The Dark Day.
The dark day was May 19th, 1780. On this day over a large portion of the new world there occurred at mid-day a remarkable darkness; candles were lighted in houses, the birds were silent and disappeared, the fowls retired to roost; many thought the day of judgment was at hand.
The night following the dark day, although the moon had full the night before, the darkness of this night was so intense that for a time no luminous body whatever appeared in the heavens and a sheet of white paper could not be seen when held within a few inches of the eye.

BANQUET AT NAPANEE
Given by the Men of the Church of St. Mary Magdalene.
Napanee, Feb. 6.—A wonderful affair was the banquet given by the men of the Church of St. Mary Magdalene in the Masonic Hall last night, when in the neighborhood of two hundred men sat down to the well-appointed tables and replenished the inner man with the good things provided.
Not only was the inner man well cared for, but the large assemblage was permeated with joy from the singing of songs and the excellent music rendered by Walter's Orchestra, but to cap the climax, after the toast of "The King" was loyally responded to, there was a feast of reason and flow of soul.
The idea of this entertainment emanated from the vicar, and both he and those who brought it to such a grand issue, are worthy of all praise.
No better speakers for an occasion of this kind could have been selected than Dr. Seager, provost of Trinity College, Toronto, and Mr. J. A. Elliott, of Belleville.
Mr. J. A. Elliott, the first speaker, and one who is thoroughly interested in the layman's work in the church, gave from his great experience much of value to his hearers.
Dr. Seager gave a splendid and scholarly address dealing with the history, the work, the principles, the progress and the value of what was being done by the Church of England in Canada, a church that had fifteen hundred years of clear history behind it. The great episcopal churches of the Anglican Communion was the greatest religious organization in the world, one could find the services of the church in any part of the world for they were conducted in one hundred and ninety-three languages. Rapt attention was given to every word he uttered and his address will be long remembered by those who had the privilege of hearing it.
The other speakers were G. F. Rutlan, K.C., Rev. J. H. H. Coleman, W. B. Herrington, K.C., J. M. Simpson and Charles Stevens.
The vicar was the recipient of a handsome travelling bag from the men of the church as a slight token of their esteem and affection.
Rev. A. H. Coleman, M.A., the vicar's father, pronounced the benediction.

Galbraith, in consultation with Dr. L. J. Austin of Kingston, their opinion was given out that he could not last beyond twenty-four hours.
This opinion was realized at 5 o'clock yesterday afternoon when Mr. Richardson passed away.
Deep sympathy is extended by all to the bereaved widow and only daughter, Miss Edna Richardson, also to his brother Eugene Richardson, and his sister, Mrs. (Dr.) Yeomans, both of Belleville.
