What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

AT THE GRAND.

The Originals in "Stepping Out," on Friday and Saturday. "Stepping Out" is the title of the brand new revue presented this season by the ever-popular Originals, Canada's own soldier entertainers, the cast of which comprises many original Dumbell favorites. Theatre-goers from coast to coast who have witnessed performances of these clever artists before, say the new show is unquestionably the best of all the soldier productions, it is one continuous scream of laughter throughout.

The "Boys" will be in town again tomorrow night and Saturday matinee and night at the Grand with some smashing song hits, brilliant skits and sketches, and the usual merry-making numbers so popular with Originals' shows. "The Love Trail" and "The Dancing Lesson" are two of Gene Pearson's big hits this season, while his latest gowns are dreams of the modiste's art, more beautiful and brilliant than ever. Gene Pearson is this year recognized as the greatest male soprano before the public. The leading comedian is the inimitable Bob Anderson, already an established star whose easy natural humor is a riot.

The revue opens with a reunion of a number of ex-service men and swings along in a snappy manner. One part of the programme conveys a musical comedy, while the last half is in the form of revue. Alan Murray's dancing; Leonard Young's portrayal of the dignified "Duchess"; the singing of the magnificent quartette; Norman Blume's characterization of the frolicsome curate; and Jimmy MacDonald's breezy fun-making, are all delightfully refreshing and new and old friends alike are assured of one rare treat of the season in "Stepping Out."

Seats are now selling and patrons are reminded to make early reservations to this popular attraction.

Julia Arthur Coming. "Saint Joan," Bernard Shaw's latest and, in the opinion of many, greatest play, will be presented at the Grand Opera House, Wednesday, April 22nd, matinee and night.

A distinguished cast, including Julia Arthur, portraying the title role, will present the play here. Because of the author's insistence that no cuts in the text be permitted, the curtain will rise promptly at 2 p.m. and 8 p.m. No person will be seated after the rise of the curtain until the end of the first act.

Seldom in the past twenty-five years has a play caused such a general discussion as Shaw's "Saint Joan." Shaw had for scrutiny a variety of Joans. There is Joan the Boadicea of the patriots; Joan, the vaunting Amazon of Henry VI, who fights hard with mouth and sword until she is brought almost to the sluttish level of her executioners; Joan, the defender and defended by the faith; the Joan of the legends; a glimpse of Gothic through the mists of time; Joan of the modern psychologists who see in her "voices" an interesting case of hysterical automatism and rare matter for the specialist in nervous diseases; Joan the gunnery expert and perfect model for the artillery students; the Joan of Anatole France, an honest, ignorant, valiant fanatic whose tactics were simple.

It should be a great pleasure to welcome Julia Arthur in the character of Joan. Although absent from the stage for a short time, her high artistic achievements in the past have not been forgotten. It would be difficult to name another American actress who is so well qualified to bring both intellectual and physical realization to the character. Surely no one could be expected to read Shaw's brilliant text more intelligently or gracefully.

The carefully chosen supporting cast will include Edwin Mordant, Lynn Pratt, Henry Buckler, George Fitzgerald, Lowden Adams, Erskine Sanford, Albert Barrett, Emil Hoch, Stanley Wood, Edward Skinner, House Baker Jameson, George Kendall, William J. Maloney, John McGovern and others.

"DEADWOOD COACH" STARS TOM MIX

There probably will never be any story-book character more appealing—especially to the feminine mind—than a good bad man, a beloved outlaw, a generous bandit. For that reason, if for no other, "The Deadwood Coach," which opens to-day at the Capitol Theatre, is destined to be popular. Mix is back again in the old role that made him famous and around him is woven a fine story of love, adventure and romance.

Adapted from Clarence Mulford's novel, "The Orphan," there is more action, humor, pathos, and romance in this Mix production than the Fox Western star has had the chance of portraying before. One of the best supporting casts Mix has ever had includes the following well-known screen players: Doris May, George Bancroft, DeWitt Jennings, Buster Gardner, Lucien Littlefield, Norma Willis, Nora Cecil, Sid Jordan, Frank Coffyn, Jane Keckley and Ernest Butterworth.

The story of "The Deadwood Coach" concerns "The Orphan," a reckless outlaw who is feared throughout the west, but who, in reality, is the enemy of only one man. As a boy, the outlaw witnessed the murder of his father by an outlaw named Tex Wilson, and "The Orphan" dedicated his life to vengeance. The way he fulfills this vengeance and wins the respect of the community as well as the hand of a girl makes as thrilling a two-act western drama as has ever been presented on the screen.

Most of the scenes for "The Deadwood Coach" were taken in Zion Canyon, Utah, one of the most picturesque spots in America. The result is that the thrilling incidents in the picture—fights, chases, stage coach hold-ups, all have a beautiful natural background of massive canyons, glaciers and cliffs.

"MARRIED TO A MORMON."

"Married to a Mormon," the feature attraction at the Strand to-day, promises to be one of unusual merit, if a good story, first-class direction and the capable work of an excellent cast be taken into consideration.

The story is one of unusual dramatic power and is enacted by a stellar cast headed by Evelyn Brent and Clive Brooks, an English actor rapidly coming to the fore.

Could Not Be Heard.

The many friends of Mrs. Goldie Bartels Geiger of Montreal, who had expected to hear her take part in the musical programme which was broadcasted from Montreal on Wednesday evening were very much disappointed.

Mrs. Oscar Bartels, city treasurer, father of Mrs. Geiger, informed the Whig on Thursday morning that he was unable to get the Montreal broadcasting station. Mrs. Geiger appeared twice on the programme for a violin duo with Prof. Oswald Bernard.

Velvet collars are seen on the new coats, used in very soft crush effects or scarfs.

EXPECT REV. DR. COOPER

To Be New Minister on the Cataract Circuit.

It is fully expected that Rev. Dr. Cooper, who is minister on the Gananoque East Methodist circuit, will be invited to accept the pastorate of Cataract circuit, to take the place of Rev. George A. Cisco, who has been invited to Renfrew," was the statement of one of the officials of the church to the Whig on Thursday.

The Cataract circuit is composed of charges at Cataract, Westbrooke and Collin's Bay, and is looked upon as being one of the best circuits in the Kingston district. It is self supporting.

Rev. Mr. Cisco has been invited to Renfrew, and will accept the call with the consent of the stationing committee of the Montreal conference.

It was stated that although Dr. Cooper has not been officially invited as yet, the call would likely be sanctioned at a meeting of the church boards, which will take place in the very near future. The members of the board are very anxious that Dr. Cooper would come to Cataract, and are hoping that the stationing committee will see fit to allow him to accept the call.

Rev. John Pattenham, who is finishing his fourth year on the Elginburg circuit, will likely be transferred to another post.
