CHRISTMAS SERVICES

Held in Some of the Churches on Sunday—Special Music Rendered.

There was very fine Christmas music rendered at both services in Sydenham street Methodist church on Sunday. The choir, under the leadership of Miss M. Shaw, who is retiring the first of the year after thirty-eight years of service, was never heard to better advantage. The soloists at the morning service were Miss Anna Pollard, Miss Anderson, Miss Woodman and Harold Singleton. Miss Shaw also gave a fine organ solo.

At the evening service Dr. Ansgrove, Miss Woodman and Miss Pollard were the soloists. Mr. La France gave a violin solo and Miss Kathleen Lyons favored with an organ solo. Miss Shaw played two organ solos. At both services the choir sang Christmas anthems and these were given with marked finish.

At Chalmers.
A good-sized congregation filled the church Sunday morning. The pulpit and choir loft were prettily decorated with greenery and brilliant poinsettias. Owing to the regrettable illness of Mrs. Dobbs, the musical service was somewhat curtailed. Mrs. W. M. Campbell took charge of the organ at very brief notice and played most effectively. The choir sang "Christians Awake" by Maunder.

In a quiet and effective sermon on the text "For unto us a child is born" the pastor, the Rev. G. A. Brown, declared that Jesus is the universal child. He himself was ever "telling" man to retain their childhood—its wonder, faith and simplicity. As we kneel at the manger we feel that no matter what life has been we can begin again.

At the evening service Mrs. Evans sang Ernest Newton's "The First Christmas Morn" most acceptably.

At St. Andrew's.
Masses of pine and balsam decorated the pulpit and choir loft of St. Andrew's for the Christmas season. The special Christmas service, however, will be on Thursday morning. Mrs. A. R. E. Williamson provided effective organ music at both services. In the morning a duet, "Blessed is He Who Cometh" was rendered by Miss Marjorie McLeod and Mr. Ernest Hess. At the evening service Matthews' "Christmas Bells" was an enjoyable feature.

The Rev. J. W. Stephen delivered two thoughtful addresses. His evening subject was around the passage "But Mary kept all these things and pondered them in her heart." He spoke of the feelings of Mary's faith, obedience, meekness and love. The Christmas story has sanctified child life and motherhood the world over.

Princess Street Methodist.
There was special music at both the services, at the Princess street Methodist church, on Sunday. In the morning, the anthem, "Christians Awake, Salute the Happy Morn," was sung. Mrs. Archibald singing the solo parts. The junior choir sang Christmas carols.

In the evening, "Birthdays of the King," and "Chime Ye Bells" were sung, the solo parts being taken by Mr. J. Alexander and Mr. H. Wiskin. Mrs. Archibald sang, "The Girl." Mr. C. Cannon and Master Leslie Joffile assisted with violins and Mr. E. Madrand was the organist.

At Cooke's.
Much appreciated Christmas music was rendered by the choir at both services in Cooke's. In the morning the choir sang the anthem, "Brightest and Best of the Sons of the Morning," and Mr. Anderson rendered "Hosanna" with effect. At the evening service portions of the cantata "Light of Life" were sung with spirit. The ladies quartette was taken by Mrs. Treneer, the Misses Eason and Mrs. McGrath. The men's quartette was composed of Messrs. A. Leman, H. Newman, T. Donnelly and J. Anderson. A solo was given by Mrs. Treneer. Great credit is due the organist, Miss Beattie Rodgers, for the training evidenced by the choir as well as for her enjoyable organ numbers.

At Bethel Church.
Special Christmas services were held at Bethel church on Sunday. In the morning, the sermon was preached by the pastor, Rev. J. A. Miller, and the anthems "Hark! Angelic Voices" and "Sing O Heavens" were sung by the choir. In the evening, the sermon was preached by Rev. Dr. Baldwin and "Joy of the World" and "Silent Night, Holy Night" were rendered by the choir.

Zion Church.
The feature at Zion Presbyterian church was a children's choir at both morning and evening services. The boys sang "Noel" and the girls "In a Manger." The adult choir gave "Hark! What Mean Those Holy Voices."

The pastor, Rev. E. H. Burgess, spoke in the morning on why Christ came to earth and his evening topic was on the thought of gifts and their relation to missions.

First Baptist.
Special Christmas services were conducted in the First Baptist church yesterday both morning and evening. In the morning the pastor, Rev. John S. LaPlair, took as his text: "Behold I have set before you an open door." Revelations III 8. In the evening Mr. LaPlair took as his subject "Christmas Messages of Various Christmas Hymns," giving the beautiful significance of the pharology of those Yuletide praises so well known to all.

A splendid song service featured the ceremonies in the evening with choruses, Christmas hymns and carols. The singing included: "The Birthdays of the King," by James Marshall; "O, Holy Night," by S. Salisbury and a beautiful solo by Little Miss Vera Brand.

Salvation Citadel.
Ensign and Mrs. Boshier, assisted by Lieut. Ritchie, conducted special Christmas services in the Salvation Army citadel on Sunday. In the morning Ensign Boshier took as his subject, "A Christmas Message to the Soldiers." Lieut. Ritchie, in the afternoon, chose for his text "No Room in the Inn" and in the evening Mrs. Boshier spoke on the subject "The Word Was Made Flesh and Dwelt Amongst Us." The band rendered special Christmas hymns and carols. The citadel was beautifully decorated with evergreens and Christmas scenery portraying the "Stable at Bethlehem," the "Angel Appearing to the Shepherds" and "The Three Wise Men." Ensign Boshier announced today that Ensign Madele Wilson, well known in Kingston, would conduct services next Sunday.

To Be Prosecutions.
It is quite likely that prosecutions will take place in the course of a couple of weeks against farmers who have not complied with the Dominion egg regulations. Up until the present time the Kingston market have tried to show the producers the benefit of living up to the new rules, but some have not tried to cooperate, with the result that there will likely be some police court cases.

Carload of Mail Arrives.
A carload of Christmas mail arrived in the city on Sunday night and will be distributed as fast as the carriers can get around. It is the intention of the post office department to have delivery sleighs for the carriers on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday.

OVERHEARD

What are people saying to each other so earnestly, laughingly, or with heat as they pass to and fro on Princess street? Here are a few verbal snapshots which a reporter took of the passers-by, much as a movie man catches people unaware at a windy corner. Are you here

Babes And Sucklings.
"Ya-a-a!" (This from a baby-carriage crier who had just discovered that all the good things of life are kept behind glass.)
"A big one that runs along the floor."
"Mamma, look at the green an' red bell!"
"Oee, Ma, why don't it snow for Christmas?"

Sweet Sixteen.
"Heavens, I hope it snows for Christmas!"
"Well, I don't care. Ma'll give me the devil anyhow."
"Betty's just wild for a pink one."
"Laugh, I though I'd die!"
"She calls everybody by his first name!"
"Overstockings keep them warmer."
"So I told him it wasn't me, and oh, he got sore!"

Youths.
"So I asked Bill what her name was."
"Who ever said . . . could play goal!"
"I knocked 'em all down with one ball four time on end."
"You didn't know I used to wear a slick little cat's eyebrow."
"Sure it'll snow before then."

Ladies.
"I do like to see snow at Christmas."
"And mind you, it's only $3.98 or $5.98, I forgot which."
"They won't do a mortal thing their mother tells them."
"Nothing the matter with me, only I'm laxy."
"Buy a Christmas War Cry!"
"I felt so bad because I thought one of the boys done it, you know."
"She's just running her legs off after him, and he don't—"

ASKS FOR NAMES

Of Families Not Yet Provided With Christmas Fare.

In St. George's cathedral on Sunday, the Dean of Ontario asked the members of the congregation to send in the names of any families who might not be provided with Christmas fare and they would be cared for. No one need go without in a city of plenty and there was food and toys enough for all. The clergy would be glad to receive the names.

In the afternoon the annual children's gift service was held in the cathedral and the toys and money will be sent to the little ones in the northern part of the diocese from the city children.
