"Those dear dead days beyond recall
Were pretty gloomy after all,
No cheer stuff—if you're in doubt
Folks, get the family album out!"

Plenty of Assistance.
"Watch your step!" warned the street car conductor.
"Oh, three men back of me are doing that!" she said.
—Gertrude.

The Drawback.
Walter: "Seems like common sense would prevent many divorces."
Bessie: "It would prevent just as many marriages."

Crosswords:
A little boy was telling his mother about the good time he had had that day with the little boy next door.
"And we ran a race, mother! We just ran and ran and I won."
"Wasn't it awfully hot to race on a day like this?" asked his mother.
"Yes, 'cause when I got back the Presbyterian was just running down my face."
—Robert Kennedy.

THE AUTO RACE OF THE AGE!

By Dr. Walter E. Traprock.
Yes, I have always been keen about the auto-racing game. Barney Oldfield once said to me, "Walter, you are the only man in the country I fear, for you are absolutely fearless." It was true. Let me illustrate.
In 1907, at Champagne, Ill., I was in the final heat against the great Seidlitz, who was driving a German "Herrendamen." My car was a Swiss "DeBrie." I had timed my opponent and knew that his maximum speed and my own were exactly the same. How, then, could I win from him? The only difference in our two cars was that mine had a little longer body. Our wheel bases were the same but the rear end of my car projected two feet further over the axle than did Seidlitz's. Mark how this influenced, nay, decided the outcome of the race.
From the crack of the gun it was a neck and neck affair. Round and round we circled, keeping exactly even. We roared into the home stretch absolutely abreast! I gave my old boat all she would take but I could not gain an inch. Neither could Seidlitz. Then yards from the finish an inspiration seized me.
Jamming on the brake I pulled the steering wheel sharply, my car whirled round and spun over the line backwards. Our wheels were even, but I had won the race by two feet, the exact difference in the length of our two cars!

I have a cup in my collection, presented to me by the De Brie Company for winning the first race ever "won by a tail."

One Or The Other.
Miriam: "You can buy all sorts of things to keep your fingers from being stained by cigarettes."
Marjorie: "They're no good. It seems a case of stain or abstain."
—James J. O'Connell.

He Recognized Her.
Medium: "The spirit of a woman comes here—she is in tears, and holds out her hand to you."
Van Stinky: "Great Scott! That's my wife, all right."
—Rudie L.

"Fish!"
"It's just over night, the hotel's right on the lake, and it serves the most delicious meals you ever saw."
"Why, two of us caught $7 in less than an hour."
"Say, I know a spot in the middle of Cedar Pond, that's ALIVE with trout."
"And you never saw such comfort in all your life."
"We had them for lunch, and I've never tasted anything as good."
"Well, Pierre Mirabeau—that's our guide—said it was the biggest fish he'd ever seen since he'd been in the game."
"Joe Rachev said so? Say, I wouldn't believe him on a bet!"
—Charles G. Shaw.

Spotless.
"Henry," she cooed, boldly placing her head on his shoulder, "have you ever made love to any other girl?"
"Not in this coat," he replied nervously.
—Norma Shearer.

COUNTY REVALUATION POSSIBLE THIS YEAR

Council Members to be Guests of Warden Gray on Trip Down River.

Most of Wednesday was taken up by the members of the county council in committee work. The property committee met in the morning and considered a lot of business. After the council adjourned, which took place at 3.25 p.m., the property committee met until four o'clock. The members of the council accepted the invitation of the members of the board of management of the Kingston General Hospital and made an inspection of the hospital property from four to six o'clock. They were delighted with the wonderful improvement which has been made at the hospital during the past five years, when over one million dollars has been spent in the erection of the new buildings.

It was decided that the first order of business on Thursday afternoon when the council meets at two o'clock will be the consideration of the budget. The report of the meetings of the good roads committee which met on April 29th and June 4th, were adopted. The committee recommended that the rate for good roads should this year be five mills instead of four. The several by-laws the orders of motion of which were given on Tuesday afternoon received their first reading. It is expected that when the by-laws come to the second reading there will be considerable discussion. The by-law which refers to the change of several miles of county roads to the townships system will create a big debate.

A by-law referring to the care of the county poor at the House of Providence, which was not changed for the same time as that of the Home for the aged at the January session of the council, was made to read similar to the other by-law which provides that the homes receive $4.80 per week for the keep of the county poor. It is expected that some time during the present year the council will decide to have a re-valuation of the county. It is many years since the valuation was taken. Warden Archie Gray extended an invitation to the members of the council and the officers of the county to be his guests on a trip down the river on the steamer Wauabic on Thursday evening.

Heredity and Genius.
July 14th Review.
Heredity is a factor underlying and determining all other causes and effects within the term of a human life, but in ascribing any importance to it, we should be careful to distinguish rather sharply between intelligence or mental development, which is the product of natural selection in the race and of education in the individual, and what for want of another word we must call genius, which, when it is of any value, is intelligence directed into personal and wayward channels. It is merely the instrument of genius—the brain considered as a muscle—that is susceptible to hereditary influences. The rest is the product of environment and chance—particularly of the psychological events introduced into life by human relationships.

COMPANY THAT SOLD WINE RESPONSIBLE

Verdict in Favor of Purchasers of Liquor That Was Too Alcoholic.

The case of J. B. Livingston, Renfrew, vs. Fenwick and Hendry, Kingston, was before Judge Lavell, at the county court Wednesday afternoon. Mr. Livingston was awarded $254 and costs, and Fenwick and Hendry, entering a counterclaim against the Baker Sales Company, Toronto, the third party in the action, were awarded $254 and costs.

J. B. Livingston, Renfrew, had purchased from the Fenwick and Hendry Company a number of cases of Benedictine wine, which was seized and he was fined in a trial at Renfrew. He then entered a claim against the Fenwick-Hendry Company for $254 and costs. The Fenwick-Hendry Company had purchased the wine from the Baker Sales Company, Toronto; and they entered a counterclaim against them for the same amount.

David Sylvester, Inspector for the Ontario License Board, was the first witness called and gave evidence about the seizure of the wine. E. F. Boulanger, private secretary for the Baker Sales Company testified that his company were the representatives of manufacturers and sold their products on commission basis. His company carries no stock and does not handle any for companies. Their salesman called on the Fenwick-Hendry Company and secured an order for ten cases of Benedictine Wine. His company did not receive the money for the same, and the order was passed on to the manufacturers of the wine to be filled. An advertisement was shown in a book, over the name of the Baker Company, which stated that the wine was guaranteed and could be sold legally.

When questioned as to whether his company had inserted or paid for the advertisement. Witness stated that they had not. The wine is sold in quart bottles and the Baker Sales Company had never had it tested. Mr. H. E. Richardson, proprietor of the Fenwick-Hendry Company, was the next witness called. He stated that the salesman of the Baker Company had called on him and he had given the salesman an order for ten cases of the wine. He understood that the wine could be legally sold and it was an authorized salesman of the Baker Company that had called on him.

Judge Lavell, after summing up the evidence, awarded $254 to J. B. Livingston, and $254 and costs to Fenwick and Hendry on their counterclaim.

W. Nickle, represented J. B. Livingston; A. E. Cunningham, K.C., the Fenwick-Hendry Company and J. Hickey, the Baker Sales Company.

A PLAY IS STAGED
BY NAPANEE TALENT

"Blind Love" is Produced With 150 Participants at the Armories.

Napanee, June 18.—Under the auspices of "B" Company, Frontenac Regiment, at the Armories last night, a most charming and entrancing musical comedy entitled "Blind Love" was staged by Theodore H. Bird, director. The roles were taken by Napanee people and also the solo parts and chorus to the number of one hundred and fifty performers. The scene was laid in the Southern States and the stage was beautifully decorated with greenery and flowers. The costumes of the ladies, in style, where of the period of the civil war when crinolines and pantelets were in vogue. The color scheme of the costumes was distinctly pleasing. The acting and singing were good throughout and the chorus and solo numbers excellent.

The very large audience appreciated the performance and also the special numbers between the acts which were of a high order of merit. "Blind Love" will be repeated to-night and will be followed by a dance after the performance. Mrs. Daniel Morrow and son Kenneth of Sandhurst were visitors in town on Wednesday.

On Wednesday morning in the vicinity of Marysville white frost put in an appearance. D. J. Murphy of Marysville was a visitor in town this week.

Old Landmark Removed.
An old landmark, namely the Burk's brewery, which is situated on the bank of the Rideau River at Smith's Falls, is being torn down by Grant Jones, it being on the rear of his property. Many years ago, this stone building was used as a brewery, the goods being shipped by boat to many parts of the province. It has been in a dilapidated condition for a number of years, and while a very old relic of by-gone days is being removed, the appearance of the property will be much improved.

Passed Away at Napanee.
The death occurred at Napanee of Mrs. F. Penny. She was born in 1843, daughter of Mr. John Coburn. In 1917 their daughter was killed at Napanee by a train and her four children were brought up by her. Deceased was a Presbyterian. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Carrie Lockridge, Hinch, a brother, John Coburn, Port Arthur, besides the members of the home, Amos Hughes, and the four grandchildren. The funeral service was held in Camden V. Presbyterian church.
