A Lesson In Salesmanship.
Boss: "Miss Sims, you entertain too much company during business hours. Why, you have more callers in a day than I have in a month."
Miss Sims: "Well, why don't you be agreeable to your callers like I do?"

The Present Tendency.
Lawyer: "You say you left your home at eleven o'clock and arrived at the railroad station at noon. What were you doing in the interim?"
Witness: "Why I couldn't get in there at all. The place was padlocked."
—Rudie L.

Another mean man was the married rascal who set a mousetrap in his trousers pocket to catch his wife.

Unpublished Letters of Famous Men. Dear Queen Elizabeth:
I hope that what I will say will not offend you, but I am a very poor man, and quite unable to meet all my expenses. I know that in your goodness and benevolence that you will look upon my request with friendly eyes.

Do you remember the man who threw his cloak down in the mud for Your Majesty to tread upon? Well, that was me, your humble servant.

I am enclosing the bill from my tailor for cleaning and pressing said garment, and I feel sure that you will see fit to pay it. Thanking you, I am,
Sir Walter Raleigh.

'Tis Often Thus.
Sutton: "What put you in debt?"
Burford: "A raise in salary."
—Mrs. R. F. Powell.

Suited Him.
Bender: "How are your neighbors?"
Kiel: "Fine. They've borrowed my wife's radio and phonograph, and I expect them any time to get away with her crossword puzzle books."
—Mrs. Harry G. Single.

His Chosen Profession.
Robert looked forward to the coming of an uncle who traveled a great deal.
"I know what you are," he said when his uncle arrived. "Mamma says you are a tea sampler and sample different kinds of tea."
"Yes," replied the uncle, then added: "Wouldn't you like to be a tea sampler when you get big?"
"No," Robert answered promptly, "I'd rather be a pie sampler."
—Mrs. Ida M. Kier.

The Alarm.
The Fire Station telephone was ringing steadily before it was answered.
A woman's voice on the one end. "Hello. Hello. Fire Station? There's a fire at 410 .. Street. Can you come?"
—R. W. Redwine.

THE ONTARIO W.M.S.

There Were Over 750 Delegates at the Convention Held in London.

The convention of the provincial Woman's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church of Canada held last week in London, Ont., was perhaps the largest and most successful in the ten years' history of this society, the Kingston delegate reports. Over 750 delegates from all over the province were in attendance. Much important business was transacted and encouraging reports read from the various Presbyteries throughout Ontario. There were in all thirty of these, including Temiskaming and many other northern points.

A resolution was passed, during the session by which the delegates pledged themselves to give the preference to those grocers who do not sell 4.4 beer.

On Wednesday evening the visiting delegates and missionaries were entertained at a banquet by the ladies of St. Andrew's church, London.

Twelve returned missionaries occupied the platform. The meeting was addressed on Wednesday afternoon by Miss Caroline Macdonald, who told of her work among the prisons of Japan and on Wednesday evening by Dr. O. R. Avison, principal of the Chosen Christian College, and Severance Medical College, Seoul, Korea. Miss Macdonald went to Japan twenty years ago to organize Y.W.C.A. in that country. She became first interested in a prisoner condemned to death, and while visiting him was induced to visit other criminals. The work grew until ten years ago she was obliged to give up Y.W.C.A. work and devote her whole time to the prisons. She was recognized by the Japanese government and induced to give her care not only to the prisoners of Tokio, but of Yokohama as well. She was there during the earthquake and was of great assistance to the homeless and suffering.

Dr. Avison has been for thirty years in Korea and charmed his hearers by his bright stories of the simple Korean people and their acceptance of the Christian faith. He had laid the foundation of medical education and his first pupil, a poor Korean butcher boy, is now a successful medical missionary among the Koreans in Manchuria.

WHY MOTHERS GET GRAY.

The Work of the Eyes

The human eye is a miracle of efficiency if normal. But it is the cause of numberless undesirable conditions if abnormal. And the sad truth is that most eyes are abnormal to some extent. Abnormal eyes mean strained eyes, and strained eyes mean headaches and a dozen other troubles. Nothing but Glasses can make abnormal eyes function normally. Give your eyes proper attention by having them looked after here.

BONUSES FOR PUNCTUALITY PROVE SUCCESS IN BIG BUSINESS FIRMS

By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift

It would be interesting to know how much time is wasted in the aggregate by the people of this country. Translated into terms of dollars, it would doubtless run high into the millions annually.

Noted throughout the world for their energy and capacity for hard work, Americans are nevertheless prone often to be guilty of the small vice of tardiness.

In all large business organizations tardiness among employees is one of the constant problems confronting the executives. A few years ago many employers tried to enforce punctuality among employees by a system of fines and penalties. These plans, however, did not seem to work out successfully from every standpoint. They aroused resentment among the workers which was reflected in carelessness, indifference to their work and in some cases to absolute viciousness.

More recently large concerns have adopted the plan of establishing honor rolls and creating bonuses for punctuality. The results have been satisfactory. One company in 1921 installed a bonus amounting to about 4 cents an hour paid weekly to employees who worked full time with no lateness. The plan is said to have resulted in a 33-1/3 per cent reduction in absenteeism. Another large concern pays a cash bonus of ten per cent of one week's salary, maximum bonus not to exceed $6.00, to clerical employees who establish a perfect record for any thirty consecutive days. As a result 98.86 per cent of the 8,000 employees reported on time every day last year.

Other concerns give half-day or whole-day holidays as rewards for perfect attendance covering various periods.

Punctuality is an excellent example of thrift. It is not a difficult matter for the average person to be on time. It is a form of self discipline that should be cultivated by all for it will bring its full rewards.
