QUEEN'S READY FOR MONTREAL INVASION

With Opposition Will Be Offered Visitors at Arena To-night—County Hockeyists Meet.

This evening at the Arena the fans will have a chance to witness the local opening tilt in the senior intercollegiate series when the University of Montreal sextette hooks up with Queen's.

LAKED HIS WORK.

Local Citizen Thought Referee Mitchell Due for High Praise.

Speaking of the Belleville-Kingston game here on Monday night in which Harold Mitchell, of Toronto, was the referee, a local man referred to criticisms that had been made of the referee's work and he stated that he thought that there should be no disparagement of Mr. Mitchell's work; rather, he should be lauded for his fair decisions.

He felt that Mr. Mitchell accomplished his mission in a very fair and creditable manner. He referred to the severe heckling and hissing that was hurled at the referee when he called glaring offenses. He stated that in his opinion, with all due credit to the players' praise must be given to the referee for keeping the game clean by his promptness in handling the penalty cases, especially as the struggle was so strenuously and bitterly contested.

In his judgment, the citizen continued, as a supporter of the Kingston team, he thought that all fair-minded spectators of Monday's game, gave credit to Mr. Mitchell for his capable handling of the game.

Hotels and Fights.

Hollywood, Calif., Jan. 16.—Jess Willard, former heavyweight pugilistic champion, is training for another contest with Jack Dempsey, who laid him out at Toledo, Ohio, for the championship. This time it will be Willard's hotel against Dempsey's, however. Jack owns a Los Angeles hostelry. Willard has authorized architects to plan a eight storey, 350-room hotel here to cost $500,000.

"Fighting is kids' play, anyway," said the giant Willard. "Dempsey has demonstrated that a good fighter can make more money in a hotel any day than in a ring."

County Men Prepare.

All bids fair for a successful meeting of the County Hockey League tomorrow afternoon in the Board of Trade Rooms and it looks as though there will be a large attendance of delegates of various clubs. The season is quite well advanced now and it is quite necessary for the County League to get their games under way as soon as possible if their schedule is to be completed before the winter is over. It is planned to get through most of the executive work at the meeting tomorrow and draw up the schedule for the season.

LADKIN IS SOLD.

Great Race Horse Was Conqueror of Eplnard.

New York, Jan. 16.—Ladkin, conqueror of Eplnard in the second international special at Aqueduct last summer, and two other leading racers, of the late August Belmont's string, together with seventeen two-year-olds, all sons of Fair Play, were sold on Wednesday, but the name of the purchaser was withheld by the estate.

The four-year-olds in the deal, besides Ladkin, were Lucky Play, now at Tiajuana and Blind Play. The value of the three is placed at $100,000.

Chance Play and Festival were the stars of the two-year-olds, according to their trials last fall. The former would have brought $35,000 at auction, while Festival's value has been placed at $20,000.

Cobb was born in 1886, making him 38 years old. He says he intends to play two more years.

Was Champion Jack Dempsey ever knocked out?—B. R. T.

Jim Flynn is credited with putting him to sleep in one round in 1917. The report is that Dempsey was hungry that evening and did a Fred Fulton dive.

Not For Nurmi.

New York, Jan. 16.—Paavo Nurmi never will run as a professional under the auspices of Tex Rickard or any one else, and Rickard probably will forget his intention to offer a proposition to the Finn. There was almost no hope for Rickard's plan in the first place and there was considerably less than that when Hugo Quist, president of the Finnish-American Athletic Club, Nurmi's official spokesman, visited the New York

Billy Evans Says

If the Washington club can stay up in the race the coming season it will make a lot of money.

After a team wins a world championship it is a big card the following year if it can continue to play bang-up ball.

That is the task that now confronts Manager Stanley Harris of the Washington club, champions of the universe.

Harris, in his first year as manager, won baseball's greatest honor. His effort to retain that prestige is going to be an even more difficult task.

Washington won the American League pennant and the world series championship with a team that the experts did not rate the strongest in the American League.

Last season I finished with the Cleveland and St. Louis clubs. Just prior to the final game I chatted with George Sisler, famous manager of the Browns. We discussed the winning of the pennant by Washington and their chances in the series.

"Harris deserves all kinds of praise for the playing of the Washington club. He won a pennant with a team that was not the strongest in the American League," said Sisler.

"I figured both New York and Detroit much more formidable clubs. And at the start of the season there was no doubt in my mind but that the Browns were a better ball club than Washington.

"The winning of the pennant under such conditions is certainly a great tribute to the managerial ability of Harris."

I then switched the conversation to the world series. I was anxious to get Sisler's opinion of the Nationals versus the Giants.

"Unquestionably McGraw has a team of greater strength and is much better fortified with substitutes," continued Sisler.

"On form one would have to pick the Giants to win but I really think Washington has a great chance.

"It is a club with real spirit that fights its best when trailing. We couldn't break the spirit of the club after Cleveland had beaten them four straight and my club five straight.

"That spirit may carry Harris through."

At the close of the series I recalled my conversation with the star of the Browns. He surely had the right dope.

Mere spirit, however, cannot carry on indefinitely unless backed up by something more material. Spirit must be abetted by base hits, superior fielding and good pitching.

In an effort to stay up in the race the coming season Harris is banking on veteran material.

Instead of dabbling with youngsters, with the thought of developing them, he is tying up with veterans, hoping they may have at least one big year.

That is why Harris purchased 40-year-old Vean Gregg, a star pitcher in the majors 10 years back; made a trade for the veteran spitballer, Stanley Coveleskie, and refused to waive on "Dutch" Reuther, star southpaw of the National League a few years back.

If these three veteran pitchers come through for Harris, keep his club well up in the first division, all will be well. He will still be a great manager and his club will make plenty of money.

However, after about one more year the boy manager will be up against the task of rebuilding his ball club, as the Nationals as a whole are far from youngsters.

Directing a big league ball club is far from a soft spot. Stanley Harris will tell you that.

BOXING GOSSIP

Jack McAuliffe, former light-weight champion of the world, is acting in a vaudeville sketch with Irish Patey Kline, another old-time pugilist. Unlike most boxers who take to the stage, they are both good comedians and are a great hit in New York.

Jimmy Wilde, the gallant little Welshman, who lost his flyweight title to Pancho Villa in 1923, is an enthusiastic golfer, and has quite a stock of jokes concerning the royal and ancient game.

One of them concerns a certain professional player who won a competition in the course of which he made a record number of remarkably long drives.

After the game he was surrounded by a crowd of admirers, each anxiously asking what make of ball he had played with.

"Well," replied the "pro," with an eye to the future and to the ball manufacturer, "I haven't quite decided yet."

In an article which he contributed to the Paris "Soleil," Georges Carpentier complains bitterly of the attitude and of the coarse and ignorant language addressed by the modern Parisian crowds to the contestants and the officials to-day. He points out that the boxing fans of to-day want to witness a bloody combat ending in a knockout, while the fans
