TEACHERS GATHER FOR INSTRUCTION

Addressed on Religious Topics by Mrs. J. J. Eaton and Miss Laney, Toronto.

Some one hundred and fifty teachers of primary and junior Sunday school scholars gathered in Chalmers hall on Thursday evening to listen to addresses by Mrs. J. J. Eaton, late president of the School of Religious Education, Toronto, and by Miss Bertha Laney, Toronto, children's work secretary for Ontario.

After an excellent supper which did much to establish good fellowship, the meeting got down to the main business of the evening. Mrs. Eaton commenced with a demonstration of story telling, adopting her methods to suit the tastes of scholars of various ages. Then Miss Laney exhibited some most interesting slides illustrating children's work in the Sunday school and concluded with some cartoons showing wrong methods and some of the false impressions children are apt to receive.

A presentation was then made to the Sunday school having the highest percentage of its children's work staff present. Chalmers won with all its teachers in attendance. Bethel made a good second with only one absent.

Miss Laney then gave an instructive talk on the Crusade Roll and Mrs. Eaton gave what was probably the best address of the evening, on "Training for Our Task."

The gathering then divided into interest groups, Mrs. Eaton conducting a round-table discussion on junior work and Miss Laney took those interested in cradle roll, beginners and primary.

This meeting was the first of a series to be conducted on successive Thursday nights under the general auspices of the Religious Education Council of the city, of which Mr. D. McDougall is president. The next meeting will cover boys' work in the Sunday school and that on the following Thursday will discuss the work for girls.

THE EDITOR HEARS

That the cross-word epidemic has even struck the banks. Scene in the Bank of Nova Scotia a couple of days ago: A well-set-up gentleman—a director at least, possibly a general manager—emerges from the manager's office in quest of the manager, who is standing just at the rear of the teller's cage. The gentleman's face is smiling as though he had been cutting coupons—but he wasn't. "Say, Lyster, have you such a thing as a dictionary handy?" The faces of the whole staff, from the young lady at the rear to the ledger-keeper, the teller, and the accountant, are suffused with a broad and understanding smile. They all had it bad. Doubtless the young lady had a puzzle under the cover of the loose-leaf ledger. The teller passed out of his cage a dictionary which he keeps at hand when he wants a rest from the tedium of counting bills and adding up deposit slips. The manager and the signate exchange some quizzing words. "I want a word of seven letters standing for 'sinc.'" If it were something standing for gold, or silver, copper or nickel, he would have had no trouble. Or if it had called for "a word of three letters standing for dollars," with a flash of intuitive instinct he would have said "Tin." But "sinc," save the mark. That stamped him. He was a bank director, not a plumber.

IMPROVED POSITION OF NATIONAL LINES Prime Minister Tells of Work Accomplished Since Co-ordination.

Premier W. L. Mackenzie King, speaking to an audience of four thousand people at Massey Hall, Toronto, said in part:

"I think it is generally admitted that it would have been difficult, if not impossible, to have secured a railway executive better suited by tradition, training and temperament to carry out the gigantic task of co-ordinating and controlling the several lines comprising what is now the Canadian National Railway System than Sir Henry Thornton; and I think Sir Henry Thornton will be the first to say that in the discharge of his highly responsible and onerous duties he and his Board of Directors have been given by the government, a perfectly free hand.

"The showing with respect to the Canadian National Railway is, as yet, far from what we would like to see it, and what it should be if the railways are to become a national asset, as we believe they will become, if given a proper chance, instead of remaining a national liability, as up to the present they have continued to be, but it is a showing vastly more favorable than that which existed at the time we took in hand their co-ordination and consolidation and placed their management in the hands of Sir Henry Thornton.

The Ontario Municipal Association is asked by J. H. Dargavel, clerk of South Oroya township, to ask for a statute amendment raising the age for jurors to seventy years. He points out that judges and incumbents of other such important offices are not called incompetent on account of age, so are jurors over sixty.

The Woman's Guild.

The annual meeting of the Woman's Guild of Christ church, Cataraqui, was held at the rectory on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Austin Smith presided. Twelve members and two visitors responded to the roll call. The yearly reports, presented by the secretary and the treasurer showed that the work of the guild had been very successful.

The election of officers took place as follows: Honorary president, Mrs. Riley; president, Mrs. Austin Smith; vice-president, Mrs. William Macrow; treasurer, Miss Clarke; secretary, Mrs. Coombe.

A vote of thanks was extended to Canon Smith and Mrs. Swain, who acted as scrutineers during the election.

A committee was appointed to prepare material ready for sewing. Canon Smith took occasion to congratulate the members of the guild for the efficient work which they had accomplished during the year, and urged them to do even better in 1925. A vote of thanks was extended to the retiring officers, after which refreshments were served. The next meeting of the guild will take place at the home of Mrs. Coombe on Thursday.

Man Sentenced to "Pen" Very Ill at London, Ont.

Silvatore Sammons, a young man living at London, who was recently sentenced to two years in the Portmouth penitentiary, with lashes, for assaulting a girl, and whose case has been appealed, is quite ill in London, and word received from London today states that he has been removed to a hospital there. Thomas Fox, who was sentenced at the same time for a similar offense, was given fourteen years and twenty lashes. Fox and Sammons, it will be recalled, were brought to the penitentiary after being sentenced, but as their cases had been appealed, they were not admitted to the prison, and were taken back to London to await the result of the appeal.

CALL HIM FATHER.

He may wear a last year's straw hat, his finger nails may need manicuring; his vest may hang a little loose, and his pants may bag at the knees; his face may show signs of a second day's growth, and the tin dinner bucket may be full of dents and doughnuts; but don't forget you call him "the old man." He's your father.

For years and years he has been rustling around to get things together. Never once has he failed to do the right thing by you. He thinks you are the greatest boy on earth, bar none, even though you plaster your hair back, wear smart clothes, smoke cigarettes, and fail to bring home a cent. He is the man who won the life partnership of the greatest woman on earth—your mother.

He is "some" man and not "the old man." If you win as good a wife as he did, you will have to go some, boy.

At the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Smith, Queensville, on Jan. 1st, their oldest daughter, Vera, was united in marriage to Amos B. Clayton, M.D., Chesterville. "Coty compacts." Gibson's. That man is indeed very fortunate who actually knows more than he thinks he knows.
