What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

THE LOST TRIBE TONIGHT. Not many months ago there appeared unheralded in New York strongly built man of thirty-four, bronzed and lean, with the look of a pioneer and an adventurer. He came from Australia and under his brawny arm he carried a portfolio filled with photographs the like of which none had ever seen before He also carried a tin box filled with reels of motion picture film. There came a Sunday morning when citizens in comfortable dressing gowns opened newspapers at the breakfast table to find whole pages of singularly fascinating and beautiful photographs taken in New Guinea, or cannibalistic tribes living where no white man had ever before penetrated. The Sunday newspapers marked the advent of Captain Frank Hurley and Kingson will be one of the first cities in Canada to see this wonder picture, "The Lost Tribe." It will be shown here at the Grand Opera House for three days commencing tonight, "The Lost Tribe," discovered in New Guinea by Captain Hurley, has been the subject of more magazine and newspaper articles during the past few months than have all the motion pictures ever made in Hallywood, They are the first pictures ever taken of chief occupation is cannibalism and head-hunting.
