SEVEN SENTENCE SERMONS
Trifles make perfection, but perfection is no trifle.—Michael Angelo.

Christ gives a new heredity when he teaches us "Our Father."—Maltbie D. Babcock.

To grow a little wiser day by day
To school my mind and body to obey,
To keep my inner life both clean and strong,

To free my life from guile, my hand from wrong,
To shut the door on hate and scorn and pride,
To open them to love the windows wide

To meet with cheerful heart what comes to me,
To turn life's discords into harmony,
To share some weary worker's heavy load,

To point some straying comrade to the road,
To know that what I have is not my own,

To feel that I am never quite alone:
This would I pray from day to day,
For then I know my life would flow
In peace until it be God's will I go.

—Anonymous

The only competition worthy a wise man is with himself.—Mrs. Jameson.

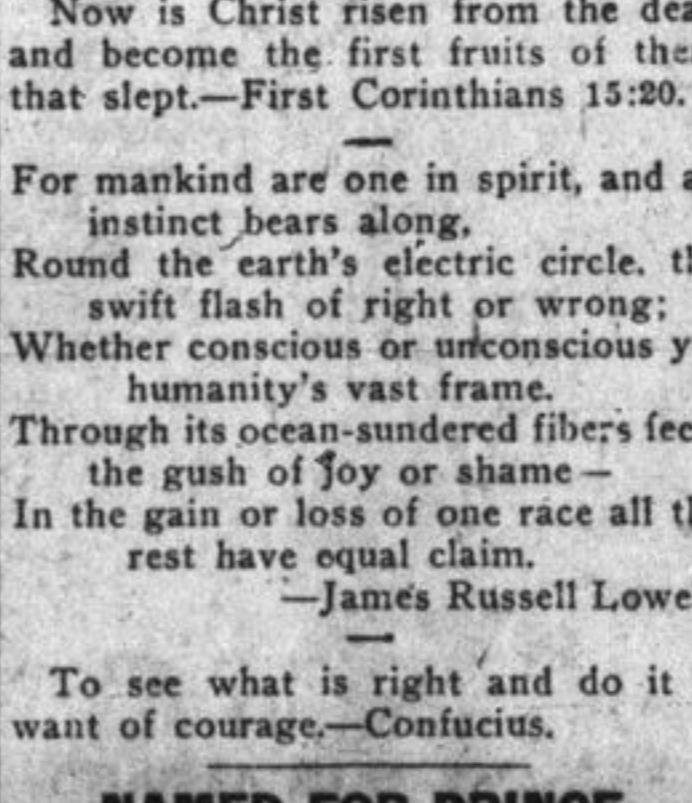

Now is Christ risen from the dead and become the first fruits of them that slept.—First Corinthians 15:20.

For mankind are one in spirit, and an instinct bears along.
Round the earth's electric circle, the swift flash of right or wrong;
Whether conscious or unconscious yet humanity's vast frame,
Through its ocean-sundered fibers feels the gush of joy or shame—
In the gain or loss of one race all the rest have equal claim.

—James Russell Lowell.

To see what is right and do it is want of courage.—Confucius.

The Duke of Alba (left) direct descendant of Christopher Columbus and King James II, greatest peer in Spain, master of the King's Home, a close personal friend of King Alfonso, a scholar and author of two great historical works, visiting the Canadian Pacific Rockies on his first trip to the North American continent. His party includes: The Duke of Fernanda (and Duchess), brother of the Duke of Alba, a great big-game hunter of Africa; The Marquis of Viana, the Duke of Alba's father-in-law, who is the wealthiest man in Spain; The Marquis de Coquilla, son of the Marquis of Viana, a Captain in the Spanish Navy; Count Esbandon, of Mexico, and Mrs. M. Hyde, wife of the former American Ambassador to Berlin and Constantinople, who is said to be on intimate terms with more royal families than any other woman in Europe.
