

IN THE MORNING HER TONGUE WAS COATED HAD BAD TASTE IN MOUTH

Miss Pearle L. Zinck, Baras Corner, N.S., writes:—"I was awfully troubled with my liver, and used to get such dizzy spells I would have to sit down while I was doing my work. In the morning, when I used to get up, my tongue was coated and I had a bad taste in my mouth and often times, throughout the day, I was troubled with pains in my stomach."

I suffered in this way until a friend of mine who had used your

"I cannot recommend them too highly to all those who suffer as I did."

Cod Liver Oil in Sugar Coated Tablets For Puny Kids

Forget the nasty tasting, stomach upsetting cod liver oil and give the thin, puny, underdeveloped children McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets if you want to give them a good appetite and put pounds of good, healthy flesh, on their bones.

Doctors know all about them and so does J. B. McLeod or Mahood Drug Co., and all good pharmacists all over America, for they are in great demand, because they are not regarded, but show results in a few days.

They are not expensive either—60 tablets—60 cents—and children take them like candy.

A very skinny child, age 9, gained 12 pounds in seven months and is strong and healthy. One skinny woman gained 9 pounds in 24 days.

A Third Wife For Charlie Chaplin the Guess Of His First Spouse, Mildred Harris, Divorcee

Mildred Harris.

Hollywood, Calif., Feb. 20.—Charlie Chaplin is a man of exceptional mind.

He is a true artist. He is brilliant, and has the usual restless mind peculiar to genius.

Only one type of mate is suitable to such a man. One who is equal to him in brilliance, and also is possessed of a mind ever seeking the new in life, the high lights and the deep shadows.

Such a mind, naturally, is not found in one of immature years. I do not know the intimate circumstances of the Chaplins' present domestic life, but from my past knowledge of Chaplin I do not believe blame attaches to either of them.

It is just that he only can find his happiness in marriage with one of his own years, with a mind developed into the spheres in which he thinks and believes.

A horoscope cast for Mr. Chaplin some time ago said he would marry three times.

Undoubtedly, to my mind, this horoscope is sure of fulfillment.

I do not say this because of my belief in the supernatural, but because I feel that love plays a very important part in his life.

More so even than in the lives of most persons, as he always is searching for an ideal, for one who will be his complete dream, come true.

And he will have to find it in one older than I was, seventeen, when I married him.

Mr. Chaplin loves children. Indeed, very, very much.

It may be that the birth of a baby to the Chaplins would heal any threatened breach between the two. But that is a matter more for conjecture than for prophecy.

All in all, if the Chaplins separate, I would judge it to be due merely to the fact that they were not real mates, probably neither to blame, but still recognizing that life apart would be better for each.

Otherwise the growing years would cause their realization that they are not happy together to grow.

My personal opinion is that in any case certainly a child should be well provided for and a girl permitted sufficient to care for herself.

But no one should have everything taken away for which he has struggled for years.

Ready to Settle Down.

Doris was radiant over a recent addition to the family and rushed out to tell a passing neighbor. "Oh, you don't know what we've got upstairs!"

"What is it?" the neighbor asked. "A new baby brother," said Doris, and she watched very closely the effect of her announcement.

"You don't say so!" the neighbor exclaimed. "Is he going to stay?"

"I think so," said Doris. "He's got his things off."—Everybody's.

All the Comforts of Home.

Effie's young man had finally said good night, but at the door they found a pouring rain; so the mother invited him to stay. But when the chamber was ready the guest had vanished. They had given him up when the doorbell rang.

There he stood, drenched to the skin, with a parcel under his arm.

"Why—why—" began Effie.

"I just ran home for my night-shirt," was the simple rejoinder.

Your Home Secure

"A man's home is his castle". The protection of his wife and family—and of his castle—is the chief function of the life insurance policy.

It is difficult for the average man early in his career to accumulate sufficient wealth to guarantee that his income and his home will be perpetuated, should he be removed by death. By surrounding his home with the protection of life insurance, worry for the future is eliminated. This makes for a peaceful and happy present.

Each insured individual lends stability to the homes of other insured individuals. Thus life insurance becomes the greatest of co-operative systems in which the ideal of "all for each and each for all" is realized.

Procrastination is the greatest foe of family security. This "thief of time" is also the thief of home comforts for a bereaved family.

You should cease putting off this vital matter. Why not discuss your insurance programme with a life insurance man to-day?

Calls it "Nickle Beer." Mr. Heenan, Kenora, caused some amusement in the legislature when he said that often he went to Manitoba, and there he had heard all about ten-cent beer, but, after hearing the attorney-general the day before, he would be able to go back and tell them that now we've got real beer, and it's Nickle Beer.

Bread War at Brockville. When prices of wheat and flour recently skyrocketed the price of bread in Brockville advanced to eleven cents for a standard pound.

and-a-half loaf. Some local merchants started importing bread over 200 miles from Toronto to Brockville daily. This retails at nine cents. As a result, a bread war is on locally. One Brockville baker announced that until further notice bread will retail for nine cents and wholesale for eight cents.

Half the world is half asleep

It is terrible to feel all dragged out—to live from one day to the next in a constant state of weariness. Yet thousands do, because constipation is destroying their energy—even their interest in life. Only Kellogg's ALL-BRAN brings sure and safe relief from this disease.

"Poor Betty! She always looks tired"

BETTY was the office mystery. Once pretty, her beauty now lay masked behind an unwholesome complexion. Once vivacious, she now seemed eternally tired—a drooping figure of disappointment and dismay. Too bad she didn't realize that it was constipation which was stealing her strength.

But many men and women rid themselves forever of this devastating disease, by the simple, pleasant means of eating two tablespoonfuls of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN every day—or in chronic cases, with every meal.

As Kellogg's ALL-BRAN journeys through the system, its fiber remains unchanged. It is what doctors call a bulk food—a bulk food which sweeps the intestine clean—a bulk food which absorbs and carries moisture through the intestinal tract, stimulating natural, healthy action. Something habit-forming pills and drugs can never do.

Serve Kellogg's ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, sprinkled over cereals; cooked with hot cereals; in soups, or made into the many recipes given on the package. Delicious with fruit, baked apple, etc.

Caution: Only ALL-BRAN brings sure results. A part-bran product can only be partially effective. Kellogg's is the one, only and original ALL-BRAN. All grocers sell it. Buy a package today. If eaten regularly, it is guaranteed to bring permanent relief or the grocer returns the purchase price. Served in leading restaurants and hotels.
