What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

AT THE GRAND.

Mae Edwards Players Will Be the Attraction All Next Week.

Arrangements have been completed for the appearance at the Grand Opera House, for the week of February 16th, with a matinee Wednesday and Saturday, of the Mae Edwards Players, presenting a programme of comedy and dramatic repertoire.

The opening bill, "Adam and Eve," which ran for a solid year at the Longacre Theatre, New York, will provide an entertainment for the patrons of the Grand that is well worth seeing. Pleasing in appearance, magnetic in personality, and brilliant in dramatic powers, is Miss Mae Edwards, who takes the stellar role in the various plays which go to make up the company's repertoire. There is no doubt in the world that Miss Edwards is one of the most talented and popular theatrical artists in Canada, and the warm-hearted welcome and vigorous demonstrations of approval accorded her recently at Brockville showed conclusively that the Brockville audience realized and appreciated her. The Mae Edwards Novelty Orchestra is a special feature. This orchestra, individually and collectively, is one of the best novelty organizations that has been heard here. They play the latest dance selections in a thoroughly pleasing manner, and frequent encores are demanded. Seven vaudeville acts of high calibre, musical comedy numbers and cabaret novelties which are introduced nightly come in for their share of the applause tendered by the audience.

"Three Women" With Four Stars at the Capitol.

"Three Women," the production to which Ernst Lubitsch, the well known director, has again so well applied his unusual talent, is to be presented at the Capitol Theatre, beginning Monday. Theatre-goers are looking forward with more than customary interest to the appearance of another Lubitsch masterpiece, knowing that each production is even greater than the one before.

The story deals with an unusual situation of three women and one man—far removed from the trite plot of the everlasting triangle.

Mrs. Wilson, awake to the realization that she is growing older and will soon lose her attraction to men, decides to marry again, and chooses as her subject Lamont, a man about town, in love with her money rather than herself. When Mrs. Wilson's daughter returns from school, Lamont transfers his attentions to her and inveigles her into marrying him. Then come months of unhappiness when Lamont, having fulfilled his monetary desires, finds himself a sweetheart and neglects his wife. The climax is reached when Mrs. Wilson shoots Lamont when he refuses to release her daughter. After the trial and acquittal, Mrs. Wilson is reconciled to being just a mother and rejoices in the marriage of her daughter with her old sweetheart.

The cast of this Classic of the Screen is the usual combination of brilliant stars. Heading the list are May McAvoy, who takes the part of the daughter; Marie Prevost, the sweetheart; and Pauline Frederick, the mother, supported by Lew Cody as the alluring villain. Pierre Gendron, Mary Carr and Willard Louis.

AT THE STRAND

LAST TIME TO-NIGHT

Ford Sterling, one of sifmond's most famous comedians, who has been creating laughs for screen audiences for many years, has a very comical role as the mayor of a French village in "Love and Glory," at the Strand Theatre for the last time to-night. The story proper is a colorful romance, extending over a period of fifty years, from the Franco-Prussian war to the present day. The cast features Charles De Roche, Wallace MacDonald, Midge Bellamy, Gibson Gowland, Sterling, Charles De Ravenne and Priscilla Dean Moran.

Emmons-Friendship Wedding.

A quiet wedding was solemnized on Wednesday evening at the home of the bride's mother, Brook street, when Mildred Jessie Friendship, daughter of Mrs. J. Grant, became the bride of Mr. Herman Elmon Emmons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman A. Emmons, Westbrooke. Rev. J. S. LaFleur officiated. The couple were introduced. The bride who was given away by her brother Mr. W. Grant, wore a pretty frock of navy blue flat silk crepe, and carried up-bella roses. The wedding music was played by Miss Francis Peters. After the ceremony a reception was held, the table being covered with the wedding cake. An interesting feature was that the decorations used on the bride's wedding cake were the same that were used on her mother's wedding cake. The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls and to Miss Peters a pearl ring. Mr. and Mrs. Emmons left for points west, the bride travelling in a brown costume.

Appointed Police Magistrate.

R. W. Eady has been appointed police magistrate at Restrow. He succeeds the late Matthew Davine, whose death occurred several weeks ago. Mr. Eady is a son of the late George Eady, who for several years previous to his death in 1915 held the same office.

A number of the ladies who are interested in the "Y" work have agreed to sell lemonade and peanuts. The money, which is raised, will be used for promoting the physical work at the

CRAWFORD'S COAL

What Does The Name Stand For?

A customer knows lots of stock names for foods, household goods, that she has tried, found to her liking and asks for. She knows that "Ivory Soap floats," "Old Dutch Cleanser chases dirt," and it's "Gold Medal Flour—Eventually." But how does she ask for coal—a ton?

Behind the name Crawford there is quality, a meaning that makes it of real sales value. Crawford Coal is much hotter and cleaner; it leaves little ash that is almost entirely free from clinker, soot and smoke—it brings a quick starting fire easily banked to last through the night, a coal that never varies from load to load—a coal that might have been made to the householders' specifications.

A trial of Crawford's Coal indelibly impresses these facts on the buyer.

DOGS—DEVIL AND OTHERWISE

Dogs of all kinds, sizes, colors and dispositions are competing for prizes at the annual national dog show of the Westminster K.C., now being held at Madison Square Garden, New York. At the left is Herouven Chum, one of the biggest St. Bernards at the show, who kindly consented to furnish transportation for La Rex Doll Pon Pon and La Rex Doll Snowflake, two of the tiniest Chihuahuas at the show. And on the right is Sergeant Jiggs, pride of the U.S. Marines, and a real "Devil Dog" himself.
