MENTAL DISEASES NOW BEING CURED
Dr. Edward Ryan Addressed the Belleville Rotary Club on Monday.

The Belleville Ontario of Monday has the following:
Rotarians were favored with a very interesting and instructive address today at the Hotel Quinze from Dr. E. Ryan, superintendent of the Ontario Hospital at Kingston.

Dr. Ryan told of the great advances which have been made in the past few years in the care and treatment of mental diseases.

When he graduated in medicine mental diseases were barely touched upon in the studies; the body was the physicians' sole care. Now two days a week the medical students of Queen's University spend at the Ontario Hospital studying the patients and their mental defects. Dr. Ryan urged that all nurses make a study of mental ailments, without which their competence would be seriously curtailed. The care, treatment and cure of mental disease occupied the attention of many finely equipped institutions in Ontario, which led the world, he said, in this direction.

Mental diseases can be cured and out of one hundred and nine patients received at Rockwood Hospital last year eighty-seven were discharged. In the mental hospitals of Ontario there are 7,382 patients; besides many more feeble minded in the various old folks homes, bringing the total up to about eleven thousand, the maintenance charges alone last year being nearly five million dollars or a total of about seven million dollars yearly. To comprehend the magnitude of this one has only to consider that not so many years ago the entire annual revenue of Ontario was only eight million dollars. Dr. Ryan's observations about the cause of mental diseases, treatment, study of prevention methods, were very interesting.

Appreciation of the address was ably expressed by His Honor Judge Wills. President C. M. Reid occupied the chair and Rotarian Charles Dolan introduced the speaker of the day.

Civic Employment.
Kingston, Dec. 15.—(To the Editor): A great deal has been said about getting work for the men for the winter months and I think the council is fully justified in doing all they can to do so. I have been a labor man and friend of labor all my life, and that is why I write.

I hope the public works department will see that for this winter at least (and I believe it will be the hardest winter for labor we have had for many years and I hope for many more years to come) that the men will get work who most need it. For instance, men are working for the city, who have no rent to pay and have houses rented who should be the last to get work. You may say they pay taxes and have a right to get work. I admit the fact and honor the man who even if he can live without work, yet goes to work for he will live the longer for it. I am sure if the matter is placed before this class of men in the right way they will see the justice of the case, and will not feel hurt, and when the spring comes their conscience will tell them they did right and will feel the better for it.

The first who should get work in my humble opinion is the men with large families and rent to pay. Then grading the scale down from that to those with rent to pay and no families, then the single man who has to pay for his room and board. Then would come the man who owns his home, with a family and no other income but his labor and on along that line. I think if this is followed, for this winter at least, it will help out citizens and no one will be any the worse for it.

Christmas hymn with the exception of the angel's song, sung by the heavenly choir on the first Christmas morn.

The second part of the programme was Saint Saens' "Christmas Oratorio," with an opening organ prelude played with the brilliance and perfection Kingstonsians have learned to expect from Mrs. Williamson. The recitative by Miss MacLeod, Miss Florence Mitchell, Mr. John La Flair and Mr. Hess was much enjoyed. Miss Mitchell's wonderful deep rich contralto, with its organlike quality, was most effective, and Mr. La Flair, who has only recently been heard in Kingston, has a fine tenor. Both these young singers are at the beginning of their musical career and have great possibilities lying before them. Miss Arlette Elder was heard with pleasure in "Patently Have I Waited Upon the Lord." The chorus "Wherefore do the Heathen Clamored" was sung with much dramatic power and splendid tone.

Very lovely was the trio "My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord." The organ accompaniment to this is especially beautiful. In the quartette "Alleluia Ye Heavens Sing Praises" and the quartette "Arisa Now! Daughter of Zion," the soloists were heard with good effect, and the final chorus was sung by the choir, bringing to a close one of the most perfect productions Kingston has had the pleasure of hearing for some time. Rev. J. W. Stephen gave the benediction after which Stainer's "Sevenfold Amen" was sung.

Hard Luck!
Some person was unfortunate enough to drop a quart of liquor in front of the post office on Monday afternoon. Lousing glances were cast at it by many and somebody suggested getting a sponge, and not let the precious stuff go to waste.

Dr. R. E. McKechnie, chancellor of the University of British Columbia, who is a native of Brockville, has been elected president of the Laurier Club in Vancouver.
