MAXSON FURNAL JUREZ

The Village Auto-Smith.

By Charles A. St. Peters.

Under the cheery spreadnut tree The town garage now stands; The gay repairman toils in there With grease upon his hands; His face is spotted with motor oil, He is a clever man, Pierce Sparrows he doth tinker on And eke the lowly can.

The children coming home from school In good old days gone by Would stand and watch the bellows blow To see the hot sparks fly. Such simple pleasure would not meet The modern children's whim; They drive their own cars now, and oft Must bring them in to him.

When he, on Sunday, goes to church His piety to prove, He finds, when church is out again, The preacher's car won't move. Off in the middle of the night He's routed out of bed; He'll never get real rest until, Like engines, he goes dead.

She Didn't Make a Big Blow About It.

First Flapper: "Has Claribelle any accomplishments?"
Second Flapper: "Yes, she inhales."
—M. L. Brady.

Dough, Ray, ME, DOUGH!
Harry: "Your Ma sure has her hands full when she's mixing the dough."

Willie: "That ain't a marker to the way she has her hands full when she's separating Pa from the dough."
—John P. Robinson.

The Goose Hangs High.
Marshall: "What makes the plot thicken?"
Maxine: "A few stirring scenes."

A Barnyard Hit.
Our old mare, Bees, Is in great distress Since she went and bobbed her mane; She thought she'd look smart, But she knows, in her heart, That she looks most awful plain.
—Shepherd.

A Trained Vagabond.
Tramp (to ticket agent): "Does this train on Track 5 stop at Ken-wal?"
Ticket Agent: "Only for people who are put off for non-payment of fare."

Tramp: "Thanks! That's the train I want."
—H. Fisher.

After all, what did a little make-up matter when one had a collic with so lovable a disposition?
—Mrs. Frank Ennis.

Cause and Effect.
One day I was scolding my little girl and I asked her why she wasn't fat like her older sister.
"Well, sister was born before me and she had a whole lot more to eat," she exclaimed suddenly.
—Mrs. Joseph Barry.

The Invalid
Old Lady (over back fence): "And how is your husband getting along?"
Second Ditto: "He can't complain."
First: "Oh my! Is he that bad!"
—Lyle Heintz.

Exactly.
Mrs. Jones: "Henry, what time did you get in last night?"
Jones: "Ten thirty."
Mrs. Jones: Humpf! Your watch must have been slow."
Jones: "It was ten thirty. I asked the milkman to be sure."
Some girls are so reserved that you have to speak weeks ahead.

LETTERS TO SANTA CLAUS.

Kingston "Kiddies" Have Commenced to Send Messages.

Sure sign of the near approach of Christmas. The children of Kingston have commenced to write their letters to Santa Claus. The Whig on Thursday morning received two letters to be forwarded to Santa Claus. One little girl writes as follows:

Dear Santa just a few lines to let you know I am well and hope you are too. I want a doll and carriage and sleigh for my doll to ride in this winter, as I cannot carry it. Mummy wants a coat for winter and a pair of spats. Daddy wants an overcoat and a pair of boots.

Another little girl writes: "I want a big sleeping doll and a pair of skates. Mother wants a new dress and a pair of boots. Daddy wants a new suit of clothes. Baby wants a doll and a carriage. Aunt Ethel wants a new skirt and blouse and Joe wants a new suit."

GEORGE A. SUTHERLAND.

Retires After 43 Years of Railway Service.

On December 1st, 1924, George A. Sutherland, of 24 Hone avenue, Oil City, Pa., will be placed on the roll of honor of the Allegheny division of the Pennsylvania Railroad System. Mr. Sutherland as a young man entered the employ of the railroad company first working at a drill press in the shops at Oil City, Pa., on April 1st, 1881, continuing at said work until July, 1882, when he took up the work of fireman which he continued until promoted to engineer in July, 1884. Since this last date Mr. Sutherland has been continuously engaged as an engineer and rounds out a continuous and successful employment well meriting being placed on the pension list and honor roll of the railroad.

During the period of this employment, the subject of this sketch, has worked over three divisions of the railroad, namely, Oil City to Buffalo, Oil City to Olean and Oil City to New Castle, and is well known and highly respected by the general public as well as by the employees of the railroad, and those under whom he so faithfully served.

During all this period of service Mr. Sutherland has been a resident of Oil City and a property owner, having been born in Kingston, Canada, in 1858. He was married on June 11th, 1884, to Mary Bannon and to this marriage four children were born, three of whom are still living and reside in Columbus, Ohio. Mr. Sutherland who enjoys good health has made no special plans for the future, but expects to visit his old home city of Kingston, spend Christmas with his children at Columbus, Ohio, and later on occupy himself in traveling and sight-seeing, possibly later on will make his home either with or near his children. He will find a welcome wherever he goes because of his cheerful and sunny disposition which has always been his characteristic during the many years he has so faithfully served the railroad company. All who know him will regret to see him forsake the Oil City community if he should decide later on to do so.
