How He Know. "I feel highly flattered to-night to note that you are having refreshments in my honor," said the distinguished speaker.

"We have not announced the refreshments," said the chairman of the refreshment committee. "How do you know?" "I guess I knew in the same way as the small boy knew about the iron. He was asked in his class, in rudimentary geology, how iron was first discovered. 'I heard father say they smelt it,' was the naive reply."

An Episcopal Shock. A bishop was paying a visit to a certain parish and decided to stay on for the afternoon in order to address the children of the Sunday school. He had noticed many large bills about, referring to "The Bishop's Visitation," and accordingly began his talk by asking the assembled children the meaning of the word "Visitation." "Please, sir," replied a young urchin, "it's a play sent by God."—The Morning Post.

Efficient Housekeeping

- TO-MORROW'S MENU. Breakfast. Stewed Dried Peaches. Scrambled Eggs Toast Coffee. Luncheon. Boiled Stuffed Peppers. Jelly. Dinner. Tomato Soup. Mashed Potatoes. Steamed Fruit Pudding with Coffee.

NEW DISHES THIS WEEK. "Tonkers Boiled Stuffed Peppers: (Contributed by 'A Reader'). Chop two cloves of garlic finely with one peck of salt, and add one tablespoon of black pepper. Put this into a bowl with one pound of fresh, lean pork which your butcher has put through his meat grinder, and mix well. Fill six large, washed, green sweet peppers with this mixture, after cutting a small cap from the tops of the peppers. Put the top-caps back tightly, then gently place the stuffed peppers in one quart of hot canned tomatoes, strained, and let simmer one hour. Remove the cooked peppers gently, and thicken the remaining tomato juice with one tablespoon of flour which has been rubbed into one tablespoon of melted butter; cook until smooth, then add a little sugar and salt to this sauce before serving it with the hot peppers. 'Mrs. S. M.' of your column who wrote in recently, might try this recipe with mashed potatoes, pie and coffee. The combination makes a delicious lunch or supper."

AUNT HET

"Pas cold ain't near as bad as he makes out, an' I can't help wonderin' if he heard me tell Amy about that pint I had hid away."

The Editor Hears

That at a recent dinner a speaker who has the God-given power of putting fundamental truths into concrete form said: "Service is the rent you pay for the space you occupy on Mother Earth."

That the difference in the price of flowers and potted plants on the Kingston market is quite remarkable. One florist asked only fifty cents for just as fine plants as another was asking a dollar for. The remark was heard: "Let us go over to Mr. — he is only asking half the price for his primulae."

That both the scarf and the choker collars are seen on new Paris models.

That the food sale held in the old Bank of Montreal building on Saturday by the Woman's Hospital Aid was an entire success. The delicious homemade cakes, bread, buns and canned fruit disappeared rapidly and by eleven o'clock everything had disappeared. People will be sure to get down early next Saturday.

That Mrs. J. R. C. Dobbs and Mr. R. F. Harvey are preparing the choir of Chalmers church and St. George's cathedral for a sacred recital to be given by the joint choir in the cathedral in aid of the Kingston Humane Society and the church activities of St. George's parish.

That the national contributions to the I.O.D.E. War Memorial for the month of February amounted to $5,946.47. The chapters are endeavoring to commemorate the silver jubilee of the order by a special effort.

DIFFERENT DINNERS.

By Barbara Brooks, Kellogg Home Economics Department, London, Ont.

This is the time of year when food seems to have lost its savor. Unless we live where we have access to the city markets, we are dependent, to a great extent, upon food from our own storage places and preserve closets. After the holiday season and the return to regular routine, it is harder than ever to serve meals which are different enough to be interesting.

We are going to pass on to you some suggestions given to us by a farm woman—one of those good cooks and wise mothers who knows how to feed her family so as to pro-
