ourselves. If we loved Him and each other supremely, we would not need thirty-two thousand laws on the statute books.

In spite of the prevalence of sin, the world is going steadily to the front today. Airships fly faster than the birds; trains are fleetier than the deer, submarines outdistance the fish, education is going forward by leaps and bounds, disease is being investigated and held in check as never before. If you do not see God's hand in these, they have no more significance than a mad-man's dream. But for all these blessings we are God's debtors. Arsn't you moved because of what Jesus Christ has done for you? You do not pay your grocer because of a certain feeling in the matter, but because you owe the debt. Be square in your dealings with God. Time is short. You have no more mortgage on time, than I have information concerning next week. You may have wealth, but that does not count in your happiness in the next world. You cannot afford to do without Christ for what He gives, here and now. There is only one life worth living, and that is bearing the cross of Christ. Accept in your soul the sin and need of others as the deepest concern of your life, and remember we are called, not to slavery, but to be sons of God.

The September meeting of the Athens W.M.S. was held on the 7th inst., in the vestry of the Methodist church, and proved interesting from start to finish. The second vice-president, Mrs. H. E. Warren, wife of the new pastor, was introduced to the society and warmly welcomed to a place on the executive. A pleasant surprise was in store, while the president, Mrs. William Touris, presented to Mrs. Henry Hawkins a life membership certificate as a token of appreciation of sterling qualities, the donor being the Misses Sabra, Susan, and Belle Wiltsie, Church street.

Mrs. Thomas Jeffries, Oak Leaf, was present and gave an appropriate recitation in her usual capable manner.

Preparations are in progress for celebrating in some way next April the fortieth anniversary of the organization of this auxiliary.

The local schools have re-opened with a gratifying enrollment. The personnel of the high school staff is as follows: Messrs. Campbell and Elder, Misses Warren and DeRenzy. The staff of the public school remains unchanged. Mr. Snowden, Misses Tennant and Montgomery.

Satisfactory progress is being made in the erection of the new high school building, which will be commodious, substantial and ornamental.

BIG BUSINESS NOW IN THE BARBER SHOPS

Tonsorial Artists Kept Busy as Result of "Bobbed" Hair Craze.

My! how the times have changed in regard to many things. A few years ago barber shops appeared to be for men only; now the fair sex are regular customers as a result of the "bobbed" hair craze. The ladies predominate in some of the tonsorial shops these days. Just the other day a man wrote to a newspaper in a small western town, pleading with the ladies to "give the men a chance," stating they could not get a chance to get shaved, especially on a Saturday afternoon, when they were very anxious to get "dolloed up" for Sunday.

On Thursday there was a novel sight in a local barber shop, when husband and wife "dropped in" to get service. Hubby had a hair cut and a shave. His wife wanted to have her hair bobbed, but there was nothing "doing," as hubby put his foot down very strongly and said that he did not like bobbed hair, and just like a good wife she complied with his request and did not get her hair bobbed. Instead she called for a shampoo.

It looks as if there is great business ahead for the barbers when husband and wife go arm in arm to the barber shops. When the barber shops report a wonderful business you can put it down for a fact, as they are certainly drawing trade these days. Father goes for a shave or hair cut, mother to get her hair bobbed (that is providing hubby is willing), little Mary has to have her hair bobbed too, to keep up with the Joneses, little Willie has to have his locks cut once in a while, while the baby must also receive attention, so there you have the entire family going to the barber shop.

Yes, sir, these are days of big business for the barber shops. No doubt there will be a big rush to learn the trade.

The Delinquent Child.

The children's courts are saving thousands of young people from drifting into serious crime, but it may be doubted whether it is yet generally recognized how important is the necessity of full investigation into the development and antecedents of the delinquent child. We recall that Dr. Macnamara cited the case of a boy who met with an accident when he was 8 years old, which retarded his mental development, so that at 17 years of age he was a youth to all appearances, but, in reality, was on the level of intelligence of a young boy, with undesirable proclivities. He had been birced, sned, bound over on probation, and at last sentenced to three years' detention in a Borstal institution before it was discovered that there was a simple physical cause for all the trouble.—London Daily Telegraph.

A successful leader never drives.

ANTIETAM REFOUGHT—The brigade of U.S. Marines at Quantico, Virginia, is engaged in actual maneuvers. This year the men are marching 200 miles to the Civil War battle field of Antietam where they will reenact the movements of the conflicting forces in that great engagement.
