Those are the words of an old song, "As merry as the day is long." Yes, everyone should be that way. Let's all be merry. Start to-day!

Good Recommendation.
Hazel: "Are these lipsticks a fast color?"
Clerk: "Yes, miss. Some of our fastest young ladies use them."

Sneer.
The thought obtrudes at this season sweet,
As sometimes thoughts ironic will,
That, while spring chickens are good to eat,
Spring poets are only fit to kill.
—Kenneth C. Kaufman.

The Right Name.
Little four-year-old Marian was sitting on the floor with a paper in her lap.
While thus engaged a neighbor came in and asked her what she was doing.
With a look of great importance, Marian answered: "I'm doing a cuss word puzzle."
—E. Shurte.

Still Useful.
Balley: "Brill married his stenographer."
Macy: "I'll bet she still uses the touch system though."
—Nelson Gillian.

THE TRICKY TROULET COUNTER.
Forestalled.
I'd love to take you to the dance, Oh Sonia, so sweet, so fair;
Of all girls in this world's expanse I'd love to take you to the dance;
The evening would my soul entrance;
I wonder if you, too, would care.
I'd love to take you to the dance
But can't—My wife plans to be there!
—J. V. Richardson.

Help! Help!
He chased the lady down the street,
And thought he hadn't chased her far
He found that she had nimble feet.
He chased the lady down the street
Surprised to find she proved so fleet,
As modern ladies often are.
He chased the lady down the street;
Both wished to catch the trolley car.
—Eleanor Vicksey.

Reader: Be Warned!
I said I just wanted a kiss;
She answered me, "Not on your life!"
O'ercome by the prospective bliss
I said I just wanted a kiss,
And so, from that charming young Miss
I took one with trivial strife.
I said I just wanted a kiss;
What I got was a boss and a wife!
—Milburn T. Lemons.

Once Was Enough!
Mrs. Kerne: "Does your husband ever stand up for his rights, my dear?"
Mrs. Baker (grimly): "He tried it once—but I promptly sat on him."
—Mrs. Hanna Vogel.

Prospects.
Father: "So you want to marry my daughter. What are your prospects?"
Sutor: "I have entered in all the big cross word puzzle contests."
—Herman Harris.

If the bootblacks were to depend on married men for their living, they'd starve to death.

Miss the Thrill.
Metcalfe: "The Crawfords pay cash for everything, I understand."
Gibson: "What a monotonous life!"
—Fred Gunnison.

Fine Bunch.
Casey: "So you have every confidence in your office force?"
Mathes: "They're just wonderful. Even the office boy wouldn't try to put one over on me in order to see a ball game."
—Edith Donahue.

PARISH OF NAPANEE VESTRY GATHERING

Church Women's Guild Pays $800 on the Debt of the Rectory.

Napanee, April 14.—The annual vestry meeting of Napanee parish was held in the chapel of the Church of St. Mary Magdalene on Easter Monday night, the vicar, Rural Dean J. H. H. Coleman, M.A., presiding. The annual financial statement for the year ending March 31st, 1925, was presented by the wardens and approved. The statement was very satisfactory, showing the funds of the church to be in somewhat better shape than they were a year ago, notwithstanding the fact that quite a number of generous contributors had passed away.

Due to the good work of the Church Women's Guild, $800 has been paid on the debt of the rectory. In addition to contributions to other objects for the benefit of the church. The Sunday school and other branches of the church's activities are in excellent condition. The number of communicants at the Easter Day celebrations was the largest on record.

W. S. Herrington, K.C., vicar's warden, was re-appointed for the ensuing year, and Willitt Dollar was again elected as the people's warden.

The secretary was asked to convey to the vestry of St. John's, Bath, the sympathy of this vestry in their recent loss by fire of their ancient church.

The lay representatives to Synod from this parish are T. B. Wallace, G. F. Rutan, K.C., and Willet Dollar.

A most charming dance was given by the Swatsika Club in the Masonic rooms last night. There was a nice crowd, pretty decorations, splendid music and good refreshments.

Deseronto Man Hurt.
Belleville, April 14.—Andrew Bowen, resident of Deseronto, was badly hurt at the Canada Cement plant when a stone fell off a car on top of his head.

Bowen, who is about fifty-five years of age, was working at his job as a car coupler. In some manner a stone became dislodged from the top of a car and fell down on the workman.

The victim was rushed to the Belleville General Hospital, where Dr. J. J. Robertson operated.

Want a Better Channel.
An application is to be made to the minister of public works to have a channel dredged out at the head of Tidd's and Hay islands to make a proper channel for the boats that are plying between Gananoque and Clayton. This was at the request of the Rockport Navigation Co., to provide for the larger boat they propose to put on the route this season.

White furniture or woodwork that is not badly soiled should be washed with borax water instead of soap. Bacon rinds should be saved for flavoring soups and spreading over the top of beans while baking.

FAKE SUICIDE

Roxine Serpa was mourned as dead when it was reported she had jumped to death in San Francisco Bay. Now it is learned that Roxine is alive in Canada and that her "death" was faked by Joseph Weber, who is Roxine's second husband. The fake suicide was tried to cover up the fact that Roxine had married Joseph without divorcing Serpa. Claims for insurance made by Serpa led to an expose of the fake suicide.

THE OLD POST OFFICE IS NOT SUITABLE

For Extension of Gananoque High School—Would Relieve Congestion Only Temporarily.

Gananoque, April 14.—In going further into the matter of purchase of the old post office building for high school purposes, it is the opinion of several members of the Board that such a purchase would merely take care of the situation temporarily and relieve the congestion for not more than a year or two. The enrollment for 1924-25 term was 204. Next September it is estimated there will be fifty new pupils and only about six going out making an estimated enrollment for 1925-26 of 248. In buying the old post office building it was intended to make use of it as an extra class room and for physical culture exercises, but there is still another objection to the purchase of this building inasmuch as it would mean that part of the staff would be working apart from the principal. It is suggested by some of the members, therefore, that the best solution to the problem is an addition to the present high school with a separate furnace that could be used as an auxiliary to the furnace in the present building in very cold weather. Such an addition would cost in the neighborhood of $25,000.

There were special Easter services in all the church here, all of which were largely attended. At the Presbyterian Church Clarence Skinner was the soloist both morning and evening; at Grace church W. B. Haynes of Oshawa and Mrs. L. R. Stedman were the soloists. "The Pageant—Challenge of the Cross" which was put on after the regular services in the evening was an unqualified success and reflected the highest credit on the following principals: Misses Dorcas Sullivan, Grace Richardson, Miss M. Carpenter, Marion Gilbert, N. Lake and Blythe Battams. Services at the Anglican church were most impressive and after the evening services a congregational meeting was held and the budget for the year ending 31st December, 1924, presented. There was a large attendance and the rector, Mr. Barber, was congratulated upon the record number of communicants at the earlier services. The number was something in excess of 300.

At St. John's church the children's choir rendered Monestell's Mass, which they have been practicing for the past six weeks under Miss D. Heffernan and the organist Miss O'Neill, and the faultless manner in which it was rendered by these little folks was quite a revelation to the congregation.

A BALLOD OF GARGOYLES

Four long-necked gargoyles lean from the tower,
Aloft on Parliament Hill;
Girafes in stand-up collars they seem,
Each bolting a troublesome pill.
As the world goes now there is one piece
For each political party,
And that is why we have christened them
Billie and Bobbie and Artie
And Aggie.

Oh, Billie faces the genial South,
Where the mellow sunbeams fall,
But Artie stares at the bleak North Star,
Where he can't see Montreal;
And Bobbie looks to the golden West,
That calleth the world to feast,
But Aggie has turned her back on him,
And ever she gazes East.

Relations between our pillars of State
Should never be less than hearty,
But sometimes the air grows chilly up there
Round Billie and Bobbie and Artie
And Aggie.

Billie he counts the Canadian-born
Who are coming back home to stay,
While Artie visions a migrant horde
That heads for the U.S.A.
Bobbie is watching some wayward sheep
That he hopes to reconcile,
And Aggie looks down on mortal men
With a lofty, pitying smile;
But when William Duff goes by below
She murmureth, "Smarty, smarty!"
Then silence reigneth once more around
Billie and Bobbie and Artie
And Aggie.

The Tories and Grits had it all to themselves
In the dear dead days of yore;
But the Farmers played gooseberry first of all,
And the Ginger Group makes four.
You pays your money and takes your choice,
But you're got to belong to a party.
Oh, long may they stand on the Ottawa strand,
Billie and Bobbie and Artie
And Aggie.
