come from a blow, leaving the fibres intact. In this case, if the surface is solid, not veneered, cover the dent with small pieces of blotting paper dipped in hot water and apply the tip of a heated poker to the topmost piece of paper; repeat as often as is necessary to cause the compressed wood fibres to swell to their former dimensions. If, however, the dents are places where pieces of the wood has been gouged out, the only thing you can do is to fill the smaller cavities with stick-shellac of the same color. (You must hire a cabinet maker to fit pieces of new wood into the larger ones.)

Answered: "I do try to keep my house new-looking, but my maid has just begun to mar the woodwork of the front door around the brass door-plate, when she polishes the plate. What can be done?" Answer: To protect the woodwork surrounding a door plate, have a tinsmith cut you a piece of tin the exact size of the plate and slip this over the plate while cleaning. Or you could use heavy cardboard instead of the tin, but cardboard would have to be renovated frequently whereas the tin would last indefinitely.

Inexperienced: "How are fruit stains removed from one's hands?" Answer: Moisten cornmeal with vinegar and rub this on the stains. Or else grease your hands with lard and then wash with soap and water.

Tomorrow—Can You Make Good Doughnuts? All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the names of your city and state. —The Editor.

Answered Letters: Elsie: "How are varnish stains removed from a white dress?" Answer: Saturate with turpentine, rub the hands, then sponge with either chloroform or alcohol. Wash as usual.

Inquirer: "How can I kill wasps in my attic?" Answer: To destroy wasps place on the attic beams, or on window sills or shelves, saucers of water containing one teaspoon each of sugar and formalin (formalin is a poison, so do not leave it where children or pets can get at it). The wasps will eat the mixture and die.

Mrs. C.: "Someone recently asked for Sour Milk Pancakes: Mix and sift two and one-half cups of flour, one and one-fourth teaspoon of soda and one-half teaspoon of salt, then add about two cups sour milk and one beaten egg."

Answer: Thank you for this excellent recipe. Old Housekeeper: "There are some terrible dents in my woodwork, due to renting the house to a family with children. What can be done?" Answer: The dents can be overcome if they are the kind which

St. Andrew's Young Woman's Auxiliary

On Monday evening at the opening meeting of St. Andrew's Young Woman's Auxiliary, Miss Agnes Staples, Sault Ste. Marie, one of a staff of four teachers in the Italian and All Peoples Mission in that city, gave an interesting and instructive talk on her work. She reported progress and an increased interest in the Sunday school and the Junior boys and girls clubs, composed of children of all nationalities. Photographs of the boys and girls were shown. Miss Ella Spence sang a much enjoyed solo.

WOMAN'S INSTITUTE.

MORTON. The monthly meeting of the Morton Women's Institute was held at the home of Mrs. O. Willis. The meeting opened by the singing of the Institute Ode and of the roll call. A very good number out with a few visitors present. The business part of the meeting was then carried on and it was planned to send the library back and get another. Mrs. B. N. Henderson gave a splendid paper on "Courtesy in the Home" and "Polishing your Diamonds," which was enjoyed by all. Mrs. J. Leon gave a paper on the O. T. A. and urged all members to stand by it at the coming vote. Mrs. O. Willis favored us with several selections on a victrola and we also had a few numbers of community singing. Refreshments were served and a social half hour spent. The October meeting will be held at Mrs. H. Deans. Then the meeting was brought to a close by the singing of God Save The King.

NAPANEE.

The members of the M. W. I. were called to the Agricultural Rooms on Tuesday, Sept. 16th, after a two month's holiday. The meeting opened with the usual procedure after which the District Director gave a report of the Lennox Women's Institute Convention held on June 30th last in the form of a union picnic at a beautiful spot along the Bay of Quinte shore, near Bath. No special programme had been prepared for the afternoon, it was just a business meeting, but with an atmosphere as delightful as a prospective holiday. A number of plans were laid for the execution of the year's work and the executive was complimented upon the new programmes for the year, which were just off the press, ready for distribution. The meeting closed with the singing of the National Anthem.

The Editor Hears

That the Kingston Historical committee is most grateful to Mrs. R. R. McGregor, who made the handsome French flags used in the Frontenac and Bradstreet scenes, and to Mrs. L. F. Goodwin, who drew four scenes, and the arms of Canada and the provinces. Mrs. Goodwin is a professional and has exhibited pictures in the Royal Academy, London, Eng. It would be most interesting to have a painting of the landing of Count Frontenac, the surrender of Fort Frontenac and other scenes of the outstanding events in the history of Kingston from the brush of this talented artist, who paints as well as she draws. Post cards from such pictures would do much to advertise Kingston.
