

Canada's Part In British Election Campaign

The Mother of Parliaments

While Canada and the Empire do not loom so largely as an issue in the present British election as they did last year when Stanley Baldwin challenged the electorate on the question of Empire preference, yet the Dominion has a direct interest in the battle now being waged. Lord Beaverbrook is admittedly one of the forces which are exerting an enormous pressure in the shaping of the political destinies of the country, while at least seven Canadians are actually contesting seats.

In addition to these men there are several candidates who have close and intimate relations with the Dominion, including Mr. Percy Hurd, well known as a journalist, and as the editor of the Canada Gazette, who is now contesting Devon, Wiltshire, and Sir Newton Moore, a former Premier of Western Australia, who, as director of the British Empire Steel Corporation has paid many visits of inspection to this country and to Newfoundland. He is standing as Unionist for Richmond.

The seven actually engaged are Rt. Hon. T. J. Macnamara, who is again fighting in Northwest Camberwell; Col. Grant Morden, who is seeking reelection in Brentford and Chiswick; the Rt. Hon. Sir Hamar Greenwood, who is named as a Constitutionalist in East Walthamstow; Col. Hamilton Gault, former commander of the Princess Pals, who is appealing in Taunton; Captain Herbert P. Holt, who is making his bow to British politics as candidate in Upton Division of West Ham; A. W. Haycock, who is Labor candidate for West Bedford for which division he is the sitting member, and Cecil Hanington, son of a famous premier and judge of New Brunswick, who is a candidate in the Mansfield Division of Notts.

T. J. MACNAMARA.
The Right Honourable Thomas J. Macnamara can justly claim to be the oldest parliamentarian of the small group of Canadians who have had close affiliation with British politics and sat in the House of Commons. He was born at Montreal on August 23, 1861, the eldest son of T. Macnamara, of the old 47th regiment (now the Loyal North Lancashire) and graduated from the ranks of school teachers into politics as so many of his colleagues have done.

Mr. Macnamara was educated at St. Thomas School, Exeter and later attended the Borough Road Training College for Teachers in London. He acted as school teacher in Exeter, Huddersfield and Bristol from 1876 to 1892 and was president of the National Union of Teachers in 1896. He contested Deptford as a radical in the election of 1895 and got his first political preferment in January, 1897, when he was made parliamentary secretary to the Local Government Board. Whether he improved his chances for more important services by transference in the following year to the Admiralty is a matter of speculation, but there is no doubt that he works hard to perfect himself in the intricate technicalities of his new work. Before this time he had distinguished himself as an admirable platform speaker and one of the promising of the younger generation of politicians.

In 1891 this son of a private soldier became the editor of the Schoolmaster and in 1894 he achieved a record poll in his candidature for the London School Board. He fought Deptford unsuccessfully in 1895 against Mr. Justice Darling, but in 1896 he added North Camberwell to the scanty list of Liberal gains in an highly unpropitious dissolution. He is a great golfer, and has published a small book containing a most humorous collection of schoolboy blunders as well as many books on educational matters. For years he was a constant contributor to the daily and monthly press on social problems.

Mr. Macnamara held the office of parliamentary secretary to the Admiralty for 12 years between 1908 and 1920 and during that time he also acted as financial secretary to the Admiralty. From 1900 to 1910 he was elected for North Camberwell and since that time has sat for North-West Camberwell. He is very popular in his division and delights in campaigning. Few voters dare to tackle Tom Macnamara on the platform for silence many hecklers. He is an honorary L.L.D. of St. Andrews, and an honorary M.A. of Oxford. Mr. Macnamara is married and has three sons and one daughter.

COL. W. GRANT MORDEN.
Lieut.-Col. Walter Grant Morden, who has been Conservative member for Brentford and Chiswick since 1918 is a native of Prince Edward County, Ontario, being born there on July 20, 1880, his father being Capt. W. H. Morden. He was educated at the Collegiate Institute, Toronto, and he early showed a taste for finance, especially in the amalgamation and consolidation of competing companies. Col. Grant Morden is the founder of the Canada Steamships Lines and was the brains and the originator of the British Empire Steel Corporation. Other varied interests include large holdings in mines, steamship companies, trust companies, and many industrial concerns.

In private life Col. Morden's interests are taken up with his home life and his passion for fox hunting and the breeding of thorough-bred horses and cattle. He was Master of the Avon Vale Foxhounds and has exhibited all over the country, winning many prizes with his horses, cattle, and Scottish deerhounds. He has a beautiful country house at Heatherden Hall, near Heath, Buckinghamshire, within motoring distance from London and he delights in entertaining week-end parties of distinguished visitors to the Old Country from the Dominion.

Since early manhood Col. Grant Morden has been interested in the Militia and in military affairs, and during the Great War he held several important posts. He was a member of the Remount Committee and served on the staff of the Canadian Quarter-Master General. Later he was a member of the Pensions and Claims Board Overseas. He is honorary colonel of the 6th Duke of Connaught's Royal Canadian Hussars, and married in 1906, Doris, the daughter of Charles Henshaw, of Vancouver. He has two daughters.

At B. Gambell's, Walford, on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. S. Clark, K. Armstrong and Miss G. Emly were visitors at S. Armstrong's Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patterson were visiting at C. Patterson's this week. The threshing machine is at H. Cape's. Mrs. Hampton, who has been very low, is recovering. Mrs. Holman, her daughter from Toronto, has been with her.

SIR HAMAR GREENWOOD

COL. HAMILTON GAULT

SIR HAMAR GREENWOOD.
The Rt. Hon. Sir Hamar Greenwood, Bart., who was defeated last election in the Sunderland division, but is running this year as a Constitutionalist in the Walthamstow division of Essex, was born at Whitby, Ont., on Feb. 7, 1870, the son of John Hamar Greenwood, a barrister and grandson of William Greenwood, of Llanbister, Radnorshire. He was educated at the public school at Whitby and later proceeded to Toronto University, where he graduated as Bachelor of Arts. In 1911 he married Margery, daughter of Walter Spencer, of Pouthope Court, Herefordshire, and he has one son and two daughters.

After his graduation Sir Walter spent some time in the Agricultural Department at Ottawa. He was early connected with the Canadian Militia and spent eight years in that force with the rank of Lieutenant. Later he was a captain in King Edward's Horse and was placed on the General Reserve of Officers. During the war he was Lieutenant-Colonel Commanding the 10th Service Battalion of the South Wales Borderers (First Gwent) serving from 1914 to 1916, being made D.A.A.G. of Lord Derby's staff at the War Office in 1916.

Sir Hamar entered the House of Commons as a Liberal in 1906, and in 1910 he was returned for Sunderland. His first preferment was in 1917, when he was made Under-Secretary of State for Home Affairs. The next year he was Secretary of the Overseas Trade Department, and in 1920 he was named Chief Secretary for Ireland, a post which he held until 1922, during the eventful years when the treaty between the British Government and Ireland was signed. Mr. Greenwood is a barrister of Gray's Inn and a Bencher of that Inn, as well as being a barrister for New South Wales and South Australia, and New Brunswick, Canada. He is Chancellor of the Order of St. Patrick, and his recreations are shooting, fishing, golf and riding. He was created a baronet in 1915 and a Privy Councillor in 1920.

MAJOR LIONEL HANINGTON
Major Lionel Hanington who has taken an active part in Canadian affairs in London and is president of the London Canadian Club is contesting the Mansfield division of Nottingham in a straight party fight, standing as a Conservative against P. R. Varley, the sitting member, who has a majority of over 5,000.

Major Hanington is a son of the late Daniel Lionel Hanington who was for many years a prominent figure in the public life of New Brunswick. He was a Liberal of the old school in provincial affairs, but in federal matters he supported Sir John A. Macdonald. He was Premier of New Brunswick from May 1882 to February, 1888 and later was a judge of the Supreme Court of the province.

COL. HAMILTON GAULT.
Lieut.-Colonel Andrew Hamilton-Gault, D.S.O., was born in England in 1882, the eldest son of A. F. Gault, of Montreal, member of one of the best known families in the commercial life of Canada. In 1904 he married Marguerite, daughter of Hon. G. W. Stephens, another well known Montrealer, and secondly he married in 1922, Dorothy Blanche, younger daughter of C. J. Shuckburgh, of Hatch Court, Taunton.

Col. Gault was educated at Bishop's

CAPT. H. P. HOLT

College School, Lennoxville, Quebec, and later at McGill University. He served as a subaltern in the South African War with the Second Canadian Mounted Rifles. He had inherited great wealth, and early in life became a partner in the old establishment of Gault Brothers, the Montreal Cotton Company and many other enterprises and he has long been prominent in the commercial and industrial life of Montreal. Always keenly interested in military matters, he was only eighteen when he volunteered for service in South Africa and he made a fine record for himself, winning the Queen's medal with three clasps.

When the Great War broke out he raised and equipped the Princess Patricia's Light Infantry at his own expense for service overseas and won a name that was known throughout the world by the exploits of the regiment which he commanded. Every man in the original regiment with scarcely an exception was an experienced soldier and it was well officered. Col. Gault was wounded three times, and four times was mentioned in despatches. He was decorated with the Order of St. Anne with Crossed Swords, the Order of the Crown of Belgium, as well as the D.S.O. He was Consul-General for Sweden for Canada from 1908-1911. He has a town house in Montreal and a country residence at St. Hyacinthe, as well as a residence in England. His favorite pastimes are hunting and fishing.

CAPTAIN H. P. HOLT.
Captain Herbert Paton Holt, M.C., son of Sir Herbert S. Holt, president of the Royal Bank of Canada and of the Montreal, Light, Heat & Power Company, was born in 1880. Following his graduation from the Royal Military College at Kingston, he received a commission in the Dragoon Guards of the Imperial Army. His service in the regiment previous to the war took him to England, Egypt and India. Upon the outbreak of the war he proceeded immediately with his regiment to the front and served throughout the whole period of hostilities until a month before the Armistice, when he was severely wounded at Cambrai, where Imperial units were at the time supporting the Canadians.

His earlier activities in the political field were largely in the way of studying the situation and in assisting the Conservative forces in the constituency in which he is now, himself, a candidate—the Upton division of West Ham. Among his political friends are Lords Rothermere and Beaverbrook.

Captain Holt married Miss Elizabeth Cairns, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Cairns, of Montreal, a year ago last June. They have one child, a son.

A. W. HAYCOCK.
Of Canadian adventures who have made a name for themselves in Britain none have had a more romantic career than A. W. Haycock, the Labor M.P. for Adolphustown, Ont., a pioneer organizer of the patrons of industry, a forerunner of the United Farmer Society. Young Haycock was educated at the University of Toronto, where he became a partner in the old establishment of Gault Brothers, the Montreal Cotton Company and many other enterprises and he has long been prominent in the commercial and industrial life of Montreal. Always keenly interested in military matters, he was only eighteen when he volunteered for service in South Africa and he made a fine record for himself, winning the Queen's medal with three clasps.

WAS CHOKED TO DEATH

Lewis Kelsey, Lee Valley, Was Victim—Formerly of Leeds County.

Lee Valley, Oct. 21.—On Tuesday while eating dinner, Lewis Kelsey suddenly choked to death. Dr. Russell Jones, Massy, was called, but was too late to be of any assistance. The deceased was about eighty-six years old, and was badly crippled, also being nearly blind. He leaves to mourn his wife, son and daughter-in-law in the Valley, also brothers and sisters in old Ontario. He was one of the oldest settlers here, coming from Maple Grove, Gananoque.

On Friday the young people went to Walford with the play, "Willowdale." The sum of fifty-four dollars was cleared and an enjoyable dance was held afterward. Vincent Fishery has been to Copper Cliff with his brother.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Kees have moved to their new farm, formerly John Waram's. Miss Eleanor Waram is working at Mr. Robinson's, Espanola. Claud Williams completed his radio, he was making and it works fine.

Miss Cecilia McMillan arrived home Sunday from Gowanda, where she has been visiting friends. Mrs. Harold Williams has been keeping house for her father and brother while she was gone.

Miss Gladys Bell spent a few days with her friend, Lucy Waram. Merida Root was visiting friends in Pleasant Valley last week. Misses Spencer and Messrs. Leonard Hill and Claud Hampton were visitors at B. Gambell's, Walford, on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. S. Clark, K. Armstrong and Miss G. Emly were visitors at S. Armstrong's Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. Charles Patterson were visiting at C. Patterson's this week. The threshing machine is at H. Cape's. Mrs. Hampton, who has been very low, is recovering. Mrs. Holman, her daughter from Toronto, has been with her.

At this time of the year, special care must be taken to protect vital parts in the Throat and Chest against dangerous chills and the strain of changeable weather. The simplest and most effective precautionary measure is to take Peps.

As Peps tablets dissolve in the mouth they give off powerful volatile medicinal fumes. These have a purifying, invigorating and fortifying influence on the entire breathing system. They swiftly exterminate microbe germs in the throat and air-passages, banish troublesome coughs, colds and chills, and strengthen and protect chest and lungs.

IMPORTANT.—The immediate 50% reduction in the price of Peps is only made possible by increased sales & lowered costs.
