What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

DE MILLE'S "FEET OF CLAY"
AT THE CAPITOL MONDAY.
From the galaxy of a yachting party at Catalina Island, Amy Loring, young, spoiled by the generous allowance of a half-sister, finds herself faced with the necessity of work to support a husband, maimed in a fight with a shark which had menaced her.

Such is the central situation of Cecil B. DeMille's "Feet of Clay," the feature attraction at the Capitol Theatre, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, this screen play has retained all the modernity, zest and flavor which made Margaretta Tuttle's novel one of the reigning "best sellers."

The principal characters are Rod La Rocque (Kerry Harlan), Vera Reynolds, the new DeMille "find," (Amy Loring), Julia Faye (Bertha Lamsell), Ricardo Cortez (Tony Channing), Robert Edeson, (Fergus Lamsell), Theodore Kosloff (Bendick) and Victor Varconi.

The initial beach scenes at Catalina, punctuated by a thrilling race by twenty beautiful girls on surfboards behind fast speedboats, end in a wedding between Amy and Kerry on the huge Lamsell yacht, on route back to New York. Bertha Lamsell, half-sister to Amy, also interested in Kerry, cuts off Amy's allowance.

In New York, the poor efficiency engineer is a wall-flower at a gorgeous dance given by Bertha. A dance by Tony with his wife drives Kerry to the floor, a dance, collapse and the doctor's verdict that death menaces him if he touches his foot to the ground within a year. Amy becomes a model in the establishment of Bendick.

Then starts the play of two powerful dramatic forces. Harlan, helpless, knowing his tired wife needs recreation, is frantic, as Tony Channing appears with his invitations. On the other hand, Amy comes home at lunch to find Bertha Lamsell with her husband.

This situation brings the young couple to a misunderstanding. Disaster impends. And then in a novel and dramatic manner DeMille brings "Feet of Clay" to a fitting climax. You have seen so-called screen novelties galore, but you've never seen the real thing until you take in this picture. It's done in true DeMille style and more than measures up to the best thing he has ever done.

"THE SEA HAWK"
The "Sea Hawk," which is scheduled to open a week's engagement at the Capitol Theatre commencing Dec. 8th, is undoubtedly one of the epics of the screen, and nothing approaching its handling of naval scenes has ever before been attempted on such a gigantic scale. Four ships were especially adapted for the production, and they provide a magnificent spectacle as they either sail or are propelled over the waves by the hundreds of galley slaves and engage in realistic battles with pirates and corsairs. The scenes in England in the time of Elizabeth, and in the Algerian slave markets to which the fair Rosamund is brought are also striking and dominating as is the gallant Sir Oliver who becomes the hawk of the sea when forced from the slavery of the galleys. Milton Sills, in the role of the hero, does some exceptionally fine acting. Throughout he gives the impression of the ideal type for the story.

"WAY DOWN EAST"
"Way Down East," D. W. Griffith's human epic of the silver sheet, will be shown at the Strand theatre to-day for the last time. Those who have never been fortunate enough to see it will without doubt avail themselves of the opportunity of seeing it again, while those who have not seen it are urged to do so, as this will positively be the last showing in Kingston this season.

PLANS TO RELIEVE LOCAL UNEMPLOYMENT
Are Presented to the Civic Finance Committee by Mayor Angrove.

As a means of helping out the unemployment situation in Kingston this winter, Mayor Angrove has made some important recommendations to the civic finance committee. The work the mayor has outlined, and which could be undertaken and give men work includes the following:

Extension of water system on Montreal street to the city limits; Bagot street drain, Charles to James street; connecting Litton's factory with sewer; repairs to the break-water; installation of hydrants; putting Division street ready for paving.

The programme as outlined by the mayor would provide for a good deal of work and would be the means of helping out many men who otherwise would not be able to get employment during the winter months.

Business Improving.
In view of the improved business conditions, the Canada mill at Cornwall of Canadian Cottons, Limited, has begun to operate four days a week instead of upon three days a week. The Stormont mill will resume similar operations this week and the Dundas mill will likely be running overtime shortly as the result of greatly increased orders.

OVER 700 PEOPLE WENT TO TORONTO
By C. N. R. Trains For The Queen's-Hamilton Rugby Match.

Over seven hundred people, citizens and students, went from Kingston to Toronto for the Queen's-Tigers game on the C.N.R. alone. There were many who drifted Toronto-wards during Thursday and Friday and had excuses for staying over the week-end. On the midnight train to Toronto, which had a special sleeper, two hundred passengers from Kingston were carried. Then on the special train leaving the inner station at 8.30 Saturday morning five hundred fans were carried. The train had seven coaches and a lunch-counter car, and was pulled to Toronto by one of the new big engines, Number 6004. A fast non-stop run was planned, the train expecting to reach Toronto at 12.30 noon.

A feature of the train was the lunch-counter car, the first of its kind seen here by C.N.R. officials. A counter ran the whole length of the car and could accommodate almost a hundred patrons at a time. The meals served were very reasonable in price.

The Family Market Basket

The rain on Saturday morning seemed to have little effect on those who had brought their produce to sell on Kingston's famous market, but the buyers were not quite so numerous as usual. Quantities of vegetables were for sale at reasonable prices, potatoes bringing from 80c. to 90c. a bag, and cabbage and cauliflowers selling from 5c. a piece. Poultry was plentiful, but the prices were much the same as last Saturday. Ducks were from $1 a piece up, and fowl $1.75 a pair. Chickens were from $1.50 a pair upward to $1 a piece. Lamb 26c. and 25c. a pound. Pork 14 to 15c. a pound. Butter was still 40c. and eggs 65c. and 70c. Glover honey, No. 1, was 25c. and No. 2, 20c. N. E. Park, who lives near Hay Bay, had a splendid display and some very attractive looking squares were on the island market. Salmon caught near Adolphus town, were being sold by W. E. Evans for 20c. a pound. Apples were a great attraction and were sold quite reasonably. Mackintosh Reds brought 50c. and 90c. a basket, according to the size, and R. Wood, Odessa, had a fine load. Northern Spy apples at $6.00 a barrel, and Pewake's at $4.50.

KINGSTON-UPON-THAMES MEDALS ARE RECEIVED

By Mayor Angrove From The Mayor of the Old English Town.

Mayor Thomas B. Angrove received a fine gift on Saturday morning, in the form of four medals, two silver and two bronze, from W. E. St. Lawrence Finny, M.D., mayor Kingston-upon-Thames. The following letter accompanied the medals:
"Mayor's Parlors Municipal Offices, Kingston-upon-Thames:—Will you accept the enclosed medals from Kingston-upon-Thames for your museum at Kingston. These medals were struck by me to commemorate the millenary of King Athelstan, who was crowned at Kingston, Surrey, one thousand years ago—I am sincerely yours, W. E. St. Lawrence Finny, M.D., Mayor."

The medals bear the following inscription:
"To commemorate the millenary 1924 of the accession in A.D. 924 of King Athelstan, who was first king of all England and was crowned at Kingston."

Why the Mikado?
The Kiwanis Club in presenting "The Mikado" to the people of Kingston have a three-fold object: first, like their carnival last summer, to give the public popular, high-class entertainment and good value for their money; second, to encourage and produce local talent, which in the Mikado will prove a pleasing surprise; and, third, to raise funds to render Kiwanis service to those who need it, especially underprivileged boys. The poor of the city, too, will be better taken care of this winter if the proceeds of this undertaking reach the amount the Kiwanis club are hoping for.

The tickets are being sold by the caste and by the Kiwanians, but no systematic canvass has been made, and the Kiwanis club are depending on the generosity of all citizens to buy their tickets at the Grand Opera House. Come and enjoy the show and in so doing take a part in the worthy objectives that the Kiwanis club are planning to promote. Buy your tickets early. 50c. to $1.50.

St. Mary's Tea and Sale.

The tables were in charge of the following ladies: home-made, Mrs. Carey; candy, Mrs. McQuade, Mrs. Harrington and Mrs. Milne; ice cream, Mrs. O'Connor. The tea table was presided over by Mrs. Callender.

Forty Years' Service.
A very pleasant little ceremony took place this week when John Daugherty, general yard foreman of the C.P.R. here, received a gift from the staff of the freight office. Mr. Daugherty has been over forty years in the service of the C.P.R. and has a host of friends.

In the account given of the tea and sale at St. Luke's church, the names of Mrs. E. Cassels on the work table, and Mrs. T. Newton, who assisted at the various tables, were omitted.

THE WHIG'S ZOO

Responsible for Gun Fire.
A reader of the Whig, speaking about the gunfire at Fort Henry, recalls that the late Squire Robert Gibson, Glenvale, was instrumental in having the gun fired, taking the matter up with the government. It is stated that he asked to have the gun fired so that the farmers in the district could get the correct time. A grandson of the late Squire Gibson, Robert Gibson, now lives on the old homestead.
