CHURCH CO-OPERATION

Between Stella Presbyterians and Methodists Comes To End.

Stella, June 9.—The co-operation arrangement existing between St. Paul's Presbyterian church and the Methodist church members came to an end Sunday, June 7th, when the present minister, Rev. R. G. Fry, preached his final sermon, in St. Paul's church. The speaker made a few remarks appreciating the fact that the congregation had kept together, and satisfactorily discharged their duties to the church and to each other up to the date of the consummation of Union. Also he regretted the fact that a congregation of Methodists and Presbyterians which had been co-operating for upwards of six years were not going wholly into the United Church.

The services at St. Paul's church next Sunday will be conducted by Mr. Spence, a student at Queen's University, under the auspices of the Presbyterian Association. Rev. R. G. Fry will continue his work with the United Church, using the Methodist church building in Stella.

In fairness, to the Methodist members of this co-operating congregation, it should be stated that only the Presbyterian members voted on the question of Church Union; therefore, the Methodist members have had no part or influence on the division caused by the vote.
