The Reason.
Stranger: "What makes this town so quiet?"
Resident: "The big wind we had the other day. It blew down all the aeriads."
—G. T. Evans.

Pretty Thick.
Angle New: "It's getting harder to make up for my parts than it used to be."
Cora Fee: "Why so?"
Angle New: "One can't get enough on to look natural."
—H. R. Baukalge.

"Try this on your piano," remarked Mrs. Tinker to her musical daughter, handing her some piano polish.

Constitution.
I stood on the bridge at midnight, Looking up at Mars. A jlt came by and struck me, And I saw a million stars.
—Maude Flint.

Something Useful—For her.
Mrs. Burt: "What are you going to give your husband for his birthday, my dear?"
Mrs. Hammons: "I haven't quite decided yet. Either a vacuum cleaner or that new electric oven I've always wanted."
—Belle Dorothea Fein.

Accomplishment.
"Is your wife a good cook?"
"No, but she swings a mean can opener."
—Claire Sudlar.

Not Popular Now.
Alice: "I wish I could show you Jack's love letters."
Annabelle: "Thanks, I don't care much for summer fiction."
—Bernice Phillips.

Marry, Marry, Quite Contrary.
Little Mary and her cousin James were playing, when the following was overheard:
Mary: "James, when I get grown I'm going to marry you."
James: "No, you're not, I'm going to marry Susie Dean."
Mary: "Yes, but I will."
James: "No, you shan't."
Mary: "But I tell you I will marry you."
James: "Well, if you do, I won't come to the wedding."
—Josephine Pearce.

In For It.
What his wife knows of courts is nil; Her legal talent's very slim. Yet she displays the greatest skill In laying down the law to him.
—J. S. Culbreth.

Proper Place.
Madge: "What was that you said to the football player?"
Marjorie: "I wished him luck and hoped he would always come out on top."
—H. N. Rahsley.

Catastrophic.
Sometimes a woman suffers, so, it is a miracle that there's anything left of her at all.
Her heart is rent, her spirit is broken, her pride is wounded and her nerves are torn.
Her hands are tied, her nose is turned up and her tears drop down.
Her hopes are slaughtered, her ambition is crushed, her chances are killed, and her language is murdered.
Isn't it terrible?
Indispensable.
Stockholder: "I don't see why our corporation needs six vice-presidents. What do they do?"
Director: "They take turns sitting in for the president when he is playing golf."
—H. V. Gundersen.

The Humorous Boarder.
After a fruitless day on the lake, the boarder who always tried to be clever came up to the landlord standing on the landing.
"What's the difference between you and a bass?"
"What is it? I'll bite."
"That's the difference. The bass wouldn't."
THE JINGLE-JANGLE COUNTER.
All good things are of the past— Only shoes were made to last.
—S. F. von Ehren.

Salt has shakers, spoons have holders. Chorus girls shake wicked shoulders.
—Wilbur R. Soeger.

Judge: "Now suppose I grant you this divorce, will you marry again right away?"
Sweet Little Divorcee: "Oh, Judge, are you proposing?"

PRINCIPAL'S ADDRESS TO THE FRESHMEN

Who Learn About the "Queen's Spirit" — New Physical Instructress for Girls.

Arts freshman and freshettes and Science first year men filled Convocation Hall on Sunday afternoon to hear Principal R. Bruce Taylor's welcome to the newcomers.

Dr. Taylor's remarks began with an interesting history of their new Alma Mater, tracing it from its beginning in 1841, with the aid of the paintings of the principals on the walls and photographs he brought along. He reviewed too, the history of the buildings on the college campus. Speaking of the recent fire, he said it was the college's present intention to rebuild the old medical building two stories high, which would be its original form.

He told the new undergraduates what was meant by the celebrated "Queen's spirit." It was more than a good fellowship or athletic enthusiasm. It included a willingness to experiment, and he explained how Queen's had led in co-education, medical education for women, extra-mural courses, summer school work, commercial and accountancy courses. It was a lawyer who graduated from Queen's solely through extra-mural work who had recently founded the Adam Shortt scholarship. Queen's spirit was again seen in liberty of thought. The professors were free to teach what they thought in connection with their work.

The principal closed with words of advice. Study was a primary object in coming to Queen's. A fair amount of work was demanded seeing that fees covered only a third of the cost of a student's education and funds were limited. Learn to concentrate. Have nothing to do with a "stupp." Take part in university life and student government, attend church, write home every week, treat Principal and professors as interested friends and counsellors.

"Bud" Thomas, secretary of the Alma Mater Society, introduced the principal, who was heard with deep interest.

Miss Alice Roy, who has come to Queen's to take over the duties of physical instructress for the girls, is a graduate in arts of McGill and also took the full course there in physical training. Her home is in Montreal.

Dr. Harold Angrove is again the physician for the students under the health scheme by which a student pays four dollars health insuring insurance on registration and receives free medical and seven days' hospital treatment during the winter if required.

JEWISH NEW YEAR

The year 5685 from the creation of the world opened this year on Sunday at sunset. According to tradition, the Jewish religious era begins with the Creation, and still follows the ancient lunar year, each month beginning with the new moon.

Special services will be held in all synagogues commencing Sunday evening, and two days following. The celebration of the New Year is kept for two days in orthodox congregations, and for one in the liberal synagogues.

The New Year festival is strictly a religious occasion, as the civil calendar is used by the Jews for all ordinary purposes. The New Year is the first day of Tishri, the seventh month in the Hebrew calendar, the month of the high holidays.

This festival of the New Year is a religious festival appealing to the individual soul. It is known as the day of memorial and the day of judgment, each name typifying one of its central ideas. The Jewish New Year is a day for remembering the events of the past year, both national and personal; a day for the striking of a moral balance; a day for turning over a new leaf, and making new resolutions. At the same time, it is realized that the sins of the past carry their punishment with them, and so the New Year is also a day of judgment.

In order to impress upon the worshippers this double conception of memory and of reward and punishment, the service of the New Year is a specially imposing one. There are solemn prayers, many of them biblical, others connected with martyrs from the Jewish past. The melodies are haunting and beautiful. The scriptural lesson for the day is from the life of Abraham, with emphasis on his supreme example of sacrifice and faith, his willingness to sacrifice his son Isaac at the command of God. In most synagogues the English sermon is a prominent feature of every service, and on this day it dwells especially on faith as the foundation of the religious and moral life.

Finally, the ancient trumpet, the first musical instrument of the far-off days of the wilderness, is still used as a reminder of ancient times, and as a renewed summons to memory and repentance. This ancient instrument is made of a ram's horn, without a mouthpiece.

Thus the Jew enters his new year, not only with feasting and good wishes, but also with prayer and repentance.

Word was received at Calgary of the death in Regina of William Stoughton, a former resident. The remains arrived Friday for interment in the Barryvale cemetery.

FAIR CHURCH AND GOLF ATTENDANCES SUNDAY

What Napanee Reports—The Moderation League Has Started Organization.

Napanee, Sept. 29.—There were fair congregations at most of the churches in town yesterday but at Grace Methodist and Trinity Methodist churches, owing to it being Rally Day there were large congregations at all services. It is reported that there was also a good attendance at the golf links in the morning, about sixty or seventy being present.

At the Church of St. Mary Magdalene, the services throughout the day were conducted by Rev. J. W. Forster, of Kingston, owing to the absence of the vicar who is attending the General Synod at London, Ont. At evening Rev. J. W. Forster preached a most interesting and instructive sermon from the text "Why stand ye here all the day idle? Because no man hath hired us."

At Grace Church very bright and inspiring services for Sunday school Rally Day were conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. J. Terrell, B.A., B.D., assisted by Rev. J. P. Wilson, D.D., a former pastor of the church. Dr. Wilson was the preacher at the evening service. This church has the largest Sunday school in town, the attendance being about five hundred.

At St. Andrew's Presbyterian church the services were conducted by the pastor, Rev. A. J. Wilson, B.A., B.D.

Special rally services were held at Trinity Church under the direction of the pastor, Rev. W. R. Tanton, assisted by Rev. Roy Richard, M.R.E., who gave an interesting address at the morning service and was the preacher at evening service. The special music at these services was much appreciated.

The Moderation League have secured rooms above the Royal Bank, Dundas street, and are getting ready to take part in the contest of O. T. A. Pieblist, voting on which takes place on October 23rd. The Lennox-Napanee branch is under the direction of B. F. Davy, Jack Adams, secretary, and a committee of good representative citizens.

George Daly and Miss Margaret Daly leave to-day for Toronto, to resume their studies at Trinity College.

Miss Tillie Waller has entered Kingston General Hospital as a nurse-in-training.

Miss Edith Johnston and Miss Helen Davy have gone to Guelph Agricultural College, to study at the Macdonald Institute there.

Miss Mildred Brown has returned, after the long vacation, to Trinity College, Toronto.

Mrs. C. W. Vandervoort, John street, will be "at home" to her friends, Friday, Oct. 3rd and again on Thursday and Friday, Oct. 9th and 10th.

W. A. Grange, the genial town clerk, has returned to town re-invigorated after a two weeks' vacation.
