ZANE GREY'S "CODE OF THE WEST"

With OWEN MOORE, CONSTANCE BENNETT, CHARLES O'LE

East is East, West is West, and when the two meet and mix, the resultant action is fast, furious and funny!

What the Press Agents Say About Coming Attractions

AT THE CAPITOL

Zane Grey's "Code of the West" Draws Capacity House. "Code of the West," Paramount's film version of Zane Grey's stirring novel of the same name, which opened last night at the Capitol Theatre, shows you what happens when a flapper from the wide open places of the East meets a cowboy from the great open spaces of the West. The theme of the story brings out the striking contrast in the viewpoints of the East and the West. The plot concerns Georgie May Stockwell, a typical New York flapper, who goes to Arizona for her health and vamps all the cowboys at the Thurman ranch. The subsequent events involve a strange honeymoon in a lonely cabin which is interrupted by a raging forest fire that solves the love tangle in thrilling and dramatic fashion.

Owen Moore, as the young cowboy who turns caveman, gives a very creditable performance; and Constance Bennett, as the flirtatious flapper, has opportunities out of the ordinary for splendid acting and makes the most of them. Others who deserve honorable mention include Mabel Ballin, Charles Ogle and David Butler.

SO HE JUMPED IN AFTER THIS ONE! You have to have your nerve along with you when you go fishing in the Sacramento River, California. F. Holland Dutton of Los Angeles tried it and hooked a forty-four-pound bass that he couldn't haul into the boat. So, handing the line to a friend, he jumped in the water after it. Even then it took him fifteen minutes before he had the fish where he wanted it.

NEW RUGBY CLUB TO REPLACE ROWING CLUB?

The Hamilton Spectator says: "A rumor that would not down was circulated last night. It concerned efforts being made by the T. H. and B. A. A. to take over the franchise in the O. R. F. U. this fall, and was traced back to certain responsible athletic authorities of the railroad association. In full, the rumor held the railroaders ready to take over the Rowing Club's football team lock, stock and barrel, with a view to operating it under the T. H. and B. name and colors. Furthermore, it was said that "Pep" Leadley and "Fiddler" Elford would form the nucleus. Officials of the Rowing Club had nothing to say this morning."

Would Play Seniors.

The Brockville intermediates are cleaning up on every team they meet and are now counting on playing senior teams from Ottawa, Kingston and other places. Brockville should be in senior company this year. Evidently they like to be the big toad in the small puddle down that way, instead of getting out and fighting against teams of their own class. Brockville is admittedly too good for the intermediate St. Lawrence League anyway. That has been shown often enough already. The result has been that Brockville are walking away with the League and

JUNIOR GAME MONDAY

On Monday evening the Victorias and Circle Six will meet at the Cricket Field in a Junior City league game and it promises to be some thrilling little battle. It will be remembered that in the last meeting of these teams, the game ended in a seven all tie and the Six will have to step fast to win out over the determination of the Victorias. The Vics and Circle Six are tied for first place in the second half of the series, and this game on Monday will decide the leadership of the league for the present.

Soft Ball Games.

BUDGET AN ESSENTIAL AID TO THOSE WHO PRACTICE TRUE THRIFT

By S. W. Straus, President American Society for Thrift

If you are endeavoring to get ahead in the world and be prepared for the rainy days that come into all lives, adopt first of all the rule of keeping an accurate daily record of your expenses. You will find that by the adoption of a budget system your success in thrift will be made doubly easy and you will soon be surprised at the difference these systematic practices make in the amount of your savings. A few pennies or a few dollars wasted here and there do not seem to amount to much at the time they are spent, but when you see the record of these extravagances in actual figures they assume their true proportions and significance. Make your thrift practices conform to a concise, definite system. This is especially applicable to those who have not been thrifty in their methods of living heretofore. Lay out in advance a budget of your expenditures for the month, and then see that you do not exceed them. It may seem a waste of time to keep a record of every penny spent, but only in this way can one gain a correct grasp of the situation, and be able to eliminate such items of expenditure as are unnecessary and of no constructive value. Some of the most successful men in business today find it worth while to keep a record of personal expenses. Every business concern keeps a penny received and spent. To do otherwise would be to invite failure. If such rigid care is necessary to the success of an established business organization there is equal need of efficiency and system in the administration of one's personal affairs. The foundation of thrift is system. Haphazard methods produce haphazard results. A budget is the mariner's chart for those who sail the seas of personal progress.

JOE WILLIAMS SAYS Mr. G. Tunney. Mr. G. Tunney has deserted the church choir and is now hanging around the corner pool rooms yodeling with the tough kids in the neighborhood. From the Little Lord Fauntleroy of the knuckle rackets, Mr. G. Tunney has suddenly stepped forward as the Patsy of the Flats, wearing a chip on his shoulder and a snarl on his lips. The transformation constitutes one of the dizzy wonders of the ring and is comparable to the scientific miracle of making a deep-rumbling bass singer of a canary. By reducing Tommy Gibbons to a state of cold, fashionable debris, Mr. G. Tunney put himself on third base in the Heavyweight Ball Game. Any kind of a left hook ought to score him. Prior to making mid-summer gumbo of Gibbons, Mr. G. Tunney's presence in the heavyweight division carried all the importance of a Senegambian protest against civic conditions in Holly Springs, Mass. Mr. G. Tunney seems well on his way to the top. It may not be such of a top when he gets there, but that will not be his fault. A ward healer can be a Caesar when the opposition is low. New Gananoque School. Gananoque council voted $80,000 to the Board of Education for a new ten room central school. A London scientist asserts that married men live longer than bachelors, but that spinsters live longer than married women. The oldest tree in France is at Rouen and is said to be 148 years old.
