

FAMOUS WINNING FOOTBALL PLAYS

Bezdeck's Penn State Forward Pass.
This play goes a long way explaining the secret of Hugo Bezdeck's success at Penn State. Coach Bezdeck is particularly effective with the forward pass. The play shown in the diagram is cleverly screened and is directly over the scrimmage line, Bezdeck's favorite method for forward passing. The line is unbalanced. The backs lineup in a line almost parallel with the forward line. Centre passes direct to No. 1 Back who runs back to the right. Backs Nos. 2 and 3 come back and protect No. 1, who makes the pass. No. 4 Back delays crossing the line and then cuts over to the left. Left end No. 6 goes down the field and draws defensive halfback out of position. Right end No. 5 performs the same assignment on his side. Pass is made over the line to No. 4, who should have sufficient time to reach his position.

Stanfield's will not shrink! You don't have to buy a larger size than you'd ordinarily wear and "allow for shrinking." Stanfield's fits when you first put it on and with ordinary care in washing according to our directions, it will stay that way, as long as you wear it. And it stands strenuous wear.

THE NUT CRACKER

By Jos Williams

We agree with the experts it would be a tragedy if Dempsey quit the ring. . . Who would there be to support Mr. Kearney?

Strategy in sports has made remarkable headway but as yet no one has succeeded in working the hidden ball trick in a push-ball match.

A bullfrog that sings has been discovered in Louisiana. . . We think we heard him on the radio last night punishing, "My Daddy Don't Two-Time Me."

Red Grange should know you are never great until the boys begin looking for your weakness. . . No one ever has to look twice for a second-rater's weakness.

Headline says, "Coach Doubts Practisability of Pass." . . Well, it took some guys a long time to believe the world was round.

The season's developments have been such that when you say, "Sarazen wins," it is not necessary to add Sarazen the horse.

Mike McTigue has been barred from fighting in New York for a year. . . Will some one kindly tell us when Mike was ever found guilty of fighting anywhere.

If you found the straw vote bewildering, consider the fact that 5954 players have been named to date for the All-American eleven.

Only 30 people saw the Giants and White Sox play in Dublin. . . You can't fool the Irish; they know

PEACE

Captains of French and German football teams, playing in Paris recently in their first meeting since the war, kissed each other upon the cheek before the opening of the game.

a baseball bat is nothing like a brick bat.

"Hoppe Proves Mastery at Three Cushions." . . Sounds like a petting party.

There is such a thing as doing too much bragging about your climate. . . For instance, we note Jess Willard has moved to California.

Kicks-his-wife is the name of the left guard on the Haskell Indians' team. . . At first we thought it was a movie star, too.

We have nothing against the singing seal in vaudeville except that it reminds us too much of the theatrical debut of Babe Ruth.

It is said Tony Puente, Mexican heavyweight, has never thrown up the sponge. . . If Tony is like some Mexicans we've seen he doesn't even know what a sponge looks like.

It is very hard to understand a singing seal but at least the animal does not come back a dozen times for curtain calls.

Well, anyway, if Coxy Dolan hadn't filed that suit nobody would ever have known his first name is Albert.

The invention of a toy doll that sings jazz songs is announced. . . This is undoubtedly the work of some fiend seeking the abolishment of Christmas.

We suppose it's against the A.A. U. rules or something to kill a moose and not have a picture made of yourself holding the animal's coupes.

Mr. Rickard announces a feather tournament for the coming month, and it is to be hoped the customers will not take it too lightly.

Luis Firpo is in the midst of another strenuous training programme. . . Instead of sleeping until 4 in the afternoon he now gets up at 3.30.

A BILLIARD CHAMPION

Allen Hall, Jr., is another champion to be added to the list of three-cushion titleholders, according to a prophecy made by Charles C. Peterson, recognized as the leading developer of billiard material.

Peterson, be it known, is the world's greatest trick shot, holder of the red-ball championship and short-stop king.

Hall recently won the mid-west tournament and is ready to pit his skill against the leaders. Unlike the balkline game, dominated by Hoppe, three-cushions has had a half dozen champions in the last ten years.

The nickel gets the call for the contribution box officer than the dime or dollar.

In the select list things may not be the same as they appeared to us from the outside.

It's fortunate for some masters that their dogs do not know how mean and low they are.

Willie Lewis, managing Abe Goldstein, taught Carpentier how to box.

THE PERFECT BABY

The man who tells his friends about the latest tricks of his youngster and talks by the hour is one of the greatest of all nuisances.

NOVA SCOTIA GIRL SWIMMER

Eva Morrison, aged nineteen, of Nova Scotia, just swam the seven miles from Deer Island to Graves Light, Boston, in two hours and forty-three minutes. The temperature of the water was forty-eight degrees.

Catcher Steve O'Neill of the Red Sox started out to be a fighter but was stymied by parental objections. Ellsworth Augustus of Cleveland is one of the longest drivers in the game, amateur or professional. "Any kind of putting form is good," says Jack Hutchison. "Develop confidence and stick to it." Howard Elmke failed by one game to live up to a spring prophecy. He said he would win 20 games. A proposal to enlarge the size of putting cups has been voted down by the U.S.G.A.

Bill Tilden says golf and tennis do not mix, the success of Mary Browne to the contrary notwithstanding.

Marty Burke is in the throes of a fine comeback, having scored five straight victories.

Sandy Herd, noted Scot, is the world's record hole-in-one player, having 17 "aces" to his credit.

Georges Carpentier may return to America this winter for a return bout indoors with Gene Tunney.

Jim Corbett writes that his first ambition was to be a big league ball player.

Perhaps the biggest disappointment in either major league was the poor showing of Wayland Dean, McGraw's high priced pitching recruit.

Dempsey is ready to take on Strangler Lewis the wrestler in a mixed match if the promoters give him enough jack.
