What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

"DIXIE HANDICAP"
AN EXCITING FILM

Photoplay At Capitol Rates High Among Racing Dramas.
For thrills, comedy, beauty, and mere thrills we recommend "The Dixie Handicap," at the Capitol Theatre Thursday, Friday and Saturday, as one of the most all-around satisfactory pictures of the year. Rarely have we seen any picture as exciting, or at the same time, as pleasing to the eye. There are several reasons for both.

For excitement there are a number of horse races that surpass anything done before on the screen picturing the "Sport of Kings." The sprier ones take place at a county fair, and the climax race is the international contest between the horses of the film and the English champion. These scenes were taken at "Luton" and their authenticity added a good deal of interest to the picture.

For beauty you need go no further than Claire Windsor, who plays the leading feminine role, that of Virginia, the daughter of Judge Roberts (portrayed by Frank Keenan). No such treat for all eyes has passed across the screen in many a day; it is indeed easy to understand why Miss Windsor has been picked as one of America's most beautiful women. And the backgrounds of the picture offer a very pleasing sight, with their Southern atmosphere and quaint views of the track.

Then, of course, there is Frank Keenan as the Judge. Always a colorful actor, Mr. Keenan does some of his best work in "The Dixie Handicap," playing his role of the aristocratic old Southerner who falls into poverty, with rare restraint.

Lloyd Hughes is delightfully different as the hero. His is a role that combines comedy with straight heroics, an extremely difficult combination that Mr. Hughes conquers with ease.

The remainder of the competent cast includes John Sainpolis, Otis Harlan, Edward Martindell, Otto Hoffman, and Joseph Morrison.

Altogether, "The Dixie Handicap" rates high in the racing field.

AT THE STRAND TODAY.
Most romantic stories and with a wedding, "Christine of the Hungry Heart," the new Thomas H. Ince picture, made for the First National, which comes to the Strand Theatre today begins with a wedding, and the wedding of the heroine, Christine, at that.

It is a fascinating story, superbly told, with a fine cast including Miss Florence Vidor in the title role, Warner Baxter, Jan Keith, Clive Brook, the English actor, and Walter Hiers, the rotund comedian. It was directed by George Archainault, and adapted from the Katharine Norris novel of the same name by Bradley King.
