ADDRESS BY DR. DYDE

Before Chalmers W.M.S. on
His Experience in Canada's Western Mission Fields

At the monthly meeting of Chalmers' W.M.S. yesterday, the speaker was Rev. Dr. S. W. Dyde, principal of Queen's Theological College, who gave a most interesting picture of his experience on mission fields in Western Canada. As almost forty years had intervened between his first experience as a young student missionary and his last when he replaced a younger man who was serving in the Great West, the changes in conditions of the Far West were very striking.

When a student, he had gone to a small mission west of Brandon, which at that time could boast of but one street. That was before the days of the C.P.R., and at the time when the Indians disturbed by the influx of white men into Manitoba, had begun to trek westward. The speaker told several interesting and amusing incidents of his work among these Indians. It was a church-going community and even before a missionary had been sent to them they had begun to build a church. The leader in this movement, a man named Peacock, was one of the first to greet Dr. Dyde on his return in recent years to the now populous city of Brandon.

During the Great War older men from the universities were called upon to take the place of young men who were volunteering for service overseas. Dr. Dyde offered himself and was sent to a far western mission on the Pacific coast, Vananda, a mining village. Here he labored during the summer of 1916 among miners and loggers—men of rough exterior, but with kind hearts. Unlike his first people, these men were not church goers and had to be reached in other ways. "But it was," said the speaker, "a wonderful experience—a glimpse of humanity which one could get in no other place."

The work was entirely undenominational, and the missionary was expected to visit everyone, regardless of sect or creed. An Anglican minister, Rev. Mr. Antle, who visited the mission once a month, and preached in the same church, proved himself a most sympathetic and valuable friend.

The people were very patriotic and much Red Cross work was carried on by the women of the community.

Principal Dyde added an extra word of praise for the children, who were especially sweet and lovable.

The address was enjoyed very much by all those present and the speaker received a hearty vote of thanks.

The devotional exercises were taken by Mrs. I. Allan and Mrs. A. L. Clarke rendered a very sweet solo at the close of the address.

Mrs. J. F. McFadyen presided. Several important business matters were discussed.

It was decided to hold the sale of Chinese lace on Tuesday, Nov. 25th. Mrs. J. Matheson, convener of nominating committee, brought in the names of officers for 1925, which will be voted on at the next meeting.

Potatoes Will Be Cheap.

There was a fair-sized market on Thursday morning. A large number of citizens were down for the purpose of buying potatoes, but there were very few farmers who had any for sale.

It was stated that it was very likely that the prevailing price for winter potatoes will be in the neighborhood of ninety cents a bag. In the country, potatoes are being bought from the farmers for forty-five cents a bag in some cases.

The steamer Wolfe Islander, which arrived from Howe Island at ten o'clock, brought a large number of islanders who had a nice lot of poultry for sale.

Beechbay Held Responsible.

In the superior court, Montreal, Justice Macleannan handed down judgment holding the SS. Beechbay, of Tree Line Steamships, Limited, responsible for damage occasioned to the SS. Royan, of the George Hall Coal and Shipping Corporation, when she went aground at the entrance to the Gatops canal. The plaintiff company claimed that the grounding of its vessel, which resulted in damage to the port bilge, was caused through the improper navigation of the SS. Beechbay. The owners of the Royan claimed that it was necessary to ground their vessel in order to avoid a collision with the Beechbay.

SHOULD BE IN ALL SCHOOLS.

Let the Children See the Fathers of Confederation.

The Ontario Trustees and Ratepayers' Association is planning to place a picture of "The Fathers of Confederation" in all the schools. The secretary sent out copies to members of the executive and asked for opinions as to the scheme. J. G. El-Hott, Kingston, past president of the Ontario Educational Association, replied:

"I am fully convinced that the picture of 'The Fathers of Confederation' should be as much a part of the equipment of every school in Ontario as the Union Jack, flying as the most head of every school building.

Every trustee board should take pride in adorning the school walls with pictures of the King and Queen and the great leaders and statesmen of Canada, and a splendid beginning would be in placing 'The Fathers of Confederation' in a prominent position.

Loyalty and love of country would be visibly taught and many a pupil would seek to become one of Canada's foremost men in making our native land the best and mightiest in the world.

We teach far too little of Canadian history; the glorious events of the past are full of romance, of devotion, of courage and foresight, and should be constantly impressed and presented to the generations that pass through our schools.

Let Canada live in their lives.

Couple Had Reconciliation; Charge Against Hubby Dropped

A young couple had a reconciliation before Magistrate Farrell in the police court, on Thursday afternoon, and as a result a charge of non-support registered against the husband, was dropped. From what can be learned, it appears to be a case of too much interference on the part of relatives, which resulted in the couple having trouble and causing them to separate, the charge of non-support following. The couple left the police court room together, with their baby, and it is hoped that the record will be one that so often appears in story books, "They lived happily ever afterwards."
