FINED IN COURT

William J. Smith, North Bay, Said He Liked to Wager.

"Two to one on Fred Patch," callout William J. Smith, who came the fair with a string of horses from North Bay, as he stood on the race track on Tuesday afternoon, very much excited.

It is unlawful to record bets on race track of an association not incorporated by act of parliament. Police Constables Thomas Garrity and Mullinger happened to be close at hand at the time, so Smith was taken in charge, and in the police court on Wednesday morning, he was fined $100 and costs, with the option of three months in jail. Magistrate Farrell remarked that the maximum fine amounted to $1,000. Constable Garrity stated that Smith stood in front of a number of men, and that he was shouting that he would give "two to one," on Fred Patch. Smith had an official programme in his hand at the time he was calling for bets. The constable stated that the accused was asking the men to pick out their horses, and that he was putting odds on The horses and taking the bets from different men. Constable Garrity said he saw Smith receiving the money. Smith tried to tear up his race programme, but Constable Mullinger was too quick for him and the card that he was simply acting as a "stakeholder." "Do you call that being a stakeholder calling for bets at 2 to 1?" sked Magistrate Farrell Smith stated further that he came to Kingston, with a stable of horses, and that he liked to bet on horses. A motorist pleaded guilty "in absentia," to a charge of running his car at a greater speed than ten miles at a street intersection, and was fined $5 and costs.

An assault case was allowed to stand over for a day or so. A city alderman, who was before the court a few days ago for passing a standing street car with his auto. and whose case was dismissed by the magistrate, is to come before the court again on Thursday, this time to answer to a charge of breaking another section of the by-law governing street traffic.
