LIFE'S SOCIAL SIDE

Women Page Editor, Phone 2612. Private, Phone 857W.

A farewell tea was given on Tuesday afternoon by the ladies of Chalmers W.M.S. to Mrs. J. M. Macalister, an old and valued member of the society, who leaves shortly for Winnipeg, where she will reside in the future.

The members of the Woman Teacher's Association who always enjoy a yearly outing together chose Tuesday for their annual picnic and motored to Kingston Mills, past fields of growing grain and clover just coming into blossom.

Mrs. F. Wright, St. Catharines street, was the hostess at a very delightful birthday party, given in honor of her daughter Irene, on Monday. A large birthday cake with thirteen candles and pink and white streamers adorned the table where the children sat down to delicious refreshments.

Words of appreciation of her work and regret for her departure were also spoken by Mrs. M. Macgillivray, Mrs. Donald MacPhail and Mrs. T. G. Smith.

During the afternoon a delightful musical programme was provided. Solos were rendered by Miss Marion McFadyen, Miss Kathleen Elliott, Miss Adeline Paul and Mrs. S. E. Revell.

The Editor hears

That Kingston has sustained its reputation of being the coolest spot during the recent hot wave, but even so the shower on Tuesday morning and the cooler atmosphere were most acceptable to the citizens.

That the summer frocks displayed in the shops sold rapidly last week and the evening gowns now shown in the windows and which will be seen at the June ball, are selling fast. Most Kingston women realize that they can find just what they need in the Kingston shops.

That the Kingston Girl Guides are looking forward to their summer outing at Camp Oconto, where they will spend several weeks and where Miss Berna Halliday, Montreal, is camp commandant. She is a graduate of Queen's University and has many friends in Kingston who will visit this camp at Eagle Lake, one of the beautiful lakes of the North Frontenac district, near Tichenor.

That the neglect of the home life, the insubordination of children and the lawlessness of the youth of the country is now being attributed to the women, who having married, still consider themselves free to take an interest in the affairs of the world and having been given the franchise, feel it their duty to use it and to take a part in the affairs of state in a way that is now their privilege and duty.

That a regrettable affair occurred in Brockville on Monday when in an accident to her car, driven by her daughter, Miss Athol Jackson, Mrs. W. F. Jackson broke her arm. Mrs. Jackson had intended chaperoning her daughter and her cousin to the June ball at the Royal Military College.
