THE SHORT OUT.

The way to success Has been outlined, I guess, By hundreds of thousands of men. Rise early and work; Stay late; never shirk. You've heard it again and again.

Now I wouldn't say That way doesn't pay To get to the top of the heap; This much I do know. The process is slow; You're old ere the profits you reap.

But here's a short cut To get out of the rut. To cast off the poor work's yoke; With speed you'll advance. And your pay will enhance If you laugh when the boss cracks a joke.

Poor Charlie. Madge: "Charlie won't let you kiss him if you use wintergreen lipstick." Marjory: "I know that. I'm going to give him the raspberry." —James J. O'Connell.

All the Trimmings. Tom: "That fapper you danced with last night looked like a little doll." Jerry: "She was—and a hand-painted one, at that!" —Gilbert Burnham.

Some children are now called bright when they make remarks that used to call for a spanking. Those Horrid Bleacherites. An umpire who was sharp-eyed and willin' Made decisions that were perfectly thrillin'; Once he "erred" and they bottled him, Ran right out and throttled him— Their actions were perfectly killin'. —Marshall Pancoast.

The Supreme Court Sits. May: "That fellow cuts no ice with me." Fay: "No, he's a cheap skate." —Blain C. Bigler.

Life sentences frequently result from hold-ups in the parlor! Song. Radio, oh, radio! You have cost so much, I know, I can never pay, and so I call you my radi-owe. —Mrs. Harry Forbes.

Reel Life. Censor: "Those bathing girls are not properly clothed to appear before the public." Director: "Oh, we'll screen them all right." —Lillian Knowles.

Too Risky! The itinerant lecturer-preacher was a staunch Prohibitionist and always prefaced his sermon by a story (either true or mythical), showing the curse of drink. The congregation he was addressing listened spell-bound, as he told of a heavy drinker who met with a very painful death. This man was so rum soaked, that, in attempting to blow out a lighted candle, his alcoholic breath was ignited and his head exploded!

There was complete silence as the preacher finished. One sinner, in the front row, suddenly paid, beads of perspiration breaking out upon his brow. "Ah!" the preacher exclaimed, "You have taken this lesson to heart! Would it not be safer to give up drink?"

"Maybe it would," the man huskily replied; "but I know darn well that I'm goin' to stop blowing out candles, after this." —O. L. K.

No Use Living. Little Jean had been naughty. As a punishment her mother told her she would have to stay in the house. The little girl wandered around stimsely, then asking: "Mother, may I go out and play?"

"No, dear, you were not a good girl, so you must stay inside." "Well, mother, may I have two ice cream cones?"

"Why, Jean, you can't have two, but perhaps you might have one." Jean thought these things over. Then she went over and stood beside her mother and said wistfully: "Jean is a bad girl—can't go out and play—can't have two ice cream cones—oh—oh—oh Dod." —M. O'Sullivan.

Many husbands act as though they were being burned at the stake when only the steak is burned. Talking Politics. I. On public questions I don't like to talk with Peter Piepan. The reason is that Pete can shout much louder, sir, than I can.

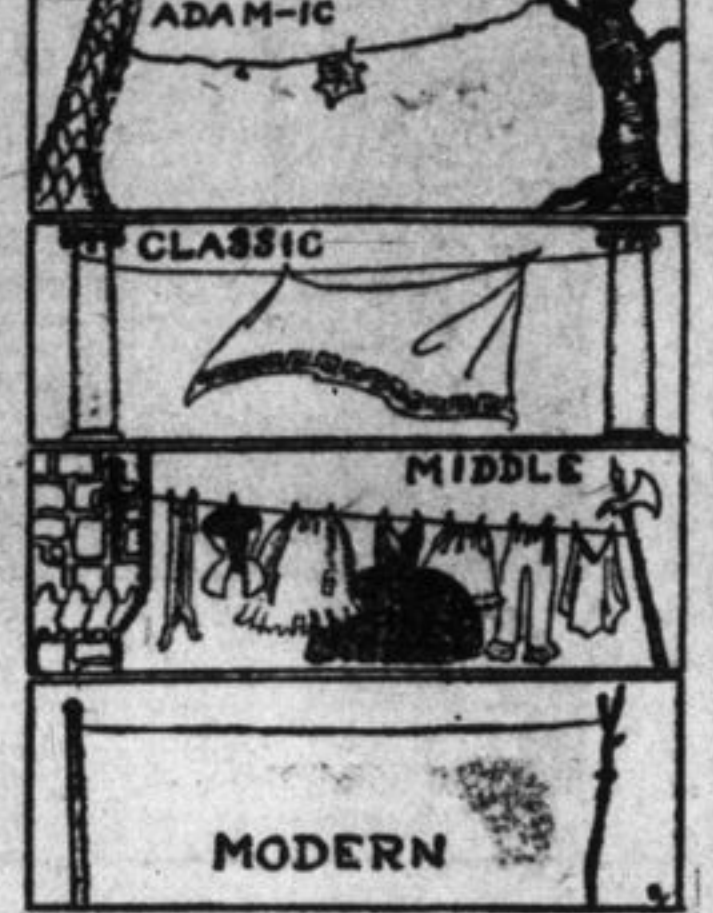

II. I love to argue with Bernard Victor Day. For B.V.D. agrees with me in everything I say.

III. I think the dumbest, meanest man I know is Charlie Sheerin. No matter what I say to him he won't succumb to reason.

IV. I tried to talk with M. T. Kann and tell him how to vote.

But when the interview was over I had lost my goat. —M. W. B.
Forced To. She: "Do you believe in love at first sight?" He: "I don't know any other way to account for it." —J. Willard Ridings.

Hear! Hear! Hear that siren whistle?" "No—I'm a little deaf—where is she?" —Mrs. John Krug.

The Clothes-line Through the Ages.

THE EDITOR'S GOSSIP "HOP."

Our Sales Week having proved very successful, we now offer a renewed stock of fresh humor, presented with the same values and service as before.

We did not know, however, that our daily little talks were so eagerly sought for. Therefore, to-day, let us mention that one reader sternly asked: "How and why is it you accept a contribution from John Philip Sousa and not from me?"

The fact that Mr. Sousa and others of note like to contribute to The Fun Shop should act as spur to all our readers. If they find the time to send in humor, surely you, with better opportunities for hearing good old natural fun, should make up your mind never to quit contributing. All things being equal, we will give you preference over a noted person. Could we say more?

Comes in Handy! Bang! went the second blowout within a half hour. "It's a great thing," muttered the perspiring motorist, as he stopped the car, "that I have a 're-tiring' disposition." —Emily Martin.

Goes to Their Heads. Bill: "Love, they say, is what makes the world go 'round." Jack: "I'll not argue that; but I do know it makes some people awful dizzy." (Copyright 1924. Reproduction Forbidden.)

Readers are requested to contribute. All humor: epigrams (or humorous mottoes), jokes, anecdotes, stories, poetry, burlesque, satires and bright sayings of children, must be original and unpublished. Accepted material will be paid for at from $1.00 to $10.00 per contribution; from $10.00 to $100.00 per line for poetry according to the character and value of the contribution, as determined by the Editor of "The Fun Shop." All manuscripts must be written on one side of the paper only, should bear name of this newspaper, and should be addressed to Fun Shop Headquarters, 110 West 40th Street, New York City. Unaccepted contributions cannot be returned.

Rotary Club Activities.

Tuesday of this week will be a "Red Letter Day," in the history of the local Rotary Club, as there will be two events on that day. The district governor, Clarence Williams, will pay a visit to the club at a luncheon to be held at noon, in the British-American hotel, and in the evening the celebrated Welsh choir will give a programme in Grant Hall under the auspices of the club. The luncheon will be held at the usual time (12.30) and Governor Williams will have a stirring message for the members. This is the first visit of the newly appointed governor, and it is hoped to have a hundred per cent attendance.

The Rotarians are also holding a big motor parade to-night (Monday) in order to boost the Welsh choir concert at Grant Hall on Tuesday night. The parade is due to leave the British-American hotel at 7.15 (sharp). The members have been asked to be at the hotel at 7 o'clock, so there will be no delay in getting the parade off to a good start.

Petworth Personalities. Petworth, Sept. 4.—Alexander Carr and wife and Mrs. Ray Carr, of Utica, N.Y., also Thomas Carr, Kingston, are visiting at James Carr's. Miss Ruby Garrison, of Windsor, is spending her holidays at her home here. School has reopened with Miss Muriel Sigsworth, of Harrow, as teacher. Mrs. Percy Wilson, Bicknell's Corners, spent Thursday at Manford Garrison's. Robert Carr and Miss Florence Convery were quietly married at Harrow on Wednesday last. A number from Kingston spent Labor Day here. The school fair is being held at Harrow on Monday, Sept. 8th. Those on the sick list are improving slowly.

WELSH CHOIR HERE TO-MORROW NIGHT

Will Be at Grant Hall Under Auspices of the Rotary Club.

Under the auspices of the Kingston Rotary Club, J. Cosgrove will present the renowned Rhondda Welsh Male glee singers and members of the victorious Rhondda Welsh choir at Grant Hall on Tuesday evening, September 9th. The choir has been meeting with most enthusiastic receptions during its tour of Canada and the United States, and Kingston, through the efforts put forth by the Kingston Rotary Club, has been fortunate in securing the choir for one performance on the date mentioned. It will, without doubt, provide one of the best musical treats of the season.

In addition to the singers, Professor Emyln Jones, an associate of the Royal College of Music and the accompanist of the choir is one of the most talented pianists and organists in the British Isles, and his rare musical knowledge and skill at the piano is of invaluable assistance to the artists.

Musical critics state that for solo work and ensemble, the choir is by far the best ever heard, and they cannot speak too highly of the entertainments they have given. It is a wonderful glee club and worthy of the support of every organization and the people who have the opportunity and do not avail themselves of it, will be missing something worth while. The voices are wonderful. The members are finished singers in every sense of the word. The clearness of their tones and sweetness of their tones is wonderful. Every critic states that the chorus work is beautiful.

TOWN OF DESERONTO

Death of Mrs. Williams—Little Ralph Aylsworth Meets With an Accident.

Deseronto, Sept. 8.—Mrs. Williams of East Thomas street passed away at her home early Friday morning. For years past Mrs. Williams conducted a small grocery store on Thomas street. Mole in Favor. Mole comes back to favor with furriers this year after several seasons where it has taken a negligible part in the fashion pageant. Due to its pliability and flexibility it is ideal for short coats and for ensemble costumes.

BUILDINGS BURNED AT MOUNTAIN GROVE

The Loyal Hotel, Two Dwellings and Blacksmith Shop Were Destroyed.

Mountain Grove, Sept. 6.—Four buildings were destroyed by fire which broke out here at 11.30 p.m. Friday. The burned buildings are the Loyal hotel, George Summers' blacksmith shop, and two residences which were occupied by Freeborn Cronk and Harvey Miller. The blaze originated in the blacksmith shop and got good headway before being discovered. Only the energetic work of the people of Mountain Grove and the surrounding district kept the fire from spreading to other buildings. There were ten people in the hotel and they got out before the building became a prey to the flames which spread from the blacksmith shop. Little of the hotel furnishings were saved. The two dwellings are also a total loss. The hotel was valued at $6,000 and the loss is covered by insurance.
