WAR BADGES NOW AWAIT CLAIMANTS

Addresses of the Recipients Unknown to the Authorities.

Ottawa, Dec. 29.—A total of 166,030 war badges for service in the world war are still begging in this Dominion, according to information from the Department of Soldiers' Civil Re-establishment. Of these 85,801 are British war medals and 80,603 are Victory medals, and they are to be had by their rightful owners simply for the asking.

"The delay in distributing these awards," says an official of the department, "is due entirely to the fact that the addresses of the recipients are not available at National Defense headquarters. Since the beginning of the issuance of awards for war service, the D.S.C.R., to date, has distributed 964,635 medals, decorations and commemorative scrolls."

There remain on hand in the same department 791 estates of deceased members of the Canadian Expeditionary Forces, in which the total funds amount to $144,169.79. The distribution of the majority of these estates is delayed mainly through the fact that beneficiaries reside in countries where communication is limited, or where it has been impossible to locate them at the addresses on file at National Defense headquarters. There also remain 228 trust shares, amounting to $25,917.74. These funds are being held in trust for minor beneficiaries.

A total of 51,673 deaths have been recorded in the theatre of war. Of this number 37,607 graves definitely have been registered to date. This latter figure, though, is subject to almost daily revision, because graves are constantly being located by officials of the Imperial War Graves Commission in the various war theatres. It is estimated, however, that it will be necessary to inscribe the names of about 14,000 on memorials to the "missing" which are being erected at Menin Gate and Vimy Ridge. In addition to the above there are 3,443 graves of Canadians in the United Kingdom. In Canada alone 11,523 deaths have been reported.

Sixteen Fenian raid and Northwest rebellion veterans only received their medals last year. Fifty-five long service and good conduct medals were awarded in Canada last year and 117 of the long service medals for Colonial Auxiliary forces were presented to members of the non-permanent militia.
