

THROUGH ETERNAL SPIRIT

A Study of Hebrews, James and I. Peter

BY Joseph F. McFadyen, M.A., D.D.

To many readers the Epistles sound remote and unintelligible. In this volume the writer of "Jesus and Life" has brought them very close to our modern world. He makes us feel that the issues of those days and of these are in essence much the same; and by a skilful running exposition which avoids all theological technicalities; he lets the light of three great Christian minds fall upon our modern needs and problems.

THE FUN SHOP

NEWSPAPER FUN

By Maxson Foxhall Judell

Seeing is Believing, Folks! Well, folks, we've grown vacation-wise. We read the folders—close our eyes. And know that "All attractions" means Gnat, flies, mosquitoes—and no screens!

He Was It. Diner: "I thought I ordered a hard boiled egg. Where is it? I've been waiting ten minutes." Waiter: "Well, I'm here! What do you want?"

Gertrude. A Fool to the Very End. By Wallace M. Bayliss. It seems every little while it has got to be the style To predict the world is coming to an end; That the heavens will unroll Like a monumental scroll And to earth a lot of angels will descend.

In some folks this throws a scare. As for me, I do not care If the world has got to end some bally day. In the manner prophets tell, It would suit me mighty well To be here to see the wonderful display.

It would be a lot of fun Just to watch the people run, And some rascals that I know would likely pray; I suppose, if truth were told, When the heavens were unrolled I, myself, would not be terribly blasé.

But I think I'd grab my lyre, And as I went higher, higher, (If my nature wasn't quickly changed in grain), Just to add a little cheer I would play "The gang's all here!" "Wottle I do?" or else that "No Bananas" strain!

A Mournful Occasion. "We'll have to play a five-handed game tonight, boys," announced the president of the Busy Bee Poker Club. "Bill won't be here." "Why not?" asked the man who was shuffling the cards. "What's the matter with Bill?"

"He got married yesterday," sobbed the president. "Oh no," chorused the members. "Sure not Bill! You must be mistaken." "I wish I was, boys," replied their presiding officer, "but there can't be any mistake. I was one of the pall-bearers at his wedding."

"Well," said the big politician as he opened up the newspaper, "Here's where I find out where I'm at." The Spelling Lesson. Martha and Sarah were congenial little neighbors of five summers. On this bright day they played school, Martha having the role of teacher. "Now spell 'cat,'" said Martha. Sarah pouting prettily said, "I just can't."

"Well, if you can't spell 'cat' then spell 'titten,'" said Martha. —Mabel Ford-Leake. Too Late. The bank cashier read the notice of the $2,000 reward for his capture. "Ah!" he exclaimed. "If they had only offered me that increase in salary sooner!" —Esther Pitlor.

High Finance. Mrs. Cooney: "So you have come around to your husband's way of thinking in regard to a budget." Mrs. Bauer: "It's absolutely necessary the way we live nowadays. Look at us. We've bought the house, the car, the radio set, and the phonograph all on the installment plan." —Hardy Mancke.

Cause and Effect. Griff (reading): "Did you know they have less than a hundred divorces yearly in all Ireland?" Frank: "Oh! The Irish enjoy fighting it out to the finish." —Mrs. Jack Brandon.

EARLIER DATES FOR OTTAWA EXHIBITION

Creator and His Band as One of Many Features of the Big Fair.

Earlier dates than usual have been selected for the Ottawa Exhibition.

For many years it has been the rule to have the Ottawa Exhibition follow the Canadian National at Toronto, with the result that the Ottawa dates frequently were marked with decidedly cool and rainy weather. This year the fair will come on ahead of the Toronto dates, August 22 to 29. With the many good roads leading into the Capital it is felt that the August dates will appeal to motorists not only from Ontario and Quebec, but also those from the United States and from more distant Canadian points.

Another innovation this year is Creator and his band. This magnificent organization with its peerless leader will be heard each afternoon and evening from a new bandstand being erected in the main grounds. In the past, Creator and band have commanded $1.00 to $1.50 prices, but with the exhibition engagement, the two concerts may be heard each day for the small admission of 25 cents, in fact for less than this amount as strip tickets giving six admissions for a dollar are now on sale.

The directors are aiming at a half million attendance and the programme is being arranged accordingly. The fair will open on Saturday, August 22, with automobile races, and will continue for seven full days and nights. On the closing day there will be a special programme of sports in addition to the other attractions.

Educational features and competitions in various lines of endeavor will be above the usual standard of excellence. Special attention is also devoted to the amusement side of the big exhibition. The midway will be replete with new shows, new rides and a hundred and one things to surprise and please old and young.

AMUSEMENT TAX.

Dance Halls Will Be Hard Hit By The New Clause.

The new amusement tax is going to affect dance halls considerably. In addition to collecting a tax of ten per cent, on admission tickets, the government is persisting in collecting an additional tax of twenty per cent, on dancing tickets. The total tax will amount to about thirty per cent. It is not known just how the new regulation will affect the social dances, such as those held throughout the winter and in the various summer resorts, but it is likely to put them out of business owing to the expense involved in installing "choppers" or approved collecting machines and the printing of special double tickets. Dancing, being regarded as an amusement, is being made to contribute to the upkeep of our public hospitals and other institutions.

May Lose An Eye.

While working in the William Markus, Ltd., quarry, Pembroke, John R. Fraser was painfully injured in the right eye when a piece of steel from a chisel with which he was trimming a block of stone flew up and pierced the eyeball and was later found by the X-ray to have lodged in the orbit above the eye. For the present all efforts of the doctors are being directed toward saving, if at all possible, the sight of the eye, but an operation will probably be necessary at some future time to remove the fragment of metal from above the eye.

Leaving For The West.

R. S. Southworth, Campbellford, is leaving for Vancouver, with his wife whose health is poor. He was given an address and gold watch by the citizens. He was a councillor, and owner of the Trent Valley Creameries. All regret his removal.

Removed To Hospital.

FINE NEW CAFE OF ARNIEL & HAMBROOKE

At the Corner of Union and Division Streets Has Opened Its Doors.

On Tuesday morning the new cafe and restaurant at the corner of Union and Division streets, almost opposite the entrance to Queen's University, opened its doors under the management of Messrs. Arniel and Hambrooke. A great transformation has been wrought in what recently housed C. R. McLeod's grocery since this well-known firm of caterers took over the building on the first of May. The building, which also included several homes on Division street, was raised several feet on stone foundations. Two dining halls, one on the ground floor and one in the first story, were laid out along Division street with the kitchen and other necessities of a large restaurant to the east.

The dining-room on the top floor, which will be finished in about a week, is designed for a banquet hall and is admirably suited for parties and dances, as the building throughout is hardwood floored. There are dressing rooms for ladies and for men and a serving room adjoining. The dining room on the ground floor was completed for the first of the week. It will seat 125 persons while the hall upstairs, which is larger, will easily accommodate 175 people. Both halls are very attractively finished in mahogany and brown, each with a pretty brick fireplace at one end, and provided with special ventilating arrangements. The kitchen is fitted with the latest word in such equipment. There is also a lunch-counter on the ground floor just east of the dining-room. It will also stock cigars, delicacies, etc. Otherwise the service is not cafeteria but cafe and restaurant style.

Being so near the university the proprietors expect to secure a large student trade, but they also look for much patronage from the citizens in general. The rates are as follows: Weekly tickets (continuous), $5.50; meal tickets, twenty-one meals, $7; as well as menu cards on the table from which patrons may order what they desire.

An Historic Event

Kingston Daily Standard.

The sale of The Daily British Whig of this city to W. Rupert Davies of The Renfrew Mercury marks the passing of the control of that paper from the hands of the family in which it has rested since its establishment in 1824 by the late Edward John Barker, M.D., whose grandson, the late E. J. B. Pense, took it over upon the decease of the founder. Thus this change of control is in a sense an historic event and one which we have no doubt many of the old time residents will hear with a sense of deep regret. Under Mr. Barker, the paper flourished but it came to the heyday of its prosperity under the late Mr. Pense, an excellent newspaperman as he was a splendid citizen and a fine gentleman, and it has been admirably conducted ever since on behalf of the Estate by a splendid body of loyal and efficient workers.

No official statement has yet been forthcoming from the new publisher but the natural inference is that the paper will be continued as a Liberal newspaper since the paper which Mr. Davies now conducts is Liberal and this is the field in which The Whig has worked and developed in Kingston.

The management of The Standard extends the right hand of fellowship to the new publisher and wishes him every measure of success and prosperity.

Election of Officers.

At the annual Sunday school convention of North Fredericksburgh township held at Gretens, the following officers were elected: President—Rockwell Parks. Vice-President—George Burth. Sec.-Treas.—Mrs. J. R. Ackerman. Children's Div.—Miss G. Bowen. Girls' Work—Mrs. L. Parks. Boys' Work—Albert Mellow. Young People's Work—W. Parry. Adult Work—Wesley Cummings. Home Dept.—Mrs. W. C. Bee Sting Ditched Auto.

Kemptville, July 7.—Startled by a bee stinging the back of his hand, George Weddell, Detroit, driving an automobile on the Ottawa-Prescott highway, near here, swerved his car so rapidly that it left the road and careened over a culvert, causing injury to both him and his wife. Mrs. Weddell required seven stitches in her leg, while her husband was treated for cuts and bruises to his face.

Bears Doing Damage.

Bears in the Bronson section near Bancroft are numerous and killing farmers' sheep. Recently while rounding up his cows, Frank Frost's dog scared a big black bear out of his sheep pasture where he had caught and was devouring his prey.

Leaving For Detroit.

Quite a number of the neighbors and friends of Mrs. W. R. Purdy, Moven, met at the home of her son and presented her with an address and a purse of money, prior to her moving to Detroit to join Mr. Purdy and reside in the future.

BE TRUE TO UNION JACK.

Canon W. F. Fitzgerald Tells the Ottawa-Orangemen.

"I need not tell you to be true to the Union Jack. It is our flag, and I would like to see anyone try to take it away from us." In these words Canon W. F. Fitzgerald, of Kingston, noted churchman and prominent Orangeman, voiced from the pulpit of St. George's Anglican church the sentiment of a huge gathering which filled the church and street outside it on Sunday afternoon.

Orangemen should never speak ill of those of other creeds or political persuasions, he said. Christians of all churches are one corporate body, and the church is in no danger of breaking up.

Addressing himself to the women members of the Orange Order, Canon Fitzgerald commended their work on behalf of the poor and needy, and urged a continuance of this Christian labor. To the whole Orange Order, in which he expressed pride in belonging, he recommended a consecration of energy to public service and labor in love and brotherhood to all mankind.

Gifts for the Teachers.

A large number of interested parents and friends gathered at the Cressy school when the presentation of the prizes won by the pupils took place. The pupils gave a short programme and several of the visitors gave short speeches at the close. Miss Eva Foster read an address and William Smith presented Miss Vipond and Miss Burr with a beautiful bedroom clock and a box of chocolates each on behalf of the school. Miss Vipond and Miss Burr have consented to remain for another year.

Renfrew, July 7.—A drowning accident occurred Saturday, when Albert Smagett, with his brother Mick and companion from Renfrew, were going in a boat to fish in Round Lake, some twelve miles from town. They had got only thirty feet from shore when Albert stood up, lost his balance and fell into the water, capsizing the boat. None of the young men were able to swim. Albert was drowned and the two others clung to the boat, kicking it to shore. Albert's body was recovered in seven feet of water.
