DRAMATIC RECITAL IS GREATLY ENJOYED

Pupils of Alida V. Teilmann, B.E., Give Fine Programme in City Hall.

Promptly at 8:30 the large audience which filled the City Hall on Friday evening to hear the dramatic recital given by the pupils of Alida V. Teilmann, B.E., felt amply repaid, and showed by their rapt attention and generous applause throughout how much they appreciated the excellent numbers presented for their approval.

Mrs. Teilmann deserves the highest praise for her efforts which were so well directed and which were the result of Friday's recital.

Perhaps the outstanding number of an excellent programme was the play in three acts, in which Mrs. Latta impersonated the five different characters of the play with a mastery of speech and interpretative power which reached such a degree of perfection as to cause most favorable comment from those who heard her. A violin and piano duet by Master Jack and Miss Leola Teilmann was the opening number of the programme, and which was most favorably received.

The address of welcome, read by a young pupil of Mrs. Teilmann who shows promise as an elocutionist, was a particularly good number, as was also a comic monologue in costume by Miss Eva Newell. Little Isabel Sargent played Beethoven's Minuet and a Mazurka by Bohm in excellent tone.

A violin duet by Master W. Baker and Master Jack Teilmann was most pleasing, and a recitation by Miss Mildred Lee in costume entitled "The Gypsy Flower Girl" was an excellent number and heartily enjoyed.

One of the best things seen in a long time in the way of musical-group work was the Dumbell Drill, in which five clever little girls kept perfect time to the "Anvil Chorus" from Il Trovatore. Their gestures were splendid and this number is deserving of special mention. The children taking part were Misses Helen Mylks, C. Fraser, F. Robinson, N. Newell and Isabelle Sargent. Miss Eva Newell's next number, which was perfectly rendered, was the well known piece by Alfred Noyes "The Highwayman." This was followed by two violin numbers well played by Miss Florence Bibby.

The finale in pantomime, entitled "The Famine," from Hiawatha, was a fitting closing to a programme of such high merit. Six girls in beautiful costumes of pale green enacted the play, while the deep rich voice of Mrs. Teilmann so beloved by Kingston audiences, was heard reading the lines of the famous poem in the distance, with the faintest of violin accompaniments by Mr. Oscar Teilmann. It was beautifully done and for this number alone Mrs. Teilmann deserves great credit for her work in training the pupils.

The girls taking part were Misses Norma McFederation, Mima Cook, Leola Teilmann, Aileen Toland, Mildred Lee and Eva Newell.

A pleasing part of the programme was the presentation to Mrs. Teilmann of a beautiful bouquet of red roses in a silver basket, made by Miss Aileen Toland and Miss Norma McFederation. Mrs. Teilmann expressed her gratitude for the thoughtfulness of her pupils and in her short speech reminded them of their work and cooperation with her during the past season which could only culminate with her efforts in making the evening's entertainment so successful.

Mrs. Leola Teilmann acted as a most clever accompanist for all the

Is Your Sewing Room Attractive?

Why need a sewing room be painful to the sight? Why need it necessarily expose to full view its ugly dressing form, its sewing machine, its cutting table and its ironing board? The housekeeper who decorates her sewing room artistically will find that she uses it frequently for other purposes than sewing—for the "specially private" corner in which to chat with her dearest woman friend, for an hour's "read with a good novel, sometimes as an additional bedroom in which to put an unexpected guest. I am going to describe what I consider The Ideal Sewing Room:

If the room has a Northern exposure its color scheme is buff and a warm orange; but if sunny a cool gray-and-old-blue is best. The floor is painted and varnished, and almost entirely covered with a washable rug of the patterned-linoleum type. If the room has no closet in which to hide the dress-form, when "she" is not actually in use, then one corner is curtained off for this purpose.

All inquiries addressed to Miss Kirkman in care of the "Efficient Housekeeping" department will be answered in these columns in their turn. This requires considerable time, however, owing to the great number received. So if a personal number or quicker reply is desired, a stamped and self-addressed envelope must be enclosed with the question. Be sure to use YOUR full name, street number, and the name of your city and state.

Had to Keep Open.

Today being the fourth of July, it was expected that the office of the United States Foreign Service Officer would be closed but owing to the fact that there was such a rush of business, the staff had to be on the job as usual.

The Family Market Basket

The threatening weather of Saturday morning did not dampen the ardour of the marketers and there was the usual Saturday morning rush although the buyers showed more tendency to hurry through with the result that produce was taken up with very little delay or dickering. The prices prevailing this week varied little from last week. Greens were in much demand and onions, carrots, beets and other vegetables were quickly disposed of. Berries occupied a prominent place on the market and were somewhat better in quality than those offered thus far. They brought 15c and 20c. Fowl was selling at $1.35 but there was a scarcity of it on the market. Butter again sold at a general rate of 40c while eggs hovered about the usual 30c a dozen mark.

WOMAN'S INSTITUTE.

Pittsburg. The July meeting of the Women's Institute was held at the home of the secretary, Mrs. Rogers, and took the form of a picnic, when the Westbrooke Institute were entertained.

After a short business session which was held in the drawing room, the guests retired to the picturesque grounds overlooking the St. Lawrence river where they were joined by a number of gentlemen, and a social time was enjoyed. Presently the sound of a klaxon summoned the guests to a bountiful supper, which Mrs. Rogers, assisted by a few other members, had spread on the lawn. After partaking of the good things provided, Mrs. J. F. Sprout, on behalf of the visiting institute, expressed in a few well-chosen words their appreciation of the pleasant and profitable afternoon. To this Miss Crozier replied, voicing the sentiments of all present that more such meetings should be held.

The bride couple were attended by immediate relatives and after the ceremony a buffet luncheon was served at the residence of the bride's sister, Mrs. W. J. Bryan, Syracuse. Later the bride couple left on a motor trip which terminated in Brockville, where they have taken up residence.
