Displaying Opposition to the Pact Between Old Line Political Factions

London, Oct. 22.—More extreme members of the Liberal and Conservative parties display considerable opposition to the pact between the two old line political factions. Notwithstanding that H. H. Asquith, Liberal leader, has bestowed his blessing on the reciprocal arrangement by which candidates of either party are standing aside to avert three-cornered contests, some people hint that the veteran leader takes a roseate view because the Conserva-

New York Newspaper Publishes Libelous Statements Concerning the Prince of Wales

Montreal, Que., Oct. 22.—If what is said by certain newspapers about the Prince of Wales were said about an ordinary citizen, the papers making the statements, or insinuations, as the case may be, would be immediately sued for libel and damages demanded.

This is the opinion expressed here to-day in the Royal suite at the Ritz-Carlton Hotel by members of the prince's staff, who commented on the publicity attending all the movements of his Royal Highness.

A New York newspaper was displayed in which there was a story coupling the name of the Prince with that of a stage beauty, who was reported to be "sailing for England on the same ship," the story tapering off with the text of an alleged telegram from General Trotter, the Prince's aide.

This "telegram" was branded as the product of "a liar's mind," and the paper that printed it was de-

The case has already been given some consideration by the cabinet, but no decision was announced pending the judgment of the Supreme Court on the petition for habeas corpus. Since the last meeting of the cabinet, the department of justice has received further representations on behalf of the condemned men, which are now under consideration.

PLEBISCITE BULLETINS IN MEMORIAL HALL

The people of Kingston are cordially invited to be the guests of the British Whig Publishing Company in Memorial Hall, City Buildings, Thursday evening, when the returns from the voting on the O.T.A. Plebiscite throughout Ontario will be projected on a screen directly off the Whig's special wire in the building. Arrangements have been completed for a special telegraphic service direct to Memorial Hall and as the returns come in they will be promptly flashed on the screen. The possibility of cold or stormy weather makes this a much more desirable method of hearing the returns than standing in front of the bulletin boards. Films of an entertaining nature will be shown in the intervals while further returns are awaited in an effort to make the evening as pleasant as possible for those who lose out on the vote. For those who win the more results will be sufficient. Come to Memorial Hall Thursday evening and receive the plebiscite returns in comfort.

BRITISH PREMIER MAKES A BID FOR LIBERAL HELP

Refuses To Believe That They Are the Pawn of Tories—Liberal Prospects Better After Lloyd George's Trip.

London, Oct. 22.—Liberal prospects are brightening according to reports circulated from that party's headquarters today. Lloyd George, always full of enthusiasm, has started a lightning tour of the Lancashire industrial towns and has infected his supporters with some of his own ardor.

It still remains a doubtful point whether Liberal votes will be cast for Conservatism or Socialism in those constituencies where there is no Liberal candidate. Asquith has given his blessing to local pacts such as that by which he personally benefited at Paisley, where the Unionist candidature was withdrawn, but opposition to a general arrangement throughout the country proved so strong that the Liberal headquarters is still sitting on the fence.

Ramsay MacDonald yesterday at Sheffield made a strong bid for Liberal support. He did not believe for a single moment that the great mass of the Liberal party was going to hand itself over as a pawn to the Conservatives.

"Go on, my Liberal friends," he said, "and do not look behind. In the Labor movement we have the spirit that used to animate your souls, but a widened, brightened and heightened spirit."

Lloyd George dealt out criticisms of both Toryism and Socialism with even hands, and Liberalism, he said, stood for a safe and middle course between Toryism and Socialism. Toryism would leave the cart in the rut until the Liberal team came along to drag it out. Socialism would upset the cart in the ditch. A vote for a Liberal candidate would enable the Liberals to get a move on that would be a real and safe one.

James Sprott, Eastern Dairy School, Wins First Prize For Cheddar Cheese

At the Dairy Show in Islington, England—This is the Second Year in Succession Frontenac Cheese Has Won First Prize in England.

London, Oct. 22.—James Sprott, of the Eastern Dairy School, Kingston, was yesterday awarded first prize in the section for colonial cheddar cheese at the dairy show in the agricultural hall, at Islington. The second prize went to Lanark and Drummond cheese factory, Kinburn, Ont. A reserve prize was awarded to a competitor from East Griqualand, Africa.

Last year Mr. Sprott won third prize in the same competition, and W. C. Taylor of Burridge won first. This is certainly a great honor for the county of Frontenac to win the first prize two years in succession. Last year the council of Frontenac, in appreciation of honor which Mr. Taylor and Mr. Sprott had brought to the county in winning first and third prizes in this great competition which is open to cheese makers the world over, made a presentation in the form of clock and gold watch.

German Reichstag Elections on Dec. 7th; Extremist Victory Might End Stable Peace

Berlin, Oct. 22.—The federal cabinet yesterday decided that new elections for the Reichstag would take place on December 7th. Almost at the same time the Prussian Legislature dissolved itself and also named December 7th for new elections. According to late news from Munich the Bavarian legislature will likewise dissolve and order new elections for December 7th, and the municipal and provincial authorities in Prussia, Bavaria, Thuringia, and several other German states are now considering the advisability of holding elections on the same day. And while they are all at it Nationalist circles in the Reichstag lobby this afternoon seriously considered the advisability of asking Ebert to resign that a new president might be elected on December seventh. Indeed, it is the general opinion of experienced politicians of all parties that Germany is now entering upon an election campaign that in bitterness, passion and furor never had its equal in her whole parliamentary history.

Of Importance to France.

Paris, Oct. 22.—To France the outcome of the new German elections already looms as the most important event that can happen in the next few months. Neither the American nor the English decision is of vital importance, for the policy of both countries will in general remain the same as in the past. But on the result in Germany the whole future of France depends. A victory for the extremists might mean the end of state peace.
