AT THE GRAND.
Julia Arthur is here to-night in "Saint Joan."
Much is expected of this wonderful production of "Saint Joan," which appears at the Grand Opera House to-night, and the audience will not be disappointed. The Shaw play is not a tragedy, not a comedy, not a travesty, not a rigid history, but a little of all, and told in modern English, even to accent and slang of the twentieth century. In every mouth of the heroine are placed not only thrilling passages of inspired pathos, but occasional witty sallies and withering sarcasms. She gets the better of her enemies with the tongue of a woman in face-to-face meeting, as well as with the sword of the soldier on the field of battle. Audiences are aroused to a state of exaltation equal to that with which the Maid has inspired the soldiers of France, and they are forced into laughter at some biting ridicule or happy saying. As usual, Shaw makes fun of his audience to its face with his wonted audacity.

Bertram C. Whitney is deserving of great credit in presenting such a fine production in every particular. Miss Julia Arthur is an ideal "Joan" and triumphs in the role. The men of the cast are splendidly fitted for the difficult roles, notably Edwin Morgante, viril impersonation of the Bishop of Beauvais; Lowdon Adams as the inquisitor; George Fitzgerald as the Archbishop of Rheims; Erskin Sanford as the tender-hearted monk, Brother Martin; Albert Barrett, as Dunois; and John McGevern as the Dauphin; not forgetting the artistic portrayals of Lynn Pratt as the Earle of Warwick and Henry Buckler as De Stoumber.

"OUR BETTY."

"Squibs' Honeymoon" Will Open at the Capitol, Thursday.
It is something to be proud of that the record for repeated encores for a film character has been achieved by a British film artist—Betty Balfour. The public has clamoured for her "Squibs" so loudly and so often that no less than four full-sized feature adventures have now been produced by Mr. George Pearson. Of course, everybody remembers the first "Squibs," which was followed by "Squibs Wins the Calcutta Sweep," and "Squibs, M.P."

Now with "Squibs' Honeymoon" which opens a three day engagement at the Capitol theatre to-morrow, Betty Balfour finishes the adventures of the famous character, and in this picture Squibs makes her logical farewell to the public before going into a well-earned retirement on the threshold of strictly private bliss. Betty confesses she is a wee bit tired of playing "Squibs," which is not to be wondered at, seeing that she has practically lived in the character for the past two years. But she has created during that period a lovable Cockney figure that has enthroned itself in all hearts and become world-famous. The art of Betty is a thing apart. One might believe that she really is an elf but for the fact that at times she can be the very spirit of tragedy. Perhaps what has made her more popular than anything else, however, is that most often she appears as the spirit of vivacity and vitality, yet never lacking in winsomeness and whimsicality, and with queer ways which perhaps only appear so queer because of the virtue of unselfishness is so uncommon. Whatever it is, Betty is our pride and joy. She is British, and her art is British. She is our Betty, "Britain's Queen of Happiness."

AFTER MORE PLAYERS FOR KINGSTON'S TEAM
May Secure the Services of Some of the Students at Queen's University.
It was announced on Wednesday morning that it was expected that during the day a number of players would be signed for Kingston's team in the C.O.B.L.
It is understood that the executive is very anxious to secure the services of a number of Queen's students, who have been recommended as being first-class baseball players.
The students will be leaving the city in the course of a couple of days, and for that reason the executive is very anxious that they decide whether they will remain in the city and play ball this summer.
The great trouble which the executive meets with from time to time, is to secure positions for the students who would like to remain in the city.

A report from Knox Church, St. Vincent, Ont., showed 18 members had voted for union and that 9 had not occurred. A strong majority against church union was reported by the congregation at Kirkwell, Ont., in the Hamilton Presbytery, where 59 members voted against union and 11 voted in favor of it. Sunny Bay and St. Paul's Picton, N.S., voted for union, 42; against, 138.

Manon L., carrying some 300 tons of sugar and other general package freight, is now lying on the beach at Sillery Cove. The ship has taken in a considerable volume of water as a result of coming in contact with the rocks at St. Antoine, and her cargo is utterly ruined.

Met At Napanee.
At a meeting of the executive of the Lennox and Addington Baseball League, held in Napanee on Tuesday evening, it was decided to join the Ontario Amateur Baseball Association.
It is expected that the league will be composed of four or five teams. The teams that will likely form the league are Odessa, Adolphustown, Gibbard's, Newburgh and Tamworth. If four teams enter, there will be a double schedule, but only a single one if five teams decide to join.
The matter of arranging the schedule was left to the president and secretary, and will be announced in the course of a week or ten days.

Member Away Back

In looking up some old records at the Athletic Board of Control on Wednesday morning it was noticed that Mr. A. J. Melkiejohn was a member of the Ontario athletic committee during the years 1897-98. Apparently Mr. Melkiejohn gave satisfaction for he was this year appointed again to the athletic board of control.

"Liz" Walker May Catch

There is every likelihood that "Liz" Walker, the famous tackler of the Queen's Dominion Championship team of two years ago, will be given a chance to catch for the Kingston C.O.B.L. team. Walker has not been playing ball for the last two or three years but before that he was one of the most useful men in the Hamilton City League. He led the league as batter and was considered a good catcher, although his regular berth was in the outfield.

Intercollegiate Golf Talk

With the opening of the golf season there is renewed talk of arranging intercollegiate golf matches. The subject was discussed pretty thoroughly a year or two ago and was held up on the customary financial grounds which seems to be rather necessary to intercollegiate athletics. But though the athletic board refused to sanction intercollegiate golf the desire for it is still felt. There is a possibility that certain enthusiasts may pay their own way and hold interesting, if unofficial, matches in combination with Varsity and McGill.

More than 250,000 Canadians and Americans will travel to Europe this year, breaking the record of 245,552, set in 1913.
