What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

AT THE GRAND.
With Lawrence Baker, "Spare-ribs" Jones, "Slim Jim" Austin, Will Merritt, Noah Robinson, the comedy end of Harvey's Greater Minstrels would be superior to other similar shows without Duke Anderson, Chas. Beecham and Frank Kirk. After all there cannot be too much comedy in a Minstrel, provided of course it is clean-cut and of an irresistible kind.

Manager McLain is justly proud of all the talent he has secured, and although it is expensive to pay high salaries to so many clever people, yet it is a lot of satisfaction to the Manager to feel assured that no matter where the Harvey Greater Minstrels play, it is going to please the patrons.

However, none of the above criteria of experts are fainter than Frank Kirk as he is playing the banjo and singing with a lighted cigar in his lips, that he apparently swallows the cigar and continues to sing as smoke pours forth from his mouth like lava from a volcano.

Kirk's performance is clever but likewise is the work of Alonso Moore the man of much mystery, the four old men dancing number and the comedy aerobatic buck and wing dancing of Buster Miller.

This company will be at the Grand Opera House for two nights and a Saturday matinee, commencing Friday, February 6th.

DECLARES ROMANCE FOLLOWS MARRIAGE

John M. Stahl, director of "Husbands and Lovers," a First National picture which opens a three days' engagement at the Capitol Theatre, has hurled a deft at the writers of the day who in story and play marry off their heroes and heroines and then write "Finis." Mr. Stahl maintains that real romance follows marriage rather than precedes it.

"Most books and many plays define romance as the stage of bubbling, enthusiastic affection that finds its highest point of progress in engagement or marriage," he says. "And there the authors let it drop, considering the subject all played out. In reality marriage is just the beginning of romance. The puppy-love, violet-and-candy period is merely a pleasant preliminary. What is sweeter, more beautiful or more wonderful than happy married life? Its successful continuance represents the ultimate in life's blessing. It embodies the light, shoulder to shoulder, of life's battles; the facing together of sorrows; the sharing of joys. It brings well-earned peace and contentment. It is real romance."

As proof of his belief, Stahl wrote the romantic story of "Husbands and Lovers" around a married couple. Treating his subject in a humorous vein, he takes his principals through the various trials and tribulations of the average matrimonial bark.

He confronts them with the serious problems, the petty jealousies, the irritating conditions and the sad misunderstandings that so frequently estrange a husband and wife who really love each other. But he also gives them the moments of wonderful companionship and the attributes of strong character and loyalty that constitute romance and help it to survive in spite of harassing difficulties.

BABY PEGGY AT STRAND.

Occasionally some obstinate older people take a supreme delight in denying to younger folks the right to love. Of course, this takes a course of misery and suffering, and that is the theme adroitly handled in the Baby Peggy starring vehicle, "The Family Secret," which will be at the Strand Theatre for the last time today. The story is from Frances Hodgson Burnett's "The Secret Garden," adapted to the screen, and directed by William A. Seiter.

The Family Market Basket

Plenty of home grown vegetables which contain the vitamins so necessary to health in the winter, were for sale on the Kingston market on Saturday and summer savory and sage to make dressing for the poultry which was also plentiful, were seen on the sleighs of the market gardeners who were almost the only people on the square on this cold morning. A few flowers peeped out from their glass cases and were bought for the sick room or the Sunday dinner table.

Some loads of beef and pork were selling at the same prices as last week. On the island market eggs were 60c a dozen, butter 33 and 40c a pound and turkeys were being offered for 40c a pound, chickens for from 30c to $1.25 apiece and quack about the same price.

FIRE LOSS WILL BE MORE THAN $90,000

On the Robertson Building and Stock—Strong Walls Were Big Help.

The Robertson Limited fire on Friday night put the car service completely out of business as there were half a dozen lines of hose crossing and recrossing the tracks. One car was completely surrounded with lines in front and second.

The heat melted the snow off the roofs on the opposite side of the street and cracked the windows of the stores. It was fortunate indeed that the destroyed building was of such remarkably strong construction. The adjoining store, that of Mr. E. H. Stewart, manufacturer's agent, has extensive storage space full of matches, paper supplies and articles of a most inflammable nature. But the strong walls between them and the fire did not even heat through. A good deal of smoke and some water damaged the exterior of the building of paper bags and the cartons of matches but whether it went deeper could not be stated.

On the top floor of the Stewart building was stored a great quantity of paper bags which were badly damaged with smoke and water. Mr. Stewart when speaking to the Whig stated that he had been in telephone communication with the Eddy Company for at Ottawa, of which he is the representative, and an appraiser will be put to work finding the extent of the damage.

The local office of the Parker Dye Works of Toronto, located on the east side of the Robertson building, did not suffer any great damage although considerable water came through at the back part of the building. The fire doors between the two buildings prevented the blaze from getting through. The second and third floors of the Parker building was used by the Robertson firm.

The Great War Veterans building and the Chinese restaurant had the cellars filled with water.

Loss $90,000 to $100,000
C. A. Macpherson, president of the Robertson Company, when speaking to the Whig on Saturday morning, stated that he thought that the loss would be in the neighborhood of from $90,000 to $100,000 damage. According to Mr. Macpherson the cause of the fire is unknown.

The value of the stock would be about from $50,000 to $60,000 and was fairly well covered by insurance. Mr. Macpherson stated that during the time of the sale which has been underway for some time the stock has been greatly reduced. The building was valued at about $40,000 with about $30,000 insurance.

All the books belonging to the firm are safe and sound as they had been placed in the vault which was located in the office.

On Saturday morning a gang of men employed by the firm of McKelvey & Birch were put to work boarding up the windows of the burned building.

SCARF MAKES DRESS

An interesting tie arrangement is featured on this open-striped rattice dress intended for sport wear. The wide blue scarf worn about the neck passes through wide eyelets, and the ends hang free. This dress is most easy to copy, or it is a very simple idea to transplant the scarf idea to some costume you now own.

Had Money Refunded.

Chief of Police Robinson was notified that a citizen was selling lottery tickets for the benefit of fire sufferers in Windsor, N.E., and that the sale of the tickets had not been authorized. The matter was investigated and the parties who had purchased tickets had their money refunded, and so the sale of the tickets is off.

A total of 5,679 claims aggregating approximately $656,999.990 remain to be settled by the German-American Claims Commission.

BROCKVILLE JUNIORS DEFEAT QUEEN'S 3-2

Play was very ragged throughout the first two periods with Queen's outscoring Brockville by two goals to none. Whitton scoring first 10 minutes after the start and McPherson netting another twenty-six minutes later.

In the third period the Brockville team got down to business and Kennedy tied the score in the first eight minutes and Brockville nosed ahead on a score by Walsh near the end of the game.

Gibson Going Away.

Cunningham played a whirlwind game in the nets and broke up repeated rushes by their opponents.

The teams were:
Victorias — Goal, Cunningham; defence, Patterson, Elliott; centre, Gibson; wings, Matheson, Skelton; subs, Remon, Ameer, Blomley.

Alerts—Goal, Thompson; defence, Muir, Fleet; centre, Coyle; wings, McCabe, Dablop; subs, Corrigan, Veness.

Referee—Lambert.

Boxing at Queen's.
Yesterday afternoon at Queen's gymnasium, several preliminary bouts were staged in preparation for the preliminary finals on Tuesday night and the boxing enthusiasts, who saw the boys in action yesterday were delighted with the work of the men. In the 145 lb. class Skelton and Hale put up a wonderful fight, in fact, one of the best seen around the College in years, while Marshall trimmed Bartles in the 125 lb. class. Hag was best by Walters in the 145 class and Howard beat Blair in the 155 class.

Tuesday night the preliminary finals will be held, and it is expected that there will be a big crowd on hand for the event. The promise is to be some thrilling battles and the boys will be trying for places on the Intercollegiate team, and therefore, will give all they have.

THINK THIS OVER

EVEN though you are as old as Methuselah, you can't remember the time:

- (1) When some one was not predicting that the world was going to the how-wows?
- (2) When any one got ahead without using energy and brains?
- (3) When a business managed on common sense-principles didn't make a substantial success?
- (4) When any employee would admit that he was getting all he was worth?
- (5) When any man worked as hard as he led his wife to believe?
- (6) When the consumer was not kicking against high prices?
- (7) When some one was not looking back to the "good old days"?
- (8) When people did not think that taxes were too high?
- (9) When people did not think the government was extravagant?
- (10) When a married man did not think his family was extravagant?
- (11) When a man who had once tried automobile or golf ever gave up either in order to reduce expenses?
- (12) When thirty per cent. of the people did not blame all their troubles on the "administration"?
- (13) When any one got anything for nothing for very long?
- (14) When every man did not think his job was the meanest in the world?
- (15) When a few people did not know that Scranton Coal, mined by D. L. & W. Railway—The Standard Anthracite of America—was the only Coal sold by
