Macdonald, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Lord Strathcona, Dr. Ryerson, Paul Peel, Father LaCombe, Louis Frechette. THOSE PERSISTENT INSURANCE MEN!

By William B. Friend.
This morning, when I went to work, I felt contented, even chirk. And hailed both millionaires and clerk.
With smile and chipper "Hello!" But just as I got working hard The office boy brought in a card; I glanced and cried, "Call out the guard And save me from this fellow!"

Alas, it was too late, for he Had walked right in; he smiled at me; I couldn't kick him out, you see, 'E'en though he sold insurance. And so I said to myself, I Will show this most persistent guy Despite his talk, I will not buy; Though it will take endurance.

I won my point; I didn't sign 'Pon the little dotted line' Although he talked, till time to dine. Of death and wifely sorrow; But Heaven help me, he's so sleek He made me feel just like a sneak; He knows that I am growing weak; He's coming back tomorrow!

Something Doing.
"Do you mean to say that you actually encourage your employees to do cross-word puzzles during office hours?"
"Certainly. It makes 'em look busy, and that impresses my customers and brings in real business."
—Gertrude.

Not Necessary.
Robert saw the three little girls next door playing house in their back yard. They had their dolls and a table and their dolly trunks. He must have had a "hunch" there would be a tea party for her suddenly wanted to join them in their play.
"Can I cum ober and be the father?" he called.
"No," yelled back Betty, the oldest, "we are not going to play goin' down town, so we don't need a father to pay the bills."

Mooley, the Cow, was feeling bad. She had a grouch, that's what she had, Moo, moo, moo. . . .
"What is the matter, old Dear," I said;
Mooley, the Cow, she bowed her head.
"I am disgraced; I wish I was dead. Boo, hoo, hoo"

"This is my plaint," she said with a wail,
"Old Farmer Jones has been took to jail,
Him for whom I filled many a pail, Moo, moo, moo. . . .
He, who my creamy contents claimed, Watered the milk, and I'll be blamed;
Pardon my tears but I'm SO ashamed."

Recommendation Came from Fellow Workers

So Says Toronto Man of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Mr. P. M. Raggott suffered with rheumatism and found relief after taking half a box of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Toronto, Ont., Apr. 27 (Special).—"I am writing to say how wonderful and quick your pills were in arresting and relieving an attack of rheumatism I had a few weeks ago. My occupation, a coal teamster, necessitates me being out late at nights during the severe winter weather. I had an occasion to get on my knees in the snow to put fuel into a basement. Two days later I had to stay at home with rheumatism in both of my knees. I was recommended to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, which I did. The first half box gave me relief and all signs of rheumatism have now gone after taking three boxes. I thank you for being able to give me such relief. The recommendation of your Dodd's Kidney Pills came from several other coal teamsters that I work with."

This statement comes from Mr. P. M. Raggott, residing at 222 Woodmount Avenue.
Dodd's Kidney Pills act directly and promptly at the seat of the trouble.

RUST ON HOLLYHOCKS.

Canadian Horticulturist Tells How It May Be Avoided.

The Canadian Horticulturist has the following remedy for preventing rust on hollyhocks:

We all have experienced "rust" on hollyhocks. What is rust? Did you ever notice how the healthy leaves turn brown in spots in summer, then all brown, and then fall off, so that when the plants bloom they are void of leaves? That is rust. Many remedies have been tried, but they have given only partial relief. I came to a garden last fall where the owner told me of his successful experiment of curing rust. Furthermore he had the proofs for plants not treated in this way were all affected, while those treated were all clean and healthy.

Lift your hollyhock plants and heel them in a trench in some other spot. Then make a mixture of one pound of arsenate of lead and a half a pound of dry Bordeaux mixture and add four gallons of water. First soak the ground with water and then with the mixture, as given above. Dig the ground, and turn over with a spade fully twelve inches deep so that the top layer comes at the bottom. Allow the ground to remain idle for two weeks. Then lift your hollyhocks from the trench, puddle the roots in the mixture as given above, set in their former places, and with the mixture left over, moisten the surface. Two weeks later the soil must be treated again, but with a different solution, namely one teaspoon full of arsenate of lead, one teaspoonful of Bordeaux mixture, and two gallons of water. In this way the plants will be kept free from rust for an entire season.

Mrs. Kulpack and children had gone to Newburgh from Kingston to spend the holidays with Mrs. Kulpack's parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Rogers. While the children were playing on the lawn little Edna was stricken with a fatal disease, and passed away after a few hours' illness. The passing of such a bright little girl brought forth many expressions of sympathy from the friends of Mr. and Mrs. Kulpack. The remains were placed in the Newburgh cemetery.

MISS N. C. AYLESWORTH OF ODESSA PASSES

One of the oldest residents of Odessa passed to rest on Monday morning at nine o'clock. In the person of Miss Nancy C. Aylesworth, aged eighty-nine years. The deceased was a daughter of the late Robert Aylesworth and had lived in Ernestown township and the village of Odessa all her life. The deceased of late years had lived with her nephew, B. G. Hamm, Odessa, at whose home she died.

The late Miss Aylesworth was well known all over the township. Her father, the late Robert Aylesworth, was for years a local preacher and from a young child she was always interested in the promotion of the work of God. She was a member of the Methodist church at Odessa and was an active worker in the Women's Missionary Society. Only last week, Mrs. Frank A. Aestelstine, president, Mrs. (Dr.) Mabey and Mrs. G. W. Lucas, representing the W.M.S. of the Odessa church, called at home of Miss Aylesworth and presented her with a life membership in the missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal church, which had a church edifice in the west end of Odessa, was made a life member in the missionary society of that church. The two churches later united and made one thriving congregation in the village.

The deceased was a descendant of the United Empire Loyalists. Her father was the son of the late Boen Aylesworth who was one of the original United Empire Loyalists who came over to Canada and took up residence.

The late Miss Aylesworth had only been ill about two or three days and the news of her death came as a great shock to her many friends. John S. Aylesworth, Selby, is the only surviving member of the family. The funeral will take place on Wednesday afternoon from the home of her nephew, B. G. Hamm, Odessa. The service will be conducted at the home, by Rev. Mr. Dixon, pastor of the Odessa church. The remains will be placed in the family plot in Violet cemetery.

The Old Town and The Old Streets

The old streets look familiar As I wander back to-day To walk in sacred places When my young feet used to stray The buildings, old and crumbling, Were once modern in their time, To other eyes they're shabby, But they seem not so to mine. Somehow a faded glory, Almost holy, too it seems, Surrounds the little village Where I've dreamed my childish dreams!

It's good to see the old place After wandering all these years, But why the lonesome feeling? And those softly falling tears? There swoops o'er me a sadness That I cannot quite explain It leaves me vainly yearning For the good old days again. I watch the little children Romp and play and laugh and shout And I feel strangely aged With these younger ones about.

Where are the dear old faces Of the folks I loved so well? Ah, long ago they've scattered Where or whence I cannot tell, Dry-eyed again I wander Through the wide world, up and down But when I die just take me To that little old home town. For I'm very sure the angels Have reserved a place for me, Knowing how much I love it— It's my old home town, you see!
—Catharine Elizabeth Hanson.
