The Editor Hears

That the London 8 Concert Company is coming back to Kingston. This will be good news for the music lovers and the fun lovers also.

That the women of England are taking a wonderfully active part in the British elections. Miss Margaret Bondfield, who has recently been in Toronto, is parliamentary secretary to the Labor ministry.

That the rich autumn coloring of the Boston ivy which clings to some of our fine grey stone buildings makes a lovely picture. Ontario Hall, one of Queen's fine group of stone lecture halls, is clothed in crimson and gold.

That the touch of frost on the last few nights has made the nuts more easy to gather. Boys with bags have been wandering in the woods every Saturday, but sometimes have had but little success.

That it may be dull and lacking in imagination but on the whole it pays to find out if a story is true before you pass it on to the next man—or woman.

In the Garden of Eden, planted by God, There were goodly trees in the springing sod.

Trees of beauty and height and grace, To stand in splendor before His face.

Apple and hickory, ash and pear, Oak and beech and the tulip rare.

The trembling aspen, the noble pine, The sweeping elm by the river line.

Trees for the birds to build and sing, The lilac tree for a joy in spring.

Trees to turn at the frosty call And carpet the ground for the Lord's footfall.

Trees for fruitage and fire and shade, Trees for the cunning builder's trade.

Wood for the bow, the spear, and the sail, The keel and the mast of the daring gale.

He made them of every grain and girth For the use of man in the Garden of Earth.

Then lest the soul should not lift her eyes From the gift to the Giver of Paradise.

On the crown of the hill for all to see, God planted a scarlet maple tree.

—BLISS CARMAN.
