JOCK HARTY ARENA HAD PAYING SEASON

The Hockey and Skating Attendants Were the Largest on Record Here.

The first season at the Jock Hartly Arena has been far and away the best in the hockey history of the city. Everything was a financial success except perhaps the intercollegiate series. The fact of having artificial ice, a winning intermediate team and low admission prices made the Arena the busiest place in the city from the day it opened on Dec. 10th. The gross receipts of the rink management, after the shares of teams and so on have been subtracted, amount to about $9,000 this year as compared with $2,500 the previous year. After all expenses are paid the rink may have a net profit of about three thousand dollars, but the actual figures will not be known till the audit is issued in April. The fans have been extremely fortunate to see such good hockey at such reasonable prices. In the play-off games these ran from one dollar to 25 cents; in the earlier games from 75 to 25 cents. In the junior series admission varied between 50 cents and 10 cents.

Paid admissions in the intermediate O.H.A. games were as follows: Brockville 1223; Belleville 1760; Brockville 2023; Belleville 988; Trenton 1224; Havelock 1972; Brampton 2645; Grimsby 2276. Total 14,116.

Intercollegiate senior games—Montreal 1017; McGill 875; Varsity 1950. Total 3842.

Junior O.H.A. brought in 1583 fans; intermediate intercollegiate, 288; ladies games 759; junior intercollegiate, 540; city league, 1541; Quinte league 1662; exhibition 1830.

The grand total of attendance at all the above regular games was 26,161. Besides these there were games among the students which sometimes drew quite large crowds. A year ago there were 89 sessions of public skating. This year there have been to date 158 sessions and the number will reach 170 before the season concludes. There were 319 season tickets sold for the 1924 season and for this season the number was about double that figure. The attendance for skating was far ahead of that of previous years.

BUY CANADIAN PRODUCTS.

Apporportioned to Increase Work and Keep Plants Busy.

Quebec, March 10.—Canadians have every reason to be proud of their products. Canada grows the best wheat in the world. Other grains, fruits, vegetables, butter and cheese produced in Canada will stand comparison with similar articles produced in other countries. Canadian live stock stands very high in international markets. Canadian factories make nearly everything that can be classed as a manufactured product. Canadian exports are sold in the principal cities of the world. The Canadian Section of the British Empire Exhibition was a revelation to thousands of visitors.

In spite of these facts, Canadians are buying hundreds of millions of dollars' worth of products from other countries that are produced by Canadian farms and factories. While it is quite true that we must buy a certain amount from other countries, it is possible to reduce the present volume of imports very materially by buying more Canadian products.

If this is done, more work will be provided for Canadians. Thousands of men and women are out of work in this country at present. Some are using up their savings and others are being supported by charity.

In co-operation with a number of other organizations, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association is making a special appeal this month to the people of Canada to buy more Canadian products, for the purpose of lessening unemployment and of stimulating business.

MAY LEAD GERMANY'S ELECTIONS.

As the present German constitution makes no provision for a vice president the death of President Ebert will hurry elections. Former Premier Cuno, right, and Wilhelm Marx, left, are regarded as the likely candidates.

FOSTER-SON LOSES.

Illegitimacy Prevented Inheritance of Farm.

Toronto, March 10.—Following the death of Levi Everett, of East Zorra, in April, 1923, his son was appointed administrator of his estate. Nephews and nieces of the dead man immediately took action to have the administrator removed on the ground that he was not the legitimate son and therefore not the lawful heir of the deceased.

With regret the court held that although the son had always lived with the father and had thought that he was his lawful son, his parents had never married and he must therefore, be removed. The son, who is now a married man with three children, had continued to work his father's farm under the impression that some day he would win his father's entire possessions. He once urged his father to make a will, but his father had put him off with the statement, "You will get it all anyway."

From the decision in the lower court the son had appealed to the Appellate Division. The case was adjourned yesterday for two weeks in view of the possibility of arriving at a settlement.

LETTERS To The Editor

More About Fox Snares.

Bollingbroke, March 6.—(To the Editor): I would like to ask permission to write a few lines in answer to Mr. Shaw's letter. He says he likes to use common sense, yet he says he has known dogs to be in his snares for days and he no worse than tied up at home. I think that would be a very inhuman way to treat a dumb animal. I would not like to have my dog tied in a barn for days without anything to eat, let alone tied up to a tree without room to lie down. He also says that he has snares set under the public waters of Bob's lake. Is that common sense? Mr. Shaw says that traps are worse than snares. I think so, too, if there were half as many set, but it would take a pile of money to buy as many traps as there are snares.

Mr. Shaw says that he has snares set with spring pole or a weight or some such contrivance, so that if a dog or any other thing gets in they will never get out alive. Is that not as bad as poison? I would just as soon have my dog poisoned as hung.

Mr. Shaw would like to know who has been meddling with his snares. Well I have shot and seen shot five or six fellows that took his snares, some of them two. The poor fellows would have died anyway if they had not been shot. Just a few days ago while drawing a stack of hay I found a dead fox under the hay with a snare on him. Mr. Shaw says up till two years ago he did not regard the law or the Lord's Day any more than I do. Well, may not regard the Lord's Day as I should; however, I am no hypocrite.

Clock About 200 Years Old.

Kingston, March 9.—(To the Editor): I read in your paper of March 6th about a resident of Athens who had in his possession antique clocks about 140 years old.

I would like to state that I have at my home an antique clock about 200 years old, made by Elijah Hitchcock, Burlington, Conn. The entire construction is of wood. It is in perfect condition and keeps accurate time.

Yours truly,
—MRS J. McBRIDE.

BUSY BANDITS

Roamed Through New York Attacking Citizens and Wrecking Safes.

New York, March 10.—Bandits roamed through the city early yesterday, attacking citizens, binding and robbing them, shooting at policemen and wrecking safes.

Several robbers engaged in a running pistol fight with policeman on Tenth avenue before dawn. Bandits raided Loew's Victoria Theatre on West 125th street, binding four employees and making a determined but unsuccessful attempt to crack a safe containing $2,000.

Falling eighty feet from a Detroit building last Monday, Orval Prettie, of Windsor, died Sunday.

GONDOLIERS A WONDERFUL OPERA.

"The Gondoliers," being produced at the Grand Opera House, Thursday, Friday and Saturday, March 12th, 13th and 14th, under the direction of Capt. Alfred Light, R. M. S. M., and Mr. Charles Gates, in aid of the Kiwanis charity fund, is an opera which will appeal to every theatregoer, who looks forward to that occasional evening when everything except the entrancing scenes on the stage, is temporarily forgotten. "The Gondoliers" is an opera which appeals to every man or woman who loves real entertainment. Those who love clean mirth will find it when the Grandee Duke of Plaza-Toro tells the assembly that he is a born leader; that he always leads his regiment, "especially when they are coming away from action." Lovers of trained choral work will find their happy thrill in the rendering of the choruses under the direction of Capt. Light. The man who loves strong melodious quartettes will go away from The Gondoliers feeling that his evening was well spent. There is something for every one: Humor, drama, human interest, a wealth of rarest music, colorful costumes and absolute happiness which reigns till it falls before the ovation of the crowds. Everyone will want to hear the Gondoliers because to miss it will be to lose one of the greatest opportunities of the season.

Tickets are now on sale by all Kiwanians and all the many members of the cast. Seat plan now open at the Grand Opera House. Take your tickets and have them exchanged for your reservations. Seats $1, 75c and 50c.
