A CHILDREN'S CIRCUS ON COLLEGE STREET

The Juvenile Population Gave a Fine Performance on Wednesday.

A second circus this season visited the city on Wednesday. Much commotion and hammering for several days past among the juvenile population of College street, which now numbers over a dozen, came to fruit on the above date when the B-B-W Circus Company, Limited, put on a performance. Tickets were fifteen cents, according to the advertisements on the telegraph poles on Union street, with reserved seats under the trees for the ladies, and all the available residents on the street attended. Stunts of all kinds were provided, including an address by the master of ceremonies, while the menagerie included everything from ducks to long-haired rabbits, going, of course, by much more serious names, even dinosaurs being included. Elephants were scarce, the manager explaining that it was hard to get anyone to go around with a hose-pipe on his nose. Refreshments concluded the programme.

The performance was preceded the night before by a free street parade. Only one hitch occurred. The Polar bear had escaped and it came time to put one of the leading clowns to bed, but he was able to contribute to the programme from an upstairs window.

ST. MARY'S CADET CAMP IN OPERATION

Over 100 Bright and Happy Lads Under Canvas at Horseshoe Island.

Horseshoe Island, July 15.—The Cadet Camp of the St. Mary's boys opened at Horseshoe Island on Monday, the 13th. The steamer Brockville left Kingston with over one hundred bright and happy lads, each having different visions of how they were going to spend the next two weeks.

Through the forethought of Mr. James Sowards, the lighter of the Pyke Towing Company was secured, which enabled the steamer Brockville to land the boys. Owing to the lowness of the water the camp at Horseshoe Island could not be held this year if this lighter had not been secured. It also took the camp equipment, which meant that as soon as the boys had disembarked the steamer Brockville could return home.

Soon after arrival, the island took on a very different likeness. Men from the Sowards Coal Company gave the greatest assistance to Captain Bailey in getting the dining marquee pitched, and the heavy work done. Long before the afternoon ended, the boys were living in tents. A cold lunch was served the boys at noon and a hot dinner at night. The authorities of the camp were very fortunate in securing the services of a first class chef, and the meals served are of the very best that money could buy.

It is expected that Sergeant-Major Fowler of the Permanent Force Signalling Staff will arrive in camp today when the boys will enjoy their first part of the day's proceedings. It is the intention to give a couple of hours drill in the morning and the balance of the afternoon to recreational training. This should be a great benefit to the boys.

The health of the camp is excellent, and the thanks of the staff is tendered to Mr. T. Harry Sargent, druggist, for the most generous supply of medicines, toothpaste, footpowder, bandages, etc., that he sent for the benefit and comfort of the boys.

HEARD ON THE STREET

Local Briefs Gathered by Reporters—What the Merchants Are Offering.

Come to the big Dollar Day sale tomorrow at Martin's Shoe Store. Mr. Swaine, piano tuner. Orders received at 100 Clergy street west, phone 564.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Carswell, Madoc, and Dan McLachlin, Arnprior, were visitors in the city Wednesday.

"Profane language strictly prohibited," reads a printed notice in the lobby of one of Kingston's leading hotels.

Farmers about Cape Vincent, N.Y., and on to Watertown, N.Y., are short of men to help them in the hay fields.

Miss Hazel Hart, Yarker, was successful in passing her junior T. C. M. violin Toronto Conservatory examinations.

Principal Taylor has returned from Chautauq, N.Y., and will leave Friday for Toronto to address the Queen's Alumnae there.

"Come," "Come," ye bargain seekers. Dollar Day is here again, to-morrow at Martin's Shoe Store.

John Theobald says he has not purchased "Bessie Direct" from a Watertown, N.Y., horseman, nor does he know of any person here securing the animal.

Rev. T. J. S. Ferguson, Cooke's church, is to be a preacher on August at the Old Home reunion at North Bay. He was pastor of the church there from 1911 to 1915.

C. W. Symons and his young son are reported drowned in the Nipigon River.

LOOKING AROUND

Dog lovers complain about the restrictions placed upon their pets, but they must remember that the dog is considered an intelligent animal and, therefore, like a human being he must be all the more restrained.

There would appear to be no reason why a tax should not be levied on cats. And there would also appear to be no reason why the dog catcher should not pick up all tabbies roaming the streets, and have them gassed by the humane society. The tax collected from those owning pet cats would pay for the gassing of the unfortunates.

As to the crows and other black-birds the general opinion is that they are a nuisance. Never before have there been such a congregation of these species of birds in Kingston, at this season, but what can you do? If you start in to shoot them, there would be a cry out from those humanely inclined.

It is to be hoped that the Old Home Week committee has not put the evergreens on the Brock street welcome arch too soon and that they will be dried out yellow before the big week. Perhaps by the first of August the structure may look like an Orange arch, which might be pleasing to the brethren of the Glorious Twelfth of July.

Apparently the shrubbery around the Royal Military College arch was more enticing to the cows than the fare on the lower common across the causeway. Pittsburg will have to appoint a poundman to protect its institutions from vagrant animals.

Minimum regulations for motor camps cannot be insisted upon too soon. When a municipality offers a camping place to tourists, it should see that the visitors are given pure water at least. The motor camp is going to be a big thing in Ontario, and every municipality that has one should make it safe in every way. Kingston's fair grounds made an admirable place for motor tourists so far as conveniences and good water were concerned, but they lacked the lovely location given by the Lake Ontario Park grounds. If the latter continue to be the city's motor camp, it is up to the city council to spend sufficient money on them to put them into the condition that will be acceptable to the provincial board of health.

Now it is being discovered that a mistake was made when netting down the river was prohibited. Leading anglers are agreed that it would have been better all around to have allowed netting so that dog fish and carp, known as destroyers, could have been reduced. Now the bass are gone. Perhaps the attorney-general, who is summering at his Front Road cottage, will get the views of anglers here and see if it would not be better to permit netting again.

The latest decree of Dame Fashion is that women's skirts next season are to be shorter and their collars higher. Men cannot understand the collar decree, as they have been unaware that the ladies have been wearing anything looking like a collar where a collar generally is. The men, too, object to any further shortening of the skirts as the shorter the garment the more expensive it is.

Fashion fails to fasten itself on men as on women. For instance very wide trousers were settled on for men last winter, but a very limited number of the male sex will permit Fashion to fix the width of their trousers. The average man wears medium-width trousers.

When Fashion three years ago decreed that cuffs on men's trousers must go, the men decided that Fashion had better mind his own business. They kept demanding trousers with cuffs, and the result is that cuffed trousers remain the vogue and always will form the most important part of man's dress.
