LETTERS To The Editor

For Poor Children.
16 Edison Street, Farrow-on-Tyne, County Durham, Eng., Jan. 21.—(To the Editor): I respectfully desire to acknowledge the sum of one dollar from R. Compton in aid of the poor children.

It will interest your readers to know that over 5,000 children have received assistance during the last two months in this town alone.

Unemployment is on the increase and consequently the need for parcels (odds and ends for jumble sales, old clothes, etc.), or assistance of any kind is urgent and would be promptly acknowledged.

Thanking you for the courtesy of your columns,

Yours faithfully,
—HAZEL WATSON.

AT QUEEN'S UNIVERSITY By Our Student Correspondent.

"The Birth of Modern Science" was the subject of the address of Prof. J. K. Robertson, in the series of weekly lectures on the Renaissance, given in Convocation Hall Monday afternoon. The next lecture in the series will be Dr. R. Bruce Taylor's on Erasmus, February 9.

"Realism" will be the subject discussed at the meeting of the English Club in the Red Room this afternoon. In the consideration of the topic short papers on the realistic literature of Spain, France, Germany, Great Britain and the United States will be given by club members.

The last meeting of the Missionary Association was addressed by its president, Don McNis, who described his experiences as a student missionary in the Peace River district, 350 miles northwest of Edmonton. Bruce Gordon was appointed convener of membership, succeeding M. R. Moore, who has taken over the work of arranging services at the Old Folks Home. A. D. Sutherland presided.

On Sunday morning the student Volunteer Band was addressed by R. K. Start, of Meads, '28, who gave a biographical sketch of Robert Morrison, a pioneer missionary in China.

Miss M. Gibson and J. M. Miller are now in Washington, D.C., representing the university at the big missionary convention now in session there.

OBITUARY

Late Mrs. James Callaghan.
The Toronto Mail and Empire says: In the death of Adele Caroline Callaghan, which occurred on Saturday at the residence of her son Edwin, 115 Springhurst avenue, there passed one whose early life was closely interwoven with the politics and strife of Upper Canada in the early '40's. As Miss Howarth, ward of Commander Sandham, commodore of H.M.S. Cherokee, flagship of the squadron stationed at Kingston at that period, she was a popular leader of the young people of the ancient Limestone City, and came in constant and intimate association with the naval, military and political leaders of the day, many of whom in after years took a prominent part in the building of a nation as fathers of Confederation, amongst them being the late Sir John A. Macdonald. In 1852 Miss Howarth was married to James Callaghan, of County Drogheda, Ireland, and was left a widow eighteen years ago, leaving Kingston then and taking up her residence with her son, Edwin Callaghan. The late Mrs. Callaghan is survived by one daughter, Mrs. W. H. Bell, of Montreal, at present spending the winter in Bermuda, and six sons, George Milton Callaghan, of Rock Bay, B.C.; David Seale Callaghan, Chicago; Alfred Booth Callaghan, of New York, and William H. Ernest and Edwin, of Toronto. The late Mrs. Callaghan was an ardent Conservative and an honorary life member of the Imperial Daughters of the Empire.

The remains arrived here Tuesday afternoon and were taken in charge by the James Reid firm and transferred to Cataragui vault. Rev. T. W. Savary conducted the funeral service.

The funeral was very largely attended and was under the direction of the James Reid firm.
