Life and Letters of WALTER H. PAGE

Walter H. Page lived during a period that will crowd the history pages of the future. He lived history and helped to make it. His life and letters are History, Literature, Romance, Biography and Adventure, all crowded into one remarkable volume. Here is a true and unvarnished history of our own time, recorded in the brilliant letters of a brilliant man—recorded as it was being lived and breathed and passing into memory.

In 75,000 cultured homes are to be found the two-volume $10.00 set of "The Life and Letters of Walter H. Page." A one-volume edition of this splendid work has just been made. It is printed on a beautiful quality of paper from the large-type original plates, with all the illustrations, and is handsomely boxed. It is a bit of book-making of which the publishers may very well be proud, and the marvel is the low price.

Only $3.50

Better order to-day. It is sure to be oversold.

"YURES VARY TRUPLY."

By R. E. Alexander

Dere May:
I take my pen in hand .
To say—to tel you this
Leaves me as well as it finds you—
I hope. * (This is a kiss.)

I like you vary, vary much.
Do you like me—or not?
I'll have some peppermints for you
Tomorrow. * (You know what.)
Lizzie Bowman said yure hare
Was red—and I said 'Shame!'
Yure hare ain't red—it's only pink!
 (Here's some more of the same.)

Tommy Jones says yure his girl—
But you ain't are you dere?
You ought to feel my muscle once.
* (I guess you know these here.)
Yure going to wait for me, ain't you?
It won't be long—I'll hurry
And grow up—and you do the same.
With (Kisses)

Yures,
Ted Curry.

Realized It.

Mrs. Crabshaw: "That young man who is courting you seems to be rather frivolous. Do you think he realizes that matrimony is a serious thing?"
Marjorie: "Indeed he does, Mama. He's talking about breaking his engagement."
—J. J. O'C.

Vain Quest.

"Why didn't you wait for Dolly if she wasn't home?"
"They said she went to the barber shop."
—Joseph Zweisels.

Thinking It Down.

She sat herself down and loudly did weep.
For she said that her beauty was only skin deep;
Let me whisper it to you, I wouldn't speak louder,
I'm afraid it is only as deep as her powder.
—E. L. O'Brien.

With the Spoons.

"There is nothing new under the sun," quoted the professor.
"No," chuckled the cynic, "but love's old story always sounds original—under the moon."
—Martin Kregar.

I Am Tired of Trick Endings.

I am tired of trick endings.
Whether they be in a novel, in a play, in a short story or whatnot, I am tired of them.
I am tired of the detective turning out to be the crook, and the French maid being, in reality, a female sleuth.
I am tired of the hard-hearted father being, in truth, a devoted parent, who has been merely testing the character of his rather gay offspring.
I am tired of the fellow we took all along for the villain developing into the chief of police in disguise.
I want to see things end as I am led to believe they will. Not as the author thinks is clever.
I am tired of trick endings.
There are altogether too many of them in actual life.

Next!!

"John, I gotta get a shave in a hurry. How many ahead of me?"
"Only three hairbobs and a complexion pack."

Classroom-Kapers.

A first grade class was receiving its first lesson in reading. The young teacher was animatedly discussing the various members of the cat family.
"What do you call a baby pussy?" she asked.
"Kitten," replied Harold.
"Watch me while I write the first sound of kitten," said the teacher, putting on the blackboard the letter "k."
"Now," she continued, "who will tell me the first sound of kitten?"
"Meow!" was the prompt response of Jimmy.
—Lillian E. Piddian.

Considerate.

Judge: "So the landlord hasn't made any improvements on the premises?"
Tenant: "Only one, Your Honor. There's been a new advertising sign painted on the side of the building."
—Mrs. Albert Levant.

FIRES DID DAMAGE

At Lansdowne and Rockport—A Memorial Service on Sunday.

Lansdowne, Nov. 5.—Wallace Shipman's home was in great danger of fire, on Monday afternoon, when leaves caught fire from burning potato stalks and ignited the sugar-house and the drive house. Neighbors assisted in saving the other buildings, a great number from Lansdowne going to the rescue.

On Wednesday last while Mr. and Mrs. William Fair, Rockport, were in the village, their home was destroyed by fire. Part of the contents were removed. The loss is partially covered by insurance. Two or three carloads went from here to assist but the fire had made too much headway. The barn did not burn.

E. W. Stringer has purchased the Tilton property. Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Tilton, Montreal, were here on Thursday and Friday of last week. A. McConnell is relieving agent at Lyn for the next fortnight.

On Sunday morning, Nov. 9th, in Chalmers Presbyterian church at 11 o'clock, the Rev. J. N. Beckett will address the Royal Order of Orangemen. This is a memorial service for those of the Order who gave their lives in the great war. Services in St. John's Anglican church, on Sunday next, at 7.30 p.m.

Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Fowler, Mrs. Peppers, Brockville; Sgt. Fowler, Kingston, who is conducting a six weeks course of instruction in signalling at the armouries, Brockville, were callers on Thursday last. Mr. Hamilton's one-cent sale last week was a great success. A Halloween party surprised Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Shipman, Ivy Lea, on Friday last. The party consisted of the Alpha class and a few others. Mr. and Mrs. Shipman received many gifts. The Alpha class presented them with a silver bread tray.

Samuel Copeland and nephew, Howard Copeland, who have been living in Brockville, have returned to Lansdowne and are with Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Terry. William J. Webster, Brockville, was a visitor on Tuesday. The anniversary services in the Methodist church held on Sunday last were well attended, both morning and evening. Rev. M. J. Robinson, M.A., Ironopolis, was the preacher. Suitable music was rendered by a full choir. On Monday evening a bounteous supper was provided by the ladies of the church, after which a programme was given.

Rev. Mr. Dustin is in Toronto attending the one hundredth anniversary of the Methodist Missionary Society, being held in Massey Hall. Mrs. Dustin and daughter are visiting relatives in Gananoque.

Rev. Mr. Dustin and Rev. Mr. Robinson, Ironopolis, exchanged pulpits on Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Bradley, Lansdowne, will open their home, on Tuesday afternoon and evening, Nov. 11th, to anyone wishing to donate, bedding, dishes or fruit, to Mr. and Mrs. William Fair, Rockport, who lost their home by fire recently.

Miss Lettie Landon, Fairfax, entertained on Friday evening. Borden Dillon, left on Monday for Kingston. Mr. and Mrs. F. B. McNamee and two daughters, Kathleen and Victoria, Kingston, were visitors on Sunday, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. James P. Lynch.

Raymond Murphy has rented the McKay house on Main street. Mr. McCready and family have moved to Lyndhurst. Gordon Graham is moving into the house vacated by Mr. McCready. Mr. Cartright moved to the house recently occupied by Mr. Graham and Mr. Leith will soon be moving to the house he bought from Mr. D. B. Johnston, now occupied by Mr. Cartright.

Miss Lizzie Warren, Rockfield, spent a few days recently with her sister, Mrs. Nelson Warren. Mr. and Mrs. Frederick McDonald, Lansdowne, announce the engagement of their eldest daughter, Nora Cecelia, to Raymond Murphy, also of Lansdowne, the marriage to take place the middle of November.

The annual memorial service of L.O.L. No. 26, will be conducted at the Presbyterian church on Sunday morning.

GANANOQUE

Nov. 6.—Miss Loretta Littlejohn is visiting friends in Prescott. Mrs. Ernest Wemp and little son of Stella, are the guests of her mother, Mrs. M. Bishop.

Mrs. Jack McLeellan and children, Montreal, are expected here at the week-end to spend Thanksgiving with the former's mother, Mrs. J. Mooney.

Dr. and Mrs. Bracken and Captain Kenny were among those who went out to Egin for the opening of their new Community hall. There were over 200 at the banquet in connection with same.

Mrs. Albert Rogers and family returned to Montreal yesterday afternoon. R. Leah, Kingston, is in town assisting for a few days at the Rexall store.

Miss Nellie Kirk, Kingston, is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Kirk. Mr. and Mrs. Rossekran and H. Doornbos, representing Amsterdam and Hague newspapers and who are taking across Canada passed through Gananoque to-day en route to Montreal. It was a matter of great delight to them that they found themselves in the heart of the 1,000 Islands. They were also very pleased to meet a few natives of their country here, and when acquainted with their presence lost no time in getting in communication with them if not too far off the main thoroughfare. Among those who had the pleasure of meeting them was Miss Katherine Vallentgood and Mr. Van-Tilborg.

IT'S A WHALE OF A SALE

McKELVEY and BIRCH Limited SALE is getting more popular every day.

Here

is a startling event that you can't afford to miss. How it was made possible is a story full of interest and importance

Several Months Ago

we began planning to have this Sale. We found our contracting and builders' supply business growing so fast that we needed more room. So we decided to close out the RETAIL end—the hardware store, which gives us three floors. This action has saved you thousands of dollars since the sale started and every day from now on it will do the same—until the bare walls are reached. Come and save again!
