PRESENT TREND OF RELIGIOUS THOUGHT

Is To Break Away From Old Faith And Substitute Something Else.

Anyone who is in the habit of observing the present trend of religious thought can see the tendency of this world to break away from the old faith and substitute something in its place. This is the general trend of thought among the present generation, and, with the object of breaking it, the church of to-day must redouble its efforts," said the Rt. Rev. E. J. Bidwell, bishop of Ontario, to the congregation of the Church of St. John the Evangelist, London, Ont., on Sunday morning. "Student movements and other organizations of their kind, although valuable in themselves, tend to put the organized church in the background, and in general it is the widespread opinion that organized religion for which the church stands is passing," continued his lordship. "The creeds in their present form came later and were based upon New Testament teachings and experiences of early pioneers of the church. To get away from them would be fatal, reason for this being plainly evident in the fact that it would mean to get away from God. It may be all very well to talk of doing away with churches and creeds, but if they were gone Christian morality would soon follow and with that would go the nation.

"As members of that Catholic church we are the members of the greatest institution that has ever been conceived, and there has been nothing that has ever come up to the standards it has set. Shall we have the faith to hand to our children that our ancestors gave us or shall we say to them the day of organized Christianity is done?"

"No, emphatically no, we must appreciate the heritage that has been given us and hand it intact to our successors, feeling that when the Son of God comes He shall find the same faith that He instilled into the hearts of his followers."

MANTELL IN "RICHARD III."
Large Audience at the Grand on Tuesday Evening.
Kingston sustained its reputation of supporting the production of good plays on Tuesday night when the Grand Opera House was filled to see Robert Mantell in Shakespeare's "Richard III," the tragic story of the Duke of Gloucester's rise to the throne of England upon the murdered bodies of King Henry, the Lady Anne and the unfortunate little princes, was told vividly. Robert Mantell as he has always been, a powerful actor. He seems to have lost none of his power of portraying the character he represents, and as he was excellent. Henry Buckle, who took the part of Henry VI, spoke with a delightfully clear enunciation which was much enjoyed. Miss Genevieve Hamper was a beautiful and stately Lady Anne and Miss Agnes Elliott Scott was much admired in the role of Elizabeth, widow of Edward IV, the mother of the two murdered princes. Miss Theresa Colburn made a splendid Prince of Wales and the scene in which the little princes are torn from their mother was most dramatic. The play was well staged and the costumes excellent.

A large number of Queen's professors and students were in the audience taking this opportunity of seeing one of the most dramatic of the plays of the great English dramatist fittingly produced.

Death of George Raymond Roblin.
As the result of blood poisoning contracted by a slight abrasion of the foot, George Raymond Roblin passed away Monday evening at the family residence, Renfrewville, Ameliasburg township. Deceased was in his thirty-eighth year and was born in Ameliasburg where he resided all his life. He was a son of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Roblin. Mr. Roblin was a member of the Methodist church. A widow, one son, Theodore, and two daughters, Helen and M'rah survive in addition to the parents, and one sister, Mrs. Norman Duetta, Trenton.

Made A Presentation.
A meeting of the Home and School Club of St. John's school was held at the residence of Mrs. Robinson, the president for the very pleasant purpose of making a presentation of a beautiful umbrella to Miss McQuade, the retiring secretary. An address was read by Mrs. F. Murray, the new secretary, and refreshments were served afterwards.

Has Celebrated Coin.
Mr. Samuel McCullagh, caretaker at the armouries, has a fine collection of old coins, no doubt one of the best to be found in this part of the country. He has one coin, a Coventry halfpenny dated 1792, which carries an interesting story. Mr. McCullagh has coins of all kinds.

Enters Lockett Shoe Business.
Mr. Edgar Lockett, B. Com., who has been with the Edicott Johnson Shoe Co., Edicott, N.Y., for the past eighteen months studying the shoe industry, has returned to Kingston and entered the business with his father.

Donald Longwell died on Monday at his late home, 5th concession of Sidney township. For some time he had been seriously ill. Deceased was in his fifty-eighth year. "Welsh Cobblers" coal sold only by Mitchell & Co.

FINE HORSES WERE SHOWN AT SYDENHAM

High Standard of Farm Horse Bred at Chaffey's Lock Government Station.

Sydenham, Sept. 30. — Ideal weather conditions and an estimated attendance of over 1,000 combined to make the annual horse show of the Chaffey's Locks Horse Breeding Station, held at Sydenham, on Saturday, an unprecedented success. The Royal Canadian Horse Artillery Band provided music, and the officers and men of the unit gave interesting exhibitions of jumping and tent-pegging individually and in sections.

The Chaffey's Locks station is one of a number that have been established by the Dominion Government throughout the provinces of Ontario, Quebec and Alberta, in localities where the nature of the country is adapted to the raising of a high type of horse. The station in Ontario as established at Chaffey's Locks on account of the high standard of farm horse which the nature of the country has produced.

Conspicuous in the actual promotion of the scheme are C. N. McRae, chief of the horse division, Livestock Branch, Department of Agriculture, and Mr. Duncan Brown of the same office. Major-General J. H. MacBrien, Chief of the General Staff of the Defence Department, a keen horseman, has contributed much to the success of the undertaking. The show at Sydenham this year was held in charge of Capt. Palmer Wright at Muldrum Stables.

The chief events of the show consisted in the judging of foals and yearlings sired by the station stallions. The yearling class was won by Mr. Stanley McCallum, of Sudbury, with his "Red King," yearling. Horses in this class exhibited by H. Moreland, of Harrow, Arthur Amey, of Perth Road, and Frank Keeley, of Railton, received second, third and fourth place respectively.

Foals—1, Melville Reed, M.P., of Mervale; 2, Charles Ewing, of Elginburg; 3, Frank Pellar, of Lealand; 4, E. E. Day, of Harrow, for horses for farm and delivery purposes.

Among other events was a class for horses for farm and delivery purposes, won by C. Eiderbeck, of Elginburg, and combination saddle and harness horses won by M. H. Stover, also of Elginburg. The winner of the yearlings class was purchased on the grounds and was said to have brought a handsome figure. Another circle of admiration was Mr. Melville Reed, M.P.'s perfect brown sired yearling, "Plate."

The excellent performances suitably concluded by sports, the prizes for which were donated by the merchants of Sydenham. The judges were Dr. R. E. Webster of Ottawa, and Lieut.-Col. C. F. Constantine, Royal Canadian Horse Artillery, Kingston.

QUEEN'S REGISTRATION.
More Freshmen Enter Both Arts and Science.
Increased registration in the freshmen years of both arts and science are shown in this fall's figures, as compared with those of 1923, through the total registrations are not yet up to those of a year ago. However students who received permission to register late have yet to come in and will swell the figures to some extent. The lowering of matriculation standards possibly explains the increases in the first year.

There are 88 science freshmen as compared with 71 last year. Those previously registered total 120, compared with 169 last year. The total is 208 this year, 240 last year. In first year arts there are 185 students. Last fall there were 171. Those previously registered total 410, compared with 437 last fall. The totals are 595 this year, 608 last year.

Medical registration is still going briskly on but never fluctuates much because the number of first year men is limited to fifty.
